BASKETBALL

The 1954 girls basketball team opened the season on January 19 at Schwenksville. The Falconettes brought home their first victory that day, by a score of 36-19. On January 21 they played host to Royersford. The game was close all the way, but the Falconettes came out on top, 37-31, at the final buzzer. On January 26, the teams' spirit was very high when they traveled to Upper Perk. The Falconettes trailed by only 5 points at halftime. In the second half they could not produce the necessary points. The score tells the story, 52-34. The Falconettes closed the season against Norco on February 23 with a 45-27 victory.

DREAMS FLOATING

Class Poem

I saw the most beautiful girl as she floated by—Dolores Noll/ May Queen. And that no one can deny!

And the most brilliant boy and girl in our class, Helen and George — I beheld them as they passed!

The wittiest lad and lass of us all — Ziggy and Floss. Their many jokes we all recall!

While the most pleasant student turned on a rosy cloud — Peggy Edwards was loved by all the crowd!

The most athletic couple, floating like a dream — Joan and Lee — they were swift as a golden beam!

The best all around walked on a bright cloud too — Dale Wert. Everything he could do!

The neatest dressed paraded on heavenly air—Mary Boyer. Is that why the boys all stare?

Three girls danced by to the music of the wind — Hospodar, Reider, Schmuck, the only ones of their kind.

Like two old men nearing their end, sauntered Daub and Frey, To be the slowest-moving in the class, they did try.

Just then a red streak passed my eye, Dolores Birard in that red car driving in high.

All was serene, what a heavenly lull— Dotty, Nancy and Joyce — arm in arm — but never dull.

Smoothly and rhymetically Levengood went by, but didn't stop.

As if at each stride he were polishing a table top.

Sitting on a white cloud all serious and dreamy, Sandy Haws—Knowing the future will be so peachy.

One we remember for her versitility Joan Polischeck—for she had much ability.

Then came the calm as after a storm, Mary Louise Richie passed by. She's new in our dorm.

Two great big clouds drifted like a slow ball, First I saw Yvonne Soltes — tallest of the tall.

And on the other, head bent, as if writing in a book

Dolores Will — editor, honor student, I saw as I took another look.

And there stood I, just watching the rest, I'll let you decide for what I am best.

—JEANETTE DETWILER

CLASS HISTORY

Twelve years ago when we started school, we went to St. Peter's Parish House because in the preceding year the school had burned. The following year was more exciting for us, for we entered the new high school building. In fourth grade we participated in our first activity which was the May Day Program.

In September of 1948, we were all anxious to begin our first year in Junior High. Although we had a full schedule, we were quite busy thinking about our Halloween Dance and our trip to Harrisburg in the Spring, Most of us participated in sports; namely, football, hockey, basketball, softball, and baseball.

The Valentine Dance, "Cupid's Caper" was a big event in tenth grade. It was a success and fun for everyone who attended.

In April, of our junior year we presented our class play, "Call Me Darling" by James F. Stone. In May we entertained the seniors at the Junior Prom.

The summer was soon gone and September here. Twenty-six of us trudged back to school-seven boys and nineteen girls. Early in the year, during the lunch hour, we started to sell candy. In October we presented our Senior Class play entitled "The Dizzy Dillons" by Harry Hennen. At Christmas we held a Christmas Dance, "Snowball Frolic." It was a social and financial success. In February we started planning for our trip to New York City, which we were to take on March 23, 24, 25. February went by very quickly, and soon it was time for the trip to New York City. Arriving in New York City on Tuesday, we visited Downtown Manhattan and the Statue of Liberty. Tuesday night we made a tour of New York after dark and a visit at Eddie Condon's Dixieland in Greenwich Village. On Wednesday morning we went to the NBC Studios and in the afternoon to the famous Radio City Music Hall to see the screen and stage show including a late movie and a spectacular stage show featuring the Rockettes. Thursday morning we toured Uptown Manhattan, with stops at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and Grant's Tomb. The afternoon was free so most of us went to shows and did a little window shopping. By six o'clock we were all on the bus for the trip back to Stowe.

There remained eight more weeks of work, fun, and lots of activity. May Day arrived May 6. Most of us had some part in this gala affair.

The Mother and Daughter Banquet was held on May 11, when the senior girls entertained their mothers. Most of the seniors attended the Junior Prom, their last social event before graduation.

Our big week arrived all too soon—the week of Baccalaureate, Class Day, and Commencement. As we look back over our school days, we realize that this graduation is not the end of our life work, but only the beginning, for work we all must do whether in the factory, office or college.

