THE BRUIN

1942

To
The Faculty

We, the Seniors, dedicate this edition of the Bruin. We hope that this, in a small way, will express the appreciation we feel for the patient guidance and sincere advice with which they have helped us throughout our high school career.

Today we are idly flipping
The rich, full pages of time,
And we turn them back four years or so
To the start of our high school climb.

As eager and anxious freshmen,
In numbers forty and four
Thought I now that we caused more trouble,
Than that number increased by fourscore.

We'd wander down hall and down stairway
Like chips cast out upon the water
But it seemed like we'd always manage to get
In a room that we hadn't oughter.

The boys were so onery, the girls so refined
As we entered the swing of things
They got out the paddle, the dust sure did fly
And we soon were like angels with wings.

Next we were sophomores, Oh how we strutted
As we gazed on the lowly frosh,
They carried our books and our bidding did do,
Aren't we something, by gosh!

That year passed quickly and so did the next
Till the time we all can recall,
When we were seniors, our triumph in view,
As we entered school last fall.

But at last we've arrived, our ship has come in,
We're on the gravy train now,
For soon comes commencement and soon we will win
Our sheepskin (from a sheep, now a cow).

Today we are leaving for vacation or job
And maybe for college next fall,
And some may like Homer, heed freedom's cry,
But whatever, we'll give it our all.

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of Newport High School, being of sane mind, sound body, scholastic schooling and solemn thoughts, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament. All other wills made by us previously are hereby canceled.

Gordon Amas leaves his phone number to Edith Beaubier.

Jim Marsh, "The Machine Shop Shylock," wills his flat feet to Patty Brigham.

Jim Greene wills his ability as a political speaker to Bob Kress. (Make good use of it, Bob.)

Homer Beedle leaves his knack of trading girl friends to Milan La Marche. (At least you're assured variety.)

Conny Johnson wills his skill at milking cows to Ed Blake.

Gordon McClain leaves his title, "The Kilowatt King," to Ted Brown. He also wills his stuttering to Barbara Kerns. (It's rather difficult and will require practice.) P. S.—Also practice whistling.

Peggy Wetzler regrets that she has nothing but her beautiful dimples to will to George Sewell and "Soldier Jack" likes them, so she can only spare one.

Barbara Evans doesn't hesitate to leave her gum to Stanley Martin. (Most of it can be found in Mr. Mahnkey's waste basket, Stanley.)

Betty Jones has only one thing to spare and that's her ability to get angry, which she leaves to her sister, Rita—provided she doesn't turn the tables.

Charles Peterson wills his ability to blow sour notes at all the basketball games to June Rice.

Bob Robeson and Delbert Reed will their ability for making new models of old cars to Doris Johnson.

Erwin Schell bequeaths his lovely curls to Mary Louise Field. (No more permanents, no more fuss and bother, you lucky girl!)

Gilbert Skaar leaves his prominent seat in history to anyone who is unlucky enough to get it.

Ollie Curtis trusts her wearing of greens and blues to Don Johnson since he already has the red hair to match it.

Fred Umbarger, the musical genius, wills his inventive ability to Hubert Adams.

Mary Tarbet and Viola Muller will their constant chattering to Linda Woelk.

CLASS WILL

Howard Smith and Donroy Dunwoodie will their booming laughter to Beatrice Hougen. It's about as bad as giggles but they think you'll make good use of it—they always have.

Alma Small leaves her fascinating profile to Lloyd Stratton and Verla Owen wills her good nature to Nadean Petterson. (Consider yourselves lucky.)

Peggy Lucas wills her ambition to become a railroad engineer to any choo-choo minded Junior.

George Zimmer bequeaths his love for that famous breakfast food, "Wheaties," to Hubert Vanairsdale. (Jack Armstrong eats them, too, Hubert.)

Don Wyckoff wills his imagination to Twyla Kress, while Joyce Vanderholm wills her nickname, "Blondie," to Melvin Zyph.

Gertrude Gretener and Teddy Lear leave their cowboy songs and two-part harmony to Leo Migvar and Russel Wilson.

Fielden Piorier was reluctant to part with his nickname, "Sonny," but finally decided to leave it to Lucia Kimmel.

