
The Bruin

EX LIBRIS

Dedication

We, the Seniors, dedicate the 1940 edition of The Bruin, as a small measure of our appreciation, to the taxpayers who have, through their faithfulness, enabled us to receive the four years of educetion we are just completing; and to the faculty members who have so willingly advised and guided us.

NEWPORT HIGH SCHOOL SONG

Within the shades of western hills
Obstructing the sun's rays
There stands a famous High School
Whose fame we'll sing for aye.
The glory of the dear High School
Will ring from coast to coast
And loyal sons and daughters
Will honor her with boasts.

So cheer, cheer for the High School
When in basketball or track
Be loyal proud and faithful
To the Crimson and the Black.
So cheer, cheer for the High School;
Motto--Forward, never back!
Salute ye the banner in the breeze;
'Tis the Crimson and the Black.

Dear High School, proud thy students are
To sing thy praise today
And may our songs be heard afar
To brighten up the way.
The memory of each day and hour
Will linger with us still
And ever as we hear thy call
Shall honor and obey.

TO THE CLASS OF '40

At last, the years have left their mark-
Years filled with grand enjoyment;
And now lifes' ship we must embark
To ferret out employment.

The government has hit a plan
To keep us on our way;
The thing to do is build a dam
Or work on W. P. A.

I wager some on our class roll
Will journey on to college,
And learn to swallow goldfish whole
Instead of getting knowledge.

Of course in college you can learn
Some new "Confucius says,"
To send the folk home in return
For that tuituion daddy pays.

Now, onward shipmates! Forward, Ho!
The helm is yours to steer;
So let old Joseph Public know
That the Class of 40's here.

MEMORIES

When we are old and our hair is gone
When we've nothing to do but dream and yawn,
We'll step into our canoe of thought
Which our education with care has wrought
And go drifting over the rippling waves
Of our sea of memories of high schools days.
We'll see visions of teachers and students galore
All their frowns and their smiles we'll witness once more.
We'll see the poor teachers all but pulling our hair
For not having our lessons nor seeming to care;
We'll witness the casts for the different plays
Perusing their lines with that far-away gaze.
We will think of the metaphors and trite similes
Such as,"Grass is just a grove of stunted trees."
We'll remember the times when we all cut loose
At our Hawaiian prom and the Junior Blue Goose
And the Operetta, "Jerry of Jericho Road"
Which became to the high school, a golden lode.
And last but not least we will always recall
The days of our Sneak and the Senior Ball.
And ever through life, on a river of blue
We'll keep on sailing our tiny canoe.

1940 Class Will

Elsie Beedle wills her "Bug" to Bernarr Berry.

Amy Bottrell wills her ability to get to Priest River at all times to Robert Graham. (When he gets tired of Cusick.)

Joyce Carpenter wills her (Scot)ch ancestry to Grace Edens.

Betty Hoisington wills her ability to wash cups in the Home Ec room to Bob Blessing.

Myrtle Dodge wills her "bleached" hair to Robert Wyckoff.

Elsie Belle Freeman wills her interests in Pullman to Walter McClain.

Margaret Gretener wills "King Kong" to Doris Adams, but not for keeps.

Joy Guscott wills her nursing to Ivan Allen. (He'll need it if he keeps on taking Chemistry.)

Doris Curtis wills her southern drawl to Herby Guscott.

Joyce Jackson wills her demure little self to John Bridges. (He already knows it.)

Eline Johnson wills her giggles to Bill Miles.

Eloise Johnson wills "Fanny" to Glen Johnson.

Norma Kliewer wills her false teeth to Lester Schilke.

Nellie Leer wills her "Baker Boy" to "Painter" Margaret.

Jean McIntosh wills her aptitude of fallin off chairs in science class to James March.

Eunice McArthur wills her "Hopeless Chest" to Ted Curtis.

Margaret Ownbey wills her "Mug" to Joe Lilje.

Donna Rednour wills her shyness to Harold Hanson. (As if he needs it.)

Kathryn Sartin wills her "Pop" corn to Pat Robeson.

Dorothy Schwab wills her "limp" to Dwight Halstead.

Lorna Shull wills her punctuality (but not saying where) to Claude O'Neil.

