

School Plan for Student Achievement: Evidence-Based Title I Funded Program Evaluation

Guiding Questions:

The district or Title I school allocates Title I funds to support a computer technician:

- 1) How does this position impact student learning and academic achievement?
- 2) What data are you using to drive this discussion?
- 3) If this program has helped improve student learning, what can be done to make it even better?
- 4) If this expenditure has not had a positive impact on student achievement, what will be done to modify, change, or replace it?

Goal 1

All students will make progress toward proficiency on the state adopted standards and English learners will make progress learning the English language.

Implement standards based ELA and mathematics instruction using the HESD pacing guides and district adopted instructional materials. Shared reading, reader's workshop, writer's workshop, small group instruction in reading, writing and math, read aloud, close reading and interactive writing teaching points using the state adopted text and supplemental nonfiction instructional materials will be derived from the Common Core Standards. Library Media Technician promotes regular use of literacy to enrich the school experience and encourages regular participation in library activities to develop students' literacy skills. ELA Leadership team will provide support as needed. Leadership team will monitor monthly: classroom observations lesson plans minimum day collaboration agendas. formative & summative assessments overall student academic progress and academic needs	The school implemented standards-based reading and mathematics instruction incorporating all essential components of core instructional materials, and using supplemental materials, as defined by the reading/language arts and mathematics frameworks for California public schools and the HESD ELA Pacing Guide. Lesson planning is aligned to the district pacing calendar and based on backward mapping of Common Core Standards, analysis of data from state, district, and site assessments, and information from weekly teacher collaboration sessions. Teachers and leadership teams use the data to inform instruction and to make decisions about reteaching small groups and any other extra supports. The school implemented formative assessment strategies, targeted small group instruction, and a two-tiered assessment system which showed Language Arts growth occurring across grade levels when broken down into subgroups. ELA CAASPP: Overall – 2021: 34.6 & 2022: 44.44 Af. Am. – 2021: 20 & 2022: 21.05	Declines in State test scores shown in the 2020-2021 CAASPP results are determined to be due to COVID pandemic related school closures, extended periods of distance learning, and significant student absences due to quarantine, testing positive, or being symptomatic with COVID when schools were open for in-person learning. Based on most recent CAASPP scores and data from local assessments in 21-22, it shows students are making gains in achievement, and in some cases are at or above pre-pandemic levels. State test scores do not indicate a need to make significant changes to the instructional program; rather, they indicate a need to continue to build upon and strengthen the school's existing instructional programs. Despite these challenges through the Covid pandemic, the school focused on rebuilding the instructional program and the school community during 2022-2023. Most of the activities and assessments discussed in the previous column were able to be implemented, despite challenges related to the Covid pandemic. The core instructional program was fully in place.	The school will continue the process of rebuilding the instructional program and the school community next year as the pandemic continues to subside. The school will continue to maintain a focus on developing strong readers by providing small group instruction and depth of knowledge questioning. The school will continue to develop Math Practices by providing coaching and professional development while increasing the rigor of problem-solving skills.

Implement school-wide differentiated small group reading, writing, and mathematics instruction and in-class interventions. ELA “At risk” students will participate in explicit reading and/or math instruction delivered by the teacher and will progress in reading levels. Students receive small group instruction from Ed. Tutors using a push-in model and/or pull out. (Students are receiving an additional small group lesson, before or after their small group lesson with the teacher, when they would otherwise be working independently.) Teachers will monitor progress and adjust small group instruction based on the assessment of students once per month. Students needing additional support will participate in a reading intervention program supported by an Ed Tutor. Provide before school, after school, or lunch time tutoring and intervention opportunities for identified students scoring in the intensive range on	The school implemented tutoring in ELA/Math with credentialed teachers for students who showed a need based on local assessments. The school also provided reading/math intervention during the school day through the use of educational tutors and/or small group instruction. Attendance, progress monitoring, and assessment data are documented and actively reviewed to determine student progress. Instructional materials utilized for tutoring, ed tutors, and small-group instruction included various programs such as Primary Phonics, Phonics for Reading, Words Their Way, Common Core Mathematics, Reading Mastery, Corrective Reading, The Power of Decoding Reading Intervention, and Pearson math. Our data shows students receiving Reading Intervention, tutoring, and small-group instruction increased their reading level between 1-3 levels. Education Tutors have been instrumental in carrying out specified academic goals at the grade-level and individual teacher level.	Students are still struggling academically. Our students in tutoring showed some growth. However, attendance continues to be a factor, due to Covid symptoms and/or positive cases, in students missing instruction. As well, some students were not attending regularly; some dropped and some others were added. There is still a need to address the learning loss from the pandemic through tutoring and also through intervention with an educational tutor. According to 2021-2022 CAASPP scores: 44.44% ELA Proficient (34.6% percentage points from 2020-2021) 33.33% Math Proficient (26.95% percentage points from 2020-2021)	The school will continue to provide additional time and support for identified students through the use of credentialed teachers and educational tutors. The school will continue to focus on small-group reading in the coming year. The school will continue to build intervention supports for students reading significantly below grade level due to time missed from school. The school will continue to provide and support Education Tutors (paraprofessionals) during the school year to support small-group instruction and interventions.

(These materials were available to students during periods when they were quarantined at home.) These materials were funded as a Title I Centralized Service. Data within these programs showed students using these tools extensively. These online tools have also helped to improve academic achievement as they provide instructional guidance and support.	There is a need to continue providing these tools for students and to continue providing training for teachers in their use. School and district leadership will continue to monitor the use of these tools, and to the extent practicable, will monitor their effectiveness. There are some programs that are used site-wide and some that are grade-level specific. School Plan for Student Achievement: Evidence-Based Title I Funded Program Evaluation

Guiding Questions:

The district or Title I school allocates Title I funds to support a computer technician:

- 1) How does this position impact student learning and academic achievement?
- 2) What data are you using to drive this discussion?
- 3) If this program has helped improve student learning, what can be done to make it even better?
- 4) If this expenditure has not had a positive impact on student achievement, what will be done to modify, change, or replace it?

Sample Guiding Questions

Sample guiding questions to determine the use of Title I funds to address the academic needs of Title I students, particularly those at risk of not meeting state academic content standards:

1. Will this be a program based upon a thorough and comprehensive assessment of student needs?
2. Will this program provide direct services to students?
3. Is it reasonable and necessary to use Title I funds to address this issue (is it something that cannot be provided through unrestricted funds)?
4. Is this the best use of a limited categorical resource?
5. Is this allowable and allocable?
6. Is this an evidence-based intervention designed to improve academic achievement for at-risk students? How do you know?
7. How and to what extent does this directly impact student learning, increase academic achievement, and close the achievement gap?
8. How will the use of funds be monitored and evaluated for effectiveness?
9. Is it approved by SSC and described in the SPSA for site funds and approved by the district for district funds?
10. For personnel, are Time and Effort Records kept to document the hours worked showing direct services to students?

If the LEA and schools allocate Title I funds to fund this program, the burden of proof should include evidence that the resources contributed to academic achievement for all students, particularly Title I students who are at risk of not meeting academic standards. These guiding questions are based on the current CE Instrument.