Eldon Unruh and Francis Coleman will leave their first-class farming ability to Bob Bentley.

Jean Longbottom wills her quiet way and studious habits to Emil Dalke.

Howard Johnson leaves his wood-sawing business to Russel Ratcliffe. (But he's going to keep Bettydeane.)

Helen Pitz, after much persuasion, consented to leave her cowboy boots to Mary McClain.

Juanita McIntosh wills her ability to read twenty books a month, in and out of class, to Dave Gardiner.

Nevada Craig leaves anything but her boy-friend, Jim, to Josephine Sowl.

Shirley Erdman, after inheriting the natural instinct for chasing down gossip last year, gladly passes it on to Betty Harrington.

Virginia Hall wills her half-pint size and big appetite to Barbara Kerns and June Rice.

Jean Sparks insists that she's not going to give anything away as she believes in keeping it all in the Senior class. (At last, a true Senior.)

In closing, the Seniors will their trouble, joys and semester exams to the Juniors, in the hope that they will profit by them as we did.

Shirley Erdman-Peggy Lucas.

CLASS PROPHECY

Can you imagine yourself in the year 1962? Peace has again been restored and joy and happiness rule the world. Men have once more turned their minds to matters of science and invention. Just yesterday there was invented a large telescope, second only to Superman, in its magnifying power to observe the lives of humans. Let's focus the powerful lens on the 1942 Seniors of our old Alma Mater . . .

First, let's look toward Philadelphia where we see the handsome, debonair president of the Bell Telephone Company, none other than Gordon Amas, doing his Christmas shopping early.

Who is this we see in the galley of the U. S. S. Cusick furiously peeling potatoes by the peck? Why, it's our old classmate Homer (always in mischief) Beedle.

Our super high pressure salesman, Francis Coleman, has a thriving business selling permanent-wave machines to the African natives.

Now let's turn our gaze to Hollywood where we see Ollie Curtis, expert on fashions and colors, still trying to promote the wearing of blue instead of red. We also see Teddy Lear employed as head artist of Walt Disney's studio.

Hollywood also has that stirring drama "Going Places With Bob Robeson" or "Oh, Bone O'Hara, Where Art Though?" written by Orsen Wyckoff, and featuring Betty Needham and Juanita McIntosh. But Hollywood isn't the only lucky city, Spokane now employs Charles Peterson as elevator boy in the Old National Bank. Charles is a firm believer in working his way up from the bottom.

What! Can the Dean of Women at Vassar College be James Greene? Oh, and there's Gertrude Gretener engaged as athletic director of the Y. M. C. A. And who is this we see entering the Police Station? It's "Judge Dunwoodie" who just received a ticket for double parking.

Turning the lense to the new frontiers we find Conrad Johnson tirelessly trying to perfect the pineapple by growing apples on pine trees.

Looking back to Newport we see a long-whiskered, dejected, middle-aged man plowing through a stack of history books for "Johnson's Plan for Amnesty." Who is it? Donald Holst. And there, too, is Howard Johnson, hoping to learn the technique of tap-dancing. Howard Smith, following in his father's footsteps, is building model airplanes out of his father's shavings.

Alma Small, whose pen name is Little Al, has just written a non-fiction book on "Knit One and Pearl Harder."

Let's stop a moment—something seems too dazzling for our eyes. Now that the lens have cleared we see Tschaikowsky Smythe-Kersey, alias Fred Umbarger.

Mary Tarbet and Jean Sparks now have their own matrimonial agency and edit a magazine entitled "How to Get Your Man In Six Easy Lessons."

CLASS PROPHECY

George Zimmer now has possession of the Santa Anita Race Track and he finds, as Bing Crosby did, it's just too easy to have horses come in last.

Behind a desk, wearing horn-rimmed glasses, busily working on some late papers sits Peggy Lucas who always said she wanted to be a career girl, but not the one who marries her boss. Many miles from here we find Joyce Vanderholm and Viola Muller, confirmed old maids and men-haters, living a secluded life as the Hermits in the Hills of Kentucky.

Featured at Kiwanis Club is an outstanding orator who is speaking tonight on "All Young Wives Should Know How to Conserve Electricity." His name is—yes—you've guessed it, Gordon McClain.