Dorothy Small wills her "Two-way Shoe-shop to Lana Porsyn.

Peggy Sparks wills her interest in "Cafes and Con" to Billy McIntosh.

Irene Warren wills her creamery to Cliff Scott. (He needs it.)

Doris Worthy wills her eybrows (black or brown.) to Don Hupp.

Frances Zimmer wills her busy ways to Wallace Wilcwer.

James Mace wills his ability to annoy to Jeanne Shackelton.

Claire McArthur wills his scientific knowledge to Delbert Reed.

Lawrence McKee wills his cynicism to Wilma Ferguson.

Mike Migvar wills his place on the all-star team to Bessie Stark.

Bernard Muller wills his resting and sleeping place in English to June Groves.

Arthur Schell wills his fetching ways to Priscilla Morrison.

Ted Schwab wills his love for English to Phyliss Merson.

Frank Wilson wills his speed and "Zeke" to Vern Clousnitzer.

Class Prophecy

Well here we are floating along through space in our stratosphere ballon wondering what to do with that useless bit of time between lunch and dinner. How about looking in on the earth and seeing what our old classmates are doing. Adjourning to the instrument room we take out our wonderful televisic field glasses. Even though we are twenty miles from the earth they bring it as close to us as if we were there. This wonderful instrument we owe to the genius of CLAIR ARTHUR, world famous scientist and inventor. Clair is a very busy man, but he manages to find time to do research work for NELLIE LEAR, who is writing a book on "The fundamentals of Love". Nellie is the author or many best sellers for this year of 1950.

Here already are two members of that fammed class of 1940 busily at work in the world. What are the others doing? We decided to find out and what better place to start than in Newport, our old home town?

MY! how different the town looks. Who could be responsible for such a change? Why it is all due to our famous mayor of course! It is JOYCE CARPENTER the first woman mayor of Newport.

Wonder what that crowd of women are doing around that door? Why they are all trying to get into that new dress shop. The owner is none other than BETTY POISINGTON. Newport now holds the record for having the best dressed women in America, thanks to Betty.

BEN MULLER has revolutionized the milk business of Newport by selling pasturized milk in cellophane bottles of his own creation. Ben himself consumes three quarts of this pasturized milk a day.

We are now passing the old Alma mater. Here we see ELSIE FREEMAN who is the head janitress of Newport High, now. Elsie is very capable and can even drive one of the school busses in an emergency.

And who are these young men coming down the street? Why one is DAN DAIKE. Dan is now married to a short chubby girl who is also an alumni of N.H.S., tho of a later year. The other? Why TED SCHWAB. Ted is an ice-skating teacher on the Head Orielle River. Here's your chance girls!

What's that? Oh! What a racket! Lets see what it is. Why its RICHMOND EMERY. Richmond has developed a love for music so he has taken up piano-tuning. Well he seems to be making a success in it anyway.

Now we leave Newport and travel on.

Here we see ED LEAVITT who runs a dancing school in Spokane. Ed has originated many new dance steps, but he tells us that business is bad this year.

Another successful business man of Spokane is JAMES MACE who has his own beauty shop. He has worked up quite a business by using his own hair as life advertisement.

Do you need to brush up on your driving? Then MARGARET OWNBEY is the one you should see. She gives driving instructions in ten easy lessons. She also has a special complimentary course in "How Not To Hit Cement Posts On Main Streets."

Ah! Here we are at Newport Beach, Oregon. Oh! Quickly someone is drowning. But everything is under control now for the life guard has just made a daring rescue. Who is it? Why its our old friend and classmate, MYRTLE DODGE. Her thrilling rescues are the talk all along the coast.

We have now left the beach and are traveling over Seattle. Who is that very distingused young lady? Why its JOYCE JACKSON our HI-TIMES editor. Joyce has made much advancement since then for she is editor of the now world famous Hearst Papers.

That young man writing so industriously is FRANK DOHERTY who has become known to the world as the walking dictionary. Frank is working on an encyclopedia which is designed to rival the Britannica.

Here we see JEAN McINTOSH who is a famous speech teacher at the University of Washington. Students come from miles around to take her classes.