CLASS PROPHECY

The members of the class of '54 of West Pottsgrove High School is due to arrive any minute for the reunion. Ten years have gone by since we passed through the halls of W. P. H. S. Those were the good old days of fun and arguing over both little and big things. I am the first to arrive and am wondering what has happened to all my old school pals, when in came Marlene Lenhardt and Yvonne Soltes, Mutt and Jeff, but both very nice girls. Marlene told me she is employed as personnel manager of the J. C. Newberry Company; while Vonnie is private secretary for the Motion Picture Director. Howard Hughes. All of a sudden there was laughter in the hall and in came Samuel Daub and Paul Yarmush. The entire class thought Sam was lazy but he has become one of the biggest businessmen in the United States. Paul tried many jobs since graduation but finally decided to be a mortician. The next to arrive were the studious members of our class, Helen Abrams and George Polins, both college graduates. Helen who attended East Stroudsburg College is now head of the Women's Athletic Department at West Pottsgrove. George is now United States ambassador to a foreign country. His knowledge of six languages made him especially valuable to our government. On the way Helen and George met Joan Polischeck and brought her along with them. Joan has become a writer and has just sold a million copies of her first novel. Two of the commercial students just arrived, Jeanette Detwiler and Dolores Noll. Jeanette is the president of the Columbia Broadcasting Company, while Dolores, who became a hairdresser after graduation, went to Hollywood and is now a movie star.

The next to arrive is a group of women who have all become very successful secretaries. Mary Boyer is the fastest shorthand transcriber in the world. Joan Egolf is personnel secretary to Roger S. Firestone, and Dorothy Ritter keeps the files for the State Department in Harrisburg. Next to appear are Dolores Will and Joyce Brunner. Dolores worked hard as editor of the Pottsgrovian and has gone on to become the editor of the Woman's Home Companion. Joyce is the chief cook at the Pottstown Hospital. While we were talking, in came Sandra Haws, Monica Hospodar, and Doris Schmuck. Sandy became engaged during school and is now married and lives in a mansion on Vine Street in Stowe. Monica is the owner of a branch of beauty salons, and Doris takes dictation and keeps the files for her husband, a professor of business at Penn State.

Following them in the door a man and woman appear in uniform. They are Mary Louise Richie and Richard Levengood. Mary Louise entered the Women's Air Force to see the world and has made it her career. Dick also has made a career in the Air Force. Leroy Carpenter and Dale Wert just came in. Lee said that he has been playing professional basketball for the Minneapolis Lakers for the last five years. Dale is now a bookkeeper for the United States Treasury Department in Washington, D. C. Looking around the room I see Dorothy Reider and Dolores Birard. Dotty went to the Bell Telephone Company after graduation and is now the supervisor of the women operators there. Dee has started her own business school in Pottstown and is very successful. I also saw Nancy Wright seated at a table and went over to talk to her. She told me that she is a dressmaker and now owns her own shop. Everyone was present but Richard Frey. He came late because he had to take care of his branch of service stations. As for me, Peggy Ann Edwards, I am a private secretary of the John D. Rockfeller Foundation.

We all went to the new cafeteria to enjoy our dinner and continue with our reminiscing.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the senior class of the West Pottsgrove High School, Stowe, Pennsylvania, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath any of our remaining members to the junior class.

To the teachers, we leave a well-deserved summer vacation.

THE JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

Call Me Darling James F. Stone

The Haskins family is all a dither because they are expecting the return of their son, Billy who through heroic exploits became a national figure. While being mistaken for his pal, Cornelius Crum, Billy is involved in many complications, including being suspected when a local filling station is held up. Pop Haskins and Smitty, the maid are drawn into the misunderstanding, and Billy is exonerated and wins the girl of his choice, Neely is adopted by one of the town's most exalted citizens, and the Haskins once more back in the reflected glory of THE HERO.

Cast of Characters

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Dizzy Dillons Harry Hennen

With all their activities, the one thing the Babcocks fail to do is make money. Although having a wealthy aunt, they cannot force her to give them any more money. Aunt Bess sends three children to live with them, in order to make the financially independent so they can send these children home. There are more hilarious happenings before the play reaches a happy ending, but we'll tell this much; June, Will, and Laura Babcock get themselves jobs to get rid of the Dillon kids.

Cast of Characters

CHEERLEADERS

When basketball season started getting under way, the cheerleaders also went into action. Every Monday and Thursday during fifth and sixth periods, you could hear the girls practicing hard and loud in the lobby. With the instruction of their coach, Miss Joyce Leiberman, they improved rapidly. During basketball season, the cheerleaders, conducted successful pep rallies.