Our mystic telescope carries us to a small chicken farm near Camden where we see Barbara Evans and Carole Webber feeding the Blue Ribbon chickens. And look! Penrith has its own orchestra directed by the second "Gene Krupa," Verla Bowen.

Virginia Hall, getting her start as President of the Senior Class, is President of an automobile company with cars of her own designs called the "Ginny Lee."

In Seattle, in a large gloomy castle, we see Feilden Poirier bent over a group of test tubes and small vessels. He is the scientist who just discovered the cure for jitterbugs.

One of the brightest stars from the class of '42 is Bob Peirce, better known as the Blonde Bombshell, who fights every month in Joe's Lilac Garden.

Shirley Erdman models Peggy Wetzler's latest creations in women's hats. Shirley has had to dodge many a ripe tomato thrown by outraged husbands, but still the sales continue.

Appearing over a nation-wide hookup every Wednesday night for Whimples' Cod Liver Oil are those two top-notch comedians, Henry and Herman. Who else could they be but Gilbert Skaar and Erwin Schell?

Betty Jones has worked hard and diligently these last twenty years and is now manager of J. C. Penney and Company. She just recently employed Jean Longbottom as official floor walker.

Now let me see, that must be Nevada Craig and Jim Marsh who are the proprietors of a hot-dog stand near Diamond Lake. Since Nevada and Jim were married, Jim's machine shop has been turned into a toy shop.

And last of all we see our old friend and adviser, Mr. Ira Morrison, who is still teaching his students to strive for a better and higher goal in life.

Thus we have reached the end of the list of '42 classmates with our super magnifying space telescope and we hope you are all looking forward, as we are, to a happier future.

By Carole Webber and Barbara Evans.

CLASS HISTORY

Who discovered America in 1492? Why, Columbus, of course! And what happened on that memorable day July 4, 1776? The people of America won individualism and freedom of speech.

Dates such as these will never be forgotten, just as the date 1942 will live long in the memory of the class of '42. For to us, the graduates of N. H. S., this year is destined to take a place in history. You ask why? Simply because it marks the beginning of a new world.

Way back in 1930, bawling, quarreling and very curious little men and women, aged 6, started on what we thought was the Big Adventure of Life. For we were going to start school! Of this group 13 began their schooling at Newport Grade School.

The first year of school held only a small amount of work and lots of play. Our teacher, Miss Powell, can never be forgotten for it was she who threatened us with the rubber hose.

On our journey through the grades the annual picnics hold the spotlight. Many a time the ants got most of the food and we went home tired and weary from a hard day of play.

The first years passed swiftly, marked by the gaining of new classmates and the losing of old ones.

In the fifth grade we were beginning to take school as a matter of course, feeling confident that the mysteries of school had been solved. That year Mr. Freshman took us through the bakery and awarded us each with a cream puff. That, too, was the year three different teachers were called upon to teach us.

During the next three years we realized many of our ambitions—such as a mouth-organ band, the development of our paper, the "Blue and Gold Spotlight," and being made eligible for the Student Council and best of all our eighth grade graduation.

Then came the date of all dates—1938—yes, we were Frosh! Although unqualified to be classed among our upper classmates, we did manage to get through initiation week. That was where the famous paddle of '42 got a thorough workout. Our English class that year greatly enjoyed Mrs. Guscott's reading in Scottish brogue. Because of circumstances beyond the control of anyone the Freshmen boys and girls were divided into two separate classes during our Freshman year.

The following year our accomplishments were many. No one ever mentions our May Pole Dance because if the awful truth were known, that was the time we ended by being two dollars in debt.

Our Junior year brought forth many social activities, starting with the carnival. Preparations were made for days, homes ransacked for the Bingo counters and many a mother wondered what had happened to her prize blanket. However, our carnival was a success in spite of the many mishaps. With spring came the annual Junior play, "Cross My Heart." Later on, as the high light of the Junior year, came our first formal.

CLASS HISTORY

It seemed no time at all until the school year ended and grades were given out. Oh what grins came over the faces of the mighty Juniors—their goal had been reached, the last hurdle was in sight for we were Seniors, an honor which took three years of hard labor.