Who is this young lady? I have seen her picture in the paper many times. Why it's MARGARET SCHEUER. She has just returned from Switzerland where she demonstrated her ability as a yodeling skier. The Swiss people were very anxious to learn her techique.

Here we are at the Salt Lake City Tabernacle. We have heard such world-wide acclaim of the organist that we must stop and hear her. There she has finished playing, it is NORMA KLIEVER.

Two of our classmates are on the radio. DORIS WORTHY is heard every Thursday on the Union Oil Program. She is famous for her operettas. Her favorite is still "Jerry of Jericho Road" which she presents at least once a year on her program. Then there is ELINE JOHNSON, who has taken over Fanny Brice's act as "Baby Snooks." Eline is going to make a movie soon which is expectantly awaited by all her former classmates.

KATHRYN SARTIN is the star of the best-liked play on Broadway this season. Her dramatic portrayals of Shakespearean plays are well known over the country. This year she is doing Macbeth. Oh yes, and by the way she is also the wife of New Yorks' most promising young attorney.

Hmm! Here we are in Washington D.C.

It is near election time and we see DORIS CURTIS who is running for Congress on a forty-dollars-every-Friday campaign. Doris' slogan is "Vote one more day and ten bucks it will pay." She has won many followers from the thirty-dollars-every-Thursday organization.

And naturally being such a wonderful class at least one of our members would be the President of the United States. Guess who? MIKE MIGNAR. Mike is very busy, but he finds time to keep up with his famous hobby of writing cook-books.

The first lady of the Land? Why we know her as FRANCES ZUMWER. Frances flys her own specially built racer plane and is now on the Pacific Coast, but they are expecting home by 7:00 for dinner.

What is this? Why its the Supreme Court, whom do we see as Chief Justice? Why LAWRENCE WAITE, of course! Lawrence is the youngest member of the court. He keeps the court in constent uproar by opposing every question brought up just for the sake of an argument. We immediately recognize this as a left-over from high school days.

Now we have left the United States and are passing over Africa. Here in the darkest part we see a very American looking Dude Ranch. Well, it is run by two of our classmates AMY BOTTRELL and IRENE SHULL. They have a very nice ranch. You may ride either horses or camels as you like.

Now we are passing on. Who is this? Why it is ELSIE REEDLE. She is a teacher of Red-headed boys in the Figi Islands. Elsie always did have a weakness for red heads.

My, What is this important looking building? Why it is the offices of the Nylon Silk Hosiery Company, and who do you think the President is? It's BILLY HEATH. That good looking secretary coming out of his office is DOROTHY SCHAAB. Have you heard Dorothy and Billy are going to be married next month? Doesn't she look happy? And why shouldn't she, think of all the pairs of silk stockings she can have.

What is this shop? It is the photo studio of IRENE WARREN. She has traveled all over the world taking pictures of all the crowned heads in Europe. But now that she has reached the terrible old age of just twenty-six(she refuses to give her actual age) she has decided to settle down here with this little shop. So far she says her age hasn't begun to tell on her work.

The [illegible] gentleman driving down the main street is that lovely man [illegible]. It is ROBERT KERNS. He is the manager of many world fairs in all the large cities of the United States. He is doing New York and San Francisco one better by having at least five fairs on each coast.

This young lady is DOROTHY SMALL. On many young men do we see the effects of her famous fingernails five inches long. She ought to win for she certainly had a good start.

PEGGY SEARS has moved away from Newport, and we see her residing in San Francisco.

Here is a famous history book written by ARTHUR SCHELL foremost historian of [illegible]. His history book is used in all American History Classes in the United States. Arthur says he owes all his success to Mr. Tone who inspired him to read his history book when a student in N.D.S.

Here also is a book written by FRANK WILSON, a young and promising philosopher who is rivaling Socrates and Plato in popularity.

Now we are in New York City. Many of the members of 1940's graduating class have found fame and fortune in this city.

What is this? An art exhibit. They are featuring painting by EUNICE McARTHUR. Eunice is famous for her paintings of her high school memories.

That beautiful young lady with the red hair is 1950's No. 1 debutante. And who else could it be but DONNA REDWOOD. Donny is the cause of much unhappiness among the young bachelors of New York.