Varsity cheerleaders are Dolores Birard, Mary Boyer, Peggy Edwards, Phyllis Nore, Dorothy Reider and Doris Schmuck, who is captain. Junior Varsity cheerleaders are Yvonne Soltes, Marlene Lenhardt, Arlene Varady, Gloria Keeler, Mary Wentzel and Virginia Moore, who is captain.

The cheerleaders wore very attractive outfits this year. The varsity girls wore maroon skirts and white sweaters. White bucks set off their uniforms. The Junior Varsity girls wore maroon skirts and white long-sleeved blouses.

MIXED CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus meets once a week on every Tuesday. It consists of fifty five members from grades seven to twelve. They sing for all outstanding programs like the Parent-Teachers Association, Bazaar, Commencement, and the Band Concert. It is becoming quite popular. Many people have commented on how enjoyable it is to hear such fine singing.

ANNUAL THANKSGIVING BAZAAR

The annual Thanksgiving Bazaar was held Wednesday, November 18, 1953, in the West Pottsgrove High School gymnasium. Games included darts, canes, and fishpond for the small fry. Booths exhibited fancywork, home baked goods, home canned fruits, vegetables, and groceries. Hot dogs, sodas, cakes, ice cream, pretzels, and pickles were sold. Entertainment was provided by the High School band and glee club. Admission was by donation of money or any article which could be offered for sale.

BAND CONCERT

The annual band concert of West Pottsgrove High School was held on March 4. The band played popular and classical numbers. The Mixed Chorus also sang a few songs. The band consists of students from grades five to eleven.

The May Day program depicts America from early colonial days to the present in song and dance. There are three hundred students from grades one to twelve participating in this gala affair.

The dance numbers include: Indian, Danish, English, Dutch, Early American Square Dance, Florida Singing Dance, Combination Dance, Jitterbugs, Kickline, May Pole Dance and Waltz.

The songs included are: Cindy, Ol' Man River, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Erie Canal, A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody (instrumental), At Peace With The World (Vocal Solo), Young at Heart (Marimba Solo), I Like It Here (Mixed Chorus).

Special Features of the pageant were: Gymnastics, Sports Tableaus, Twirling, and the U. S. O. Show.

After the show the May Queen and her court proceeded to exit to the music of the Recessional. The attendants were attired in lavendar, green and yellow tissue taffeta. The flower girl and maid of honor wore blue. The gowns had a fitted bodice with cap sleeves and were ballerina length.

SENIOR CLASS TRIP

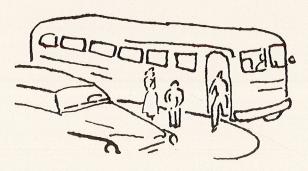

Twenty-two happy and enthusiastic seniors departed from the school at six o'clock on Tuesday morning for New York. Our first stop was the Newark Airport in New Jersey where we toured the airport and saw some planes landing and taking off. We saw America's largest ocean liner, "The United States", upon entering New York City. We arrived at the Taft Hotel at eleven o'clock. At two o'clock we took our first tour which was mid-town Manhattan. We then took a ferry to the Statue of Liberty where everyone climbed the narrow stairs to the crown. After leaving the Statue, we boarded the bus and took a tour of New York's waterfront where we saw many fishing boats. Coming back to the hotel, we saw the Empire State Building, Chrysler Building, and the "house of glass," the United Nations Building.

On Tuesday night we toured Chinatown where we went into a Budhish temple. We boarded the bus again and rode through "skid row." Eddie Condon's Dixieland was our next stop. There we listened to a popular jazz band. Our last stop for that night was Rockefeller Center where we watched the skaters at the Plaza. Then we rode the fastest elevator in the world which is in the RCA Building. On the observation roof we viewed New York by night with all its splendor.

On Wednesday morning on the way to the NBC Studios, we saw Dave Garroway put on his TV program "Today". At the NBC station we toured the various studios and got a glimpse of how radio and TV shows are put on. CBS was our next stop where we appeared on the "Strike it Rich" television show. In the afternoon we went to the famous Radio City Music Hall where we saw a sensational stage show featuring the famous "Rockettes."

Wednesday night was our free night.

Thursday morning we took our final tour which was of Upper Manhattan. Our first stop was to the second largest church in the world, St. John the Divine. The tour of the church, which is a sixth of a mile, took about an hour to view. Next, We went to Grant's Tomb where we saw the vaults of General Grant and his wife. Stopping at the Frick Art Museum we saw priceless paintings by many famous artists. We saw the homes of many rich people, such as Doris Duke, the richest woman in the world, and the Carnegie mansion, which, by the way, has 66 rooms and 33 baths. The afternoon was free, so we did our last minute shopping. At 6:00 P. M. we left the hotel for home. At 10:30 P. M. we arrived at the famous town of Stowe, a weary group with only the memories of the City to hold.