In the beginning of our Senior year the Hi-Times staff was chosen, barn dance given and "Here Comes Charlie" put into production.

As in years past the Senior Ball is an event looked forward to by every one. For it is the Seniors' way of saying "thank you" to those who have helped make their journey more pleasant.

Eleven of the graduates began their schooling at Newport. They are: Donroy Dunwoodie, Erwin Schell, Howard Smith, Virginia Hall, Juanita McIntosh, Alma Small, Mary Tarbet, Jean Sparks, Gertrude Gretener, Charles Peterson and Betty Jones.

"HERE COMES CHARLIE"

During November, 1941, the Class of '42 Presented Its Annual Play
Directed by Miss Gwen Spriggs

Nora Malone, cook at the Elliott home ..... Carole Webber
Officer Tim McGrill, Nora's sweetheart ..... Donroy Dunwoodie
Mrs. Fanny Farnham, Larry's aunt ..... Joyce Vanderholm
Larry Elliott, young business man ..... George Zimmer
Ted Hartley, his old-time college pal ..... Erwin Schell
Vivian Smythe-Kersey, Larry's fiance ..... Barbara Evans
Uncle Aleck Twiggs, in charge of Charlie ..... Homer Beedle
Charlie Hopps, Larry's ward ..... Shirley Erdman
Mrs. Caroline Smythe-Kersey, Vivian's mother ..... Betty Jones
Mortimer Smythe-Kersey, Vivian's brother ..... Fred Umbarger

PLOT: Larry Elliott, stock broker in St. Louis, had promised on the death of his friend to care for his child, and upon Charlie's arrival, Larry was astonished to find Charlie a young girl of seventeen. Mrs. Farnham, degraded by the hillbilly, conspired with Vivian and her mother to rid the house of the girl and her Uncle Aleck, by making their ignorance conspicuous, and accusing Charlie of a theft. This led to a show-down which resulted in Mrs. Farnham's reformation, and the denunciation of the Smythe-Kerseys. Charlie's determination to be a lady led to her marriage to Larry.

"CROSS MY HEART"

Presented by Junior Class of '42.

The play centered about a teen-age girl and boy. Through a misunderstanding with their parents these two teen-age folks ran away. Their parents were worried and frightened, and when the news reached them of the wreck of a yellow roadster the children were supposed to be in, they were nearly at their wits end. Also when a service-station holdup was reported the children were suspicioned. At the climax the children returned and were found innocent. The parents were so happy to have them back that, between the older and younger generation of this family, a deeper, more beautiful understanding was brought about.

Those in the Junior play were: Carole Webber, George Zimmer, Erwin Schell, Barbara Evans, Jean Sparks, Fred Umbarger, Joyce Vanderholm, Donroy Dunwoodie, Viola Muller, Shirley Erdman and Homer Beedle.

JUNIORS

The "mighty" Juniors elected first-semester officers as follows: President, Lloyd Stratton; vice-president, Barbara Kerns; secretary, Edith Beaubier; treasurer, June Rice; student council representative, Linda Woelk. In November the annual "Junior Carnival" given by the class of '43 proved very successful.

The second semester found as president, Hubert Vanairsdale; vice-president, Rita Jones; secretary, Mary Louise Field; treasurer, Bob Kress; student council representative, Lloyd Stratton. The Junior adviser was Mr. Oaks.

The Juniors gave their prom April 17, 1942, in a beautifully decorated gym. The affair was declared a success by all.

SOPHOMORES

Under the supervision of Mr. Mahnkey the Sophomores elected for first-semester officers: Ed Miles, president; Lila Miles, vice-president; Leon Hall, secretary, and Ruby Johnson, treasurer.

Beginning in January Leon Hall was president; Jean Warren, vice-president; Ted Vanairsdale, secretary; Margaret McIntosh, treasurer; Reno Lucas, student council representative.

The Sophomore class sweaters were black and white. On April 3, 1942, they entertained the student body and faculty at a party in the gymnasium.

FRESHMAN

The "Greenys" of N. H. S. proved to be good sports and a worthy addition to our high school.