We return from the Figi Islands by way of Siberia and in one of those remote places we find ELOISE JOHNSON exerting her skill and love on the native Siberians. Her young assistant and nurse is JOY GUSCOTT who has been here for a number of years. All those who know them sing their well-earned praises.

One last member. Yes, HERBERT GUSCOTT. Herb has just won a Rodhes Scholarship to Oxford. Here he fits right in with the English and their easy-going ways and has a perfect English accent, much to the delight of his many girl friends. Oh! His studies? Well-l you know.

The Class History of '40

Twelve years ago the Newport Schools advertised a course in General Education. The only requirement was that the children enrolling be six years of age.

There were thirty-two six-year-olds who enrolled and of those thirty-two, thirteen are graduating from N.H.S. this year. They are: Joyce Carpenter, Eunice McArthur, Eloise Johnson, Peggy Sparks, Joan McIntosh, Dorothy Small, Irene Warren, Kathryn Sartin, Margaret Ownbey, Margaret Gretener, Arthur Sewell, Clair McArthur, and Lawrence McKee.

Many are the memories of these students. They could tell you of the time when Joan McIntosh was caught playing catch when the teacher's back was supposedly turned. She learned her lesson. (Over the teacher's knee.)

They well remember the time that they were so perfect that they were allowed to picnic on the lawn. (There is no other such record.)

Archie Schell still remembers the time in the second grade that there was a contest among the boys to see who could tip his hat to the greatest number of ladies. Archie continued the brilliant idea of standing in front of Cooper's Market. He won the contest.

Of course there is a genius in every class. We discovered this when our classmate, Lawrence McKee, proved that the best way to read aloud is with tightly closed lips.

By this time we were accustomed to the school routine and the time passed quickly. Before we knew it we were in the seventh grade with a teacher who, without a moment's notice, sprouted a rabbit's tail. (For futher information see Clair McArthur.) The poor teacher almost had a nervous breakdown and as a result we had a new teacher for six weeks.

All we can remember of the eighth grade is our lovely graduation. Our song "Hurry up Mr. Klingbeil While the Moon is Shining Bright", and the empty envelope we gave as a gift to the seventh grade. Poor Juniors! What can they expect this year?

We might have been rather queer looking and acting "greenies" when we first entered the doors of N.H.S. in the fall of 1936--but we were likewise a proud group as we were among the first students to begin classes in the new building.

Of course you know that the class of 1940 has been, for four long years, the life of N.H.S. It took two teachers to keep us from learning our complete four year course of English in one year. Miss Nicholas held the boys back and Miss Gearhart check the overly enthusiastic girls by taking them on a field trip to see some monkeys. (Poor monkeys, what must they have thought?) Needless to say we cooperated fully with these efforts hence our knowledge of English. (Does this explain anything for you, Mr. Wilson?)

Bawling, crawling, sleeping and smiling------ babies! Such was the scene of the Freshman Party. We can see Archie Schell as he fumbled lovingly his pretty red ball and Elsie Beedle as she smiled proudly at her little sponge Teddy Bear won from being judged the prize baby of the night.

As Sophomores we were very angellic. Most any time anyone could look about and see a sophomore sitting in the corner seemingly in a very pensive mood. When questioned the response would be, "I am trying to think of something to bring up at our next Class Meeting." However, our kind-hearted advisor soon realized that this was too much of a mental strain upon us and he relieved the burden by permitting us to postpone our Business Meetings until the ensuing years. (We are still thanking you, Mr. Mills.)

Last year Mr. Oaks taught Geology and many juniors took the subject. The class went on many field trips. While visiting the Bead Lake Mine one day, Dorothy Schwab surprised the class by performing a diving stunt. She dove into a nine-foot hole of water. (Accident or an excuse to go swimming, Dorothy?)

We have never ceased to honor Margaret Ownbey as the best short story writer of the Senior Class. Have you read her prize story, "Romance of the Flypaper," written for English in 1939?

There is always some dramatic ability in every group of people and we discovered these smoldered coals and fanned them to a flame when Frank Wilson took the part of Zeke Bemis in the One Act Play, "She'll be Comin' Round the Mountain When She Comes."