Under the leadership of Mr. Fisher, Dick Dodge was elected president; Alyce Rice, vice-president; Laurence Gardiner, secretary; Eva Jackson, treasurer, and Goldie Monk, student council representative.

The "frosh" entertained the student body at the "Freshman Return Party" and the party was an undoubted success.

Second semester officers were as follows: Alyce Rice, president; Leonard Johnson, vice-president; Duane Shaw, secretary; Howard Stearns, treasurer; Guy Hansen, student council representative. Mr. Fleming was adviser, as the former adviser was called to the service of our country.

COUNTY ONE-ACT PLAY FESTIVAL

DIRECTED BY MRS. WILSON

Presented at N. H. S. March 27

"AUNT CAROLINE'S PEARLS"

Bob (Bud Greene), twenty-two, young, handsome, dreads asking Jean's father (Hubert Adams) for permission to marry her. Jean (Norma Edmonds), an attractive girl of eighteen, happens to mention Aunt Caroline's pearls. Bob wonders if the pearls are more important than himself and a quarrel takes place. Jean's father hears them and declares the wedding unsuitable. By his opposition he brings the two together and consents to the wedding.

Ione presented "Ila"; Metaline Falls, "The Wedding," and Cusick, "When the Wife's Away."

Mr. Newcombe, head of Speech at Whitworth, criticized the plays.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

President ..... Barbara Evans
Vice-President ..... Peggy Lucas
Secretary ..... Mary Tarbet
Treasurer ..... Virginia Hall
Student Council Representative ..... June Rice
Advisers ..... Miss Ott, Miss Bough, Mrs. Wilson

On December 5, 1941, the girls of Newport High School reorganized the Girls' League, which had not been functioning for two years. It was decided to have a Home Ec. Club, Girls' Athletic Association and Pep Club as subdivisions from the Girls' League.

The Girls' League gave a dance after the Merry-Go-Round on December 12, sponsored by the P.-T. A. The proceeds were given to the Red Cross.

During the year the Girls' League gave a number of matinee dances. Dancing classes were organized to teach those who didn't dance.

After the tournament, February 21, the Girls' League gave a dance, the admission being one defense stamp.

HOME EC. CLUB

President ..... Joyce Vanderholm
Vice-President ..... Jean Warren
Secretary and Treasurer ..... Edith Beaubier

G. A. A. AND PEP CLUB

President ..... June Rice
Vice-President ..... Mary Tarbet
Secretary ..... Lucia Kimmel

The Pep Club was organized for more unity in the cheer sections at the games.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

The band made its first appearance of the year at the home football games. During the year the band and orchestra supplied entertainment at the Junior and Senior plays, Red Cross plays and P.-T. A. They gave a concert for P.-T. A. Music for Commencement exercises was presented by the orchestra. The spring found the band practicing and marching outdoors.

The band and orchestra were unable to participate in the annual music festival at Cheney because of tire rationing.

Under the direction of Mr. Gilles the music department has shown a decided improvement. The band has twenty-five members and the orchestra has an average of thirty members.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Newport Future Farmers' Chapter got off to a busy start this year with the following officers:

President ..... Conrad Johnson
Vice-President ..... Homer Beedle
Secretary ..... George Zimmer
Treasurer ..... Leo Migvar
Reporter ..... Bob Peirce
Adviser ..... Mr. Brown

The boys did very well in their judging this year. They placed:

1st of 14 teams, September 13 ..... Davenport Contest
1st of 18 teams, September 20 ..... Colville Contest
6th of 25 teams, September 27 ..... Pullman Contest
5th of 76 teams, October 4 ..... Portland Contest
2nd of 12 teams, November 1 ..... Riverside Potato Contest
6th of 24 teams, November 8 ..... Pullman Potato Contest

One of the outstanding happenings of the year was Conrad Johnson's trip to Kansas City. Conrad was picked to be on the Washington Judging Team and Mr. Brown was coach.

The F. F. A. had many projects this year. They purchased a nice looking beef calf, which they will raise and sell next year. They planted potatoes, meadow foxtail and some fertilizer plots. They also own half interest in a Duroc Jersey boar. Beside all this, they sold candy in the hall during the noon hour.