By the beginning of the school year of 1939 our education was so high in rank that we were given the title, "Seniors." A title rarely given to such a class and we have highly honored the title. It will be reluctantly that we give up our cherished title, but we will not part with the pleasant memories connected with it.

CLASS SONG

Smile awhile we bid you fond adieu,
Time has come for us to leave you
Memorys of old Newport High
Will linger as the years go by
Let us take the road to happiness
It will lead us to our success
So dear classmates let us part
With a happy heart.

Tune: Till We Meet Again.

"ADAM and EVA"

Presented by the Senior Class of 1940
November 21, 1939

Directed by Miss Gwen J. Spriggs

The plot had to do with a wealthy man's family who cared only to spend money and have a good time. The father, fearing it would ruin his family and him if they kept on living this way, decided to take a trip and leave his family in charge of his employee, Adam Smith. After many months of trying to manage the family Adam decided to tell them their father had lost all of his money. Believing this story the family agreed to go to work. In the third act their father returned and the family discovered he was not penniless. But they decided to continue supporting themselves.

Newport High School's "Green Freshies" made their debut at a Frosh Reception and to show their appreciation honored the students and faculty with a Freshman Return Party, which proved to be a great success. They also showed to their fellow students of N.H.S. that in future years they will be well able to carry on the traditions of Newport High.

JUNIORS

The "well known Juniors" welcomed the students and faculty to a "Carnival" where they were entertained by various games and dancing. April 26, the class presented the play, "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town." They brought their social events to a close by honoring their fellow Seniors with a Junior Prom. The night club idea was used as a theme for their Prom.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore Class of "42" started off its class activities by purchasing class sweaters in the chosen class colors of black and gold. The class invited the high school students and faculty members to a party given April 19. Spring was the theme for their party. The decorations consisted of a big May Pole in the center of the gymnasium with brightly colored streamers extending to the balcony.

Student Association

The Student Association began the year by electing officers for the first semester and then nominating new officers for the second semesters No officer was allowed to succeed himself in the same office.

The Student Association purchased new equipment for the various sports.

During the year many interesting speakers and entertainers were enjoyed by the Student Body. They were brought to us through the invitation of the Student Body.

Home Economics Club

The Officers of the Home Economics Club for the year 1939-1940 have been as follows:

President, Joy Gusgett; Vice-President, Margaret Lucas; and Secretary-Treasurer, Krytle Dodge.

During the past year the Home Economics Club gave a banquet and a Sadie Hawkins Day dance honoring the letter-men of Newport High School. The Club also contributed food and clothing for the Thanksgiving boxes for the needy families.

Letter "N" Club

The letter "N" Club is made of those students who have taken an active part in the school athletics consisting of football, basketball track and boxing. The officers for the year of 1939-1940 have been as follows:

President	Richmond Emery
Vice-President	Arthur Schell
Secretary-Treasurer	Mike Migvar

The membership of the club is now eighteen.

The Club hold their initiation in the auditorium of the High School. They sang songs, tapped, recited and played musical instruments.

A boxing tournament was held among the members of the Club.

The Senior letter-men competed against the rest of the school in a football game.

At a banquet given for the members Richmond Emery was given the "Inspiration Award" and Mike Migvar was elected "Honorary Captain."

Music Department

Bouquets are to be bestowed on Miss Gwen Spriggs and Mr. Gilmore Stewart for their fine accomplishments with the orchestra, band and the Glee Club.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Spriggs added one more accomplishment to Newport High School. Appearances of the Glee Club were at Parent Teacher's Association Meetings, the Operetta, and Student Assembiles throughout the year.

The orchestra and band, having been organized by and been under the direction of Mr. Stewart for three years, proved their ability by making a number of public appearances. Among them at the Junior and Senior plays, Operetta, Parent Teacher's Association Meetings, and Student getherings. They brought their social engagements to an end by entering the Music Festival at the Eastern College of Washington where they were entered into non-competitive groups and rated.

Three members from the orchestra were chosen to represent Newport at the Festival, in an orchestra consisting of students from various schools.

Annual Staff

The staff for the Bruin was selected in February and proceded at once to working on the annual. They signed contracts with the Intercollgiate Press for paper, covers and photographic reproductions of picture pages. Every member of the Senior Class deserves praise for this cooperation both financial and literary, in making this book.