Another grand affair was the annual F. F. A. Parent-and-Son Banquet held April 24 in the high school gym. George Zimmer was the toastmaster and about 70 people attended it. The F. F. A. furnished the food and the Home Ec. Club, under the supervision of Miss Ott, cooked it.

During the year Mr. Brown joined the army air corps so we got a new teacher and adviser, Mr. Don Schoeff. Homer Beedle also answered the call to the colors. He joined the U. S. Marines.

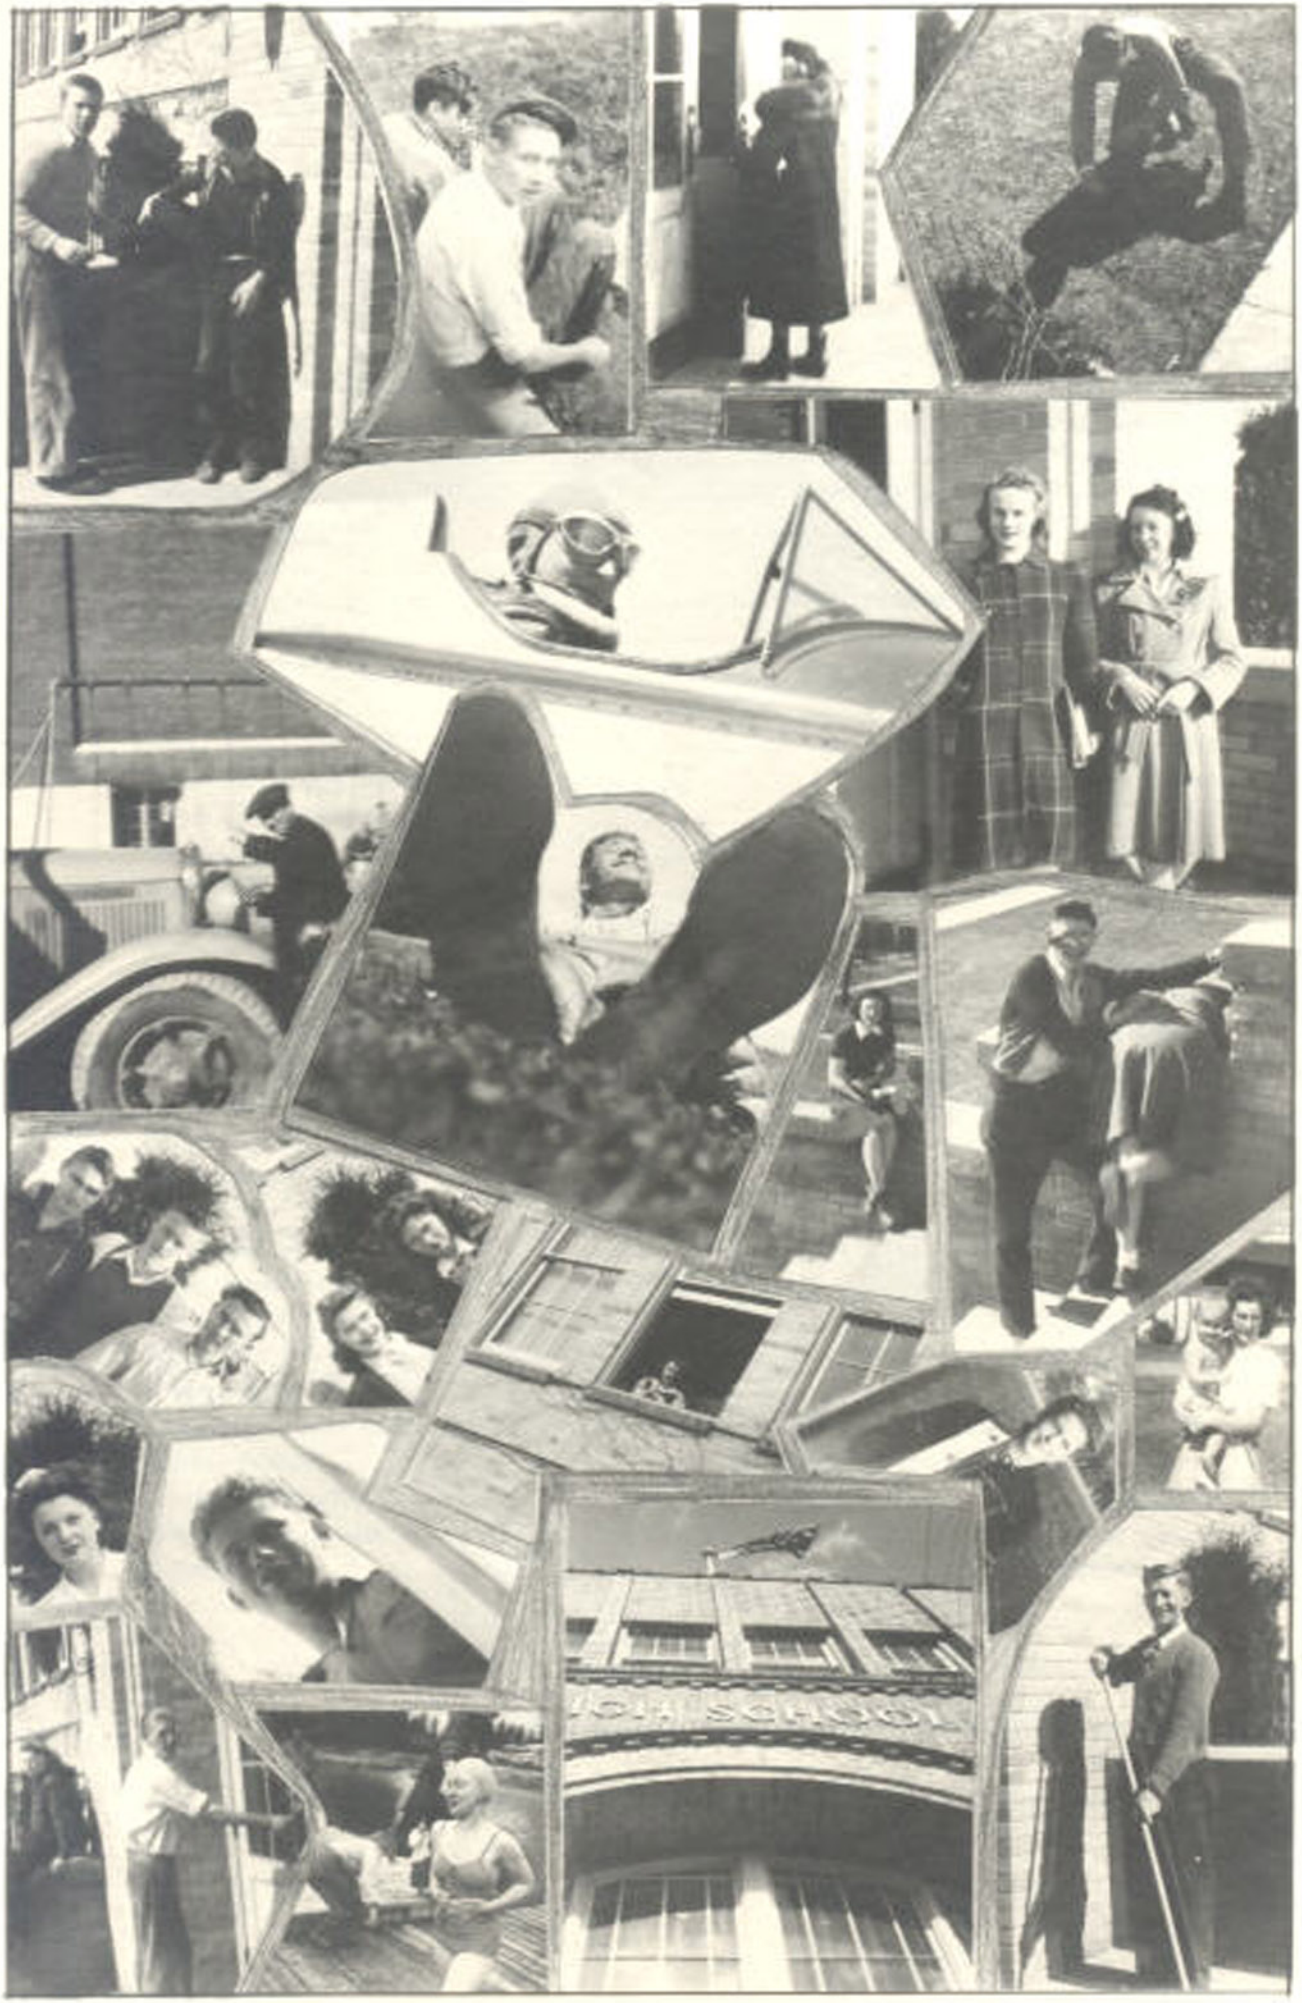

Before Mr. Brown left he ordered a Dick Brown Achievement Trophy, which will be given to the outstanding agriculture boy in either Newport or Cusick.

Two boys of the chapter, Conrad Johnson and Leo Migvar, are trying out for State Farmer Degrees. The highest award in the state.

GLEE CLUB

If one happens to be strolling by Newport High School at noon, sweet music comes drifting to your ears. Immediately one knows this is the Glee Club. Under the direction of Mrs. Wilson, there are twenty-five members, nine of them being boys. This year the Glee Club worked on an Irving Berlin production, "Patriotic Fantasy."