FOOTBALL

The Newport Grizzlies finished the football season with five wins, one tie and three defeats.

The student body showed much enthusiasm by accompanying the team to games away from home and by staging large rallies the night before home games.

Newport climaxed the season on the local field by the defeating Priest River 12 to 0 in the most important game of the season.

A much-improved team finished the season by defeating Riverside and Deer Park in two grudge games.

The following boys turned out during the 1939 season: Letter"N" award winners: Mike Migvar, Rich Emery, Arthur Schell, Ben Muller, Fred Lear, Frank Wilson, Clair McArthur, Bob Blessing, Don Hupp, Bob Pearce, Joe Lilje, Jim Green, Jack Parker, Bill Miles, Bob Wyckoff, Bob Ratcliffe, Harold Hansen, and Frank Doherty. The Bear award winners: Gordon McClain, Glen Earl, Charles Johnson, Cliff Scott, Dwight Halstead, Jack Shackelton and Homer Beadle.

A banquet was given the football squad by the Home Ec. girls, at this time Mike Migvar was awarded Honorary Captain for the year. Just introduced this year by Coach Tone was the "Inspiration Award", awarded to Richmond Emery.

Looking over the coming seniors and juniors we see a promising team for next season.

Much credit is to be given Coach Tone for his enthusiastic and never tiring work this season.

BASKETBALL

Newport opened its 1939-40 basketball season with a new invocation;a basketball Merry-go-round. Each team of the county played each other team two six-minute quarters. Ione was declared the winner defeating the other three schools. Cusick was second with two wins. Newport third with one win and Metaline last with no wins. One of the fastest and most exciting twelve minutes of basketball witnessed in the county occurred during the Merry-go-round when Ione defeated Newport 20 to 13.

The Newport team was small in comparison with most of their opponents. However, they showed a great deal of spirit and fight, the outcome of most of their games not being determined until the last whistle. They won five of twelve of their regularly scheduled games, of their seven defeats five games were lost by a margin of two points.

The basketball tournout for this year was as follows: Letter "N" award winners; Mike Migvar, Joe Lilje, Bill Miles, Bob Wyckoff, Glen Johnson, and Bob Graham also the following subsitutes; Ed Leavitt, Harold Hansen,Jack Parker, Howard Johnson, Clifford Scott, Jim Green, Jack Shackelton, Conrad Johnson and Bob Ratcliffe.

WATER HOLE

"Ole lady luck is shore ornery to us pore saps," Windy Rogers said grimly as he watched the last of his water run into the floor of Death Valley, California."

"Guess tomorrer night'll see me a ramblin' on my reputation and boy it'll be a long time afore I listen to any ole drunks tell tales again. That ole' drunk said he saw a pearl stuck out with a gent named Brown and that he's sorry as didn't kill ol' Brown and taken the pearl for hisself.

"Well, I believe that story an' I got reason to believe that that there wagon ain't over 150 miles from this here town."

Windy had started out a week before with two "Jacks". One was loaded with water and the other with food. The water "Jack" had been behind the other burro when Windy led. Yesterday he had been thinking and hadn't kept an eye on his "Jacks". When he looked back he saw no water Jack. He tied his remaining servant to a cactus and back-tracked himself. He found his burro stone dead and all the water gone, but a canteen partly full. And last night while he was asleep he had kicked that over and he awakened just in time to see the last drop of his priceless water being slowly absorbed by the ever-thirsty soil. "Well I got a good rep to run on anyway, I hope," muttered Windy.

He stayed in whatever shade he could find during the day and traveled at night.

The next day he began wishing he had something in his mouth besides his Adam's apple. He resumed his quest the following night, but towards morning he began to stumble and to mutter to himself. He was too far gone to realize the sun was coming up so he kept shuffling on. Finally he fell and his senses were jarred together. He sat up and looked around and he saw, in the shimmering heat waves, a wagon about 100 yards away standing beside a small depression. "Guess I'll go over there and wait till evenin' on account of if I don't git up purty soon I'll be a eatin' burned hams for supper." He negotiated the distance easily and discovered to his great joy that the depression was a small waterhole. He stopped and scratch his head. "Boy, I wish I'as a giraffe now and wouldn't that feel good down my bony ol' neck?" Windy drank his fill of the tepid water then crawled in the wagon's hot shade. He rested until he had somewhat regained his strength. He soon relized that this might have been Brown's wagon so he at once began examining it. There was nothing in it but some ruined, dried up food. He noticed an old sun-bleached tent standing about 70 or 80 feet away and he went over the lifted the flap. Immediately he saw two skulls grinning up at him from a cot of straw. "My, my, how sociable I came close to dyin' too. Wonder what killed 'em?"

Windy gingerly drew back the faded covers and noticed a gold band ring on the smaller skeleton's left hand. Even more gingerly did he take it off and he closely examined it. "To my Bride, Pearl," was the inscription inside the band.

Windy thought it over and then spat, "If I'd a knowed Pearl was a gal I'd a went on a bender. Phooey sis, you don't look so hot."

"Wonder where my other burro is. Guess I'll get me another drink and be a worrying about gittin' home." With that he stepped outside wondering why he was so dizzy. He took a few reeling steps and fell.

That night the full moon rose and smiled a dreamy, knowing smile upon a ghostly white tent, a tired burro with a drooping head, a grey old prairie schooner and a dead man lying a few feet away from a poisoned water-hole.

By---Frank J. Wilson

Pauline Smallwood: "What is ship in Spanish?"
Irene Warren: "I don't know. I was inland when I took Spanish"

Frank Doherty: "Changing a tire, eh?"
Delbert Reed: "No, I have a kindly disposition, I get out every few miles and jack it up to give it a rest".

Miss Tjerandsen: "Why Grace, how did you make such beautiful scallops in the edge of that mince pie?"
Grace Edens: "'Twas aisy to do, mum. I jest run me false uppers around it."

Mary Tarbet: "I wish my mom would buy me a drum."
Jean Sparks: "What would you want with a drum?"
Mary: "Peggy's mother pays her a quarter a week not to play hers. Maybe my mom would too."

Betty Hoisington: "I'll bet you can't guess what my sister said about you."
Doris Curtis: "I haven't and idea in the world."
Betty: "That's what you guessed it the first time."

Mr. Oaks: "How many kinds of wood are used in making a match?"
Dorothy Schweb: "Two kinds. He would and she would."

Mr. Wilson: "All we need now, my friends, is to keep a working majority."
Frank J. Wilson: "You're wrong there. What this country needs today is a majority working.

Mr. Tone: "When you face the north, you have on your right hand the Atlantic Ocean. What do you have on your left?"
Walter McClain: "A wart, sir, but I can't help it."

Joanne Shackelton: "Are you an early riser?"
Margaret Ownbey: ""An early riser? Why I get up so early that if I went to bed a little later I'd meet myself getting up in the morning."

Miss Spriggs: "Thanks very much. I must call this afternoon and thank your-mother for those eight beautiful apples."
Herb Guscott: "Please, Miss Spriggs, do you mind thanking her for twelve apples?"

Mr. Mills: "Now Gordon, if you put your hand in one pocket and pulled out seventy-five cents, then put your other hand in the other pocket and pulled out seventy-five cents, what would you have?"
Gordon Amos: "Somebody else's trousers."

Great Grands- one on the way!

In the past 50 years:

I went to the Mission Field with my 1st husband in March of 1946. We had completed our 1st 5-yr. term and were planning to come home on Furlough for 1 yr. when my husband was killed in a truck accident in the High Andes in Peru, So. Am. My 2 small children and I then went to Mexico for 4 1/2 yrs. and then back to Peru for 3 yrs. I had to return to the States because of health problems and then I worked for 21 1/2 yrs. at our International Headquarters in Springfield, MO. I took early retirement in 1981. After having been a widow for 30 yrs., I married again in 1981. I still take short term assignments doing Overseas ministry. I spent 2 months in the canary Islands teaching and preaching in 1988 and will be spending 3-4 months of 1991 doing the same in S. Amer. I have a heavy schedule of Speaking engagements throughout the US each yr. as well.

What are you doing now?

I am still serving on the Board of Trustees of Laubach Literacy International and as their liaison to Laubach Literacy Action which is the States-side arm of the program.