FOOTBALL

When we round up the final up-to-date scores, we find that Newport had a decidedly tough season. The Grizzlies finished with seven defeats and one tie.

Much improvement was shown in the school spirit of Newport High this season. Home games and those away were attended by a large number of enthused Newport boosters. They were there with loads of pep and plenty of new yells for the squad.

The boys who won letter "N's" were as follows: Gilbert Skaar, Conrad Johnson, Homer Beedle, Jim Greene, Gordon McClain, George Zimmer, Bob Kress, Lloyd Stratton, Russel Ratcliffe, Stanley Vanairsdale, Stanley Martin, Bud Green, Dallas Henke, and Leo Migvar.

Others who worked hard on the team were awarded Bear emblems. They were: Gordon Amas, Howard Smith, Ed Miles, David Gardiner, Lawrence Gardiner, Ed Blake, Melvin Zyph, Robert Bentley, Donald Jackson, Don Richarson, and George Sewall.

At the annual football banquet, Coach Mahnkey and the football squad proudly presented to Conrad Johnson, the William Tone inspirational award.

Out of 22 games the Newport squad won 10 and lost 12, scored 384 points while their opponents scored 438 points. Won one at Merry-Go-Round and lost one and came in second at the County Tournament.

Prospects for a good team next year are very promising with five lettermen lined up for our basketball season. The boys who won letter "N's" were: Jim Greene, Conrad Johnson, Eldon Unruh, Lloyd Stratton, Bob Kress, Dene Persyn, Bud Green and Stanley Vanairsdale.

BOXING

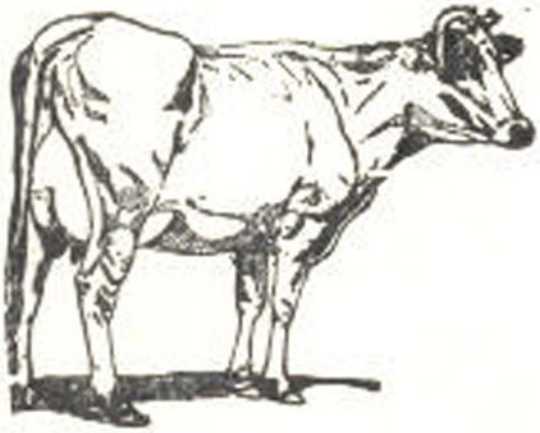

The Newport boxing squad ended the season with four wins, two losses and one draw. The team consisted of Gene Stewart, Steve Khatain, Marvin Curtis, Hu Vanairsdale, Ed Miles, George Zimmer, Ed Blake and Russel Wilson. Every boy earned a letter "N" this year. The prospects for next year's boxing season look very good. They are only losing one member of the squad. However, Newport has lost its unusually fine coach, Andy Hottell, who was promoted to Bonners Ferry Safeway market. At the last smoker Mr. Mills presented Andy Hottell with a letter "N," which makes him a life-long member of the letter club.
