SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of '49, being of sound and sane mind, hereby decree this to be our last will and testament and hereby bequeath and convey individually and collectively to the following persons all our possessions, both real and imaginary, to-wit:

To ART M., JEAN H. and ELOISE B. will their position at the head of the stairs so he can inspect all the girls.

To RUSS F. and MAURICE M., ANNABELLE C. wills her quiet disposition hoping they will make good use of it.

To GLORIA S., NEVALIN C. wills her Senior Ball Queen crown.

To any junior girl lucky enough to get one, BERNADINE C. wills her diamond.

To PATRICIA C., LOUISE G. wills her large wad of chewing gum hoping she will not chew it as hard.

To ROY F., BONNIE M. wills her good humor in case he runs out of it.

To BARBARA P., JOAN M. wills her trombone as she has what it takes to make it work.

To JIM M., JOE C. wills his ability to date the girls.

To JUNIOR H. and DICK B., MARTHA S. wills her acting ability hoping they can then act their age.

To BARBARA J., CARL C. wills his intelligence.

To ROSE M., EVELYN W. wills her red boots.

To AL M., VERA P. wills her "Ag" book hoping that someday he will become a good farmer.

To GENE O., DON J. wills his two voices.

To JOAN K., VIRGINIA R. wills her receipt book in case she would like to be Business Manager of the annual.

To NORMA O., GARY S. wills his red hair and freckles.

To anybody who can get away with it, ANNE D. wills her ability to slip unnoticed into English class ten minutes late.

To ALICE C., JOHNNY O. wills his bashfulness.

To DUANE P., FRANK G. wills his trumpet, hoping he will rise to fame as another Harry James.

To ALFRED G., DELORES H. wills her pretty clothes.

CLASS WILL

To ANNABELLE C., BETTY H. wills her many boy friends.

To NANCY E., JANICE K. wills her "specs" in exchange for her blue ones.

To DUANE W., VERNE L. and JOHNNY P. will their Toni Kits.

To JOAN E., JOE S. wills his quibbling with Miss Lake hoping she can get away with it as well as he.

To RALPH G., ALLEN S. wills his intelligence in English class.

To DICK A., ALAN G. wills his yodeling ability so he can keep the girls amused.

To anyone whose resistance is broken down enough to accept the job, MARY KAY wills her editorial worries.

To JOYCE V., DANA M. wills his muscles so she can keep the boys in line.

To LAURA M., DELORES K. wills all of her romantic experiences.

To anyone who happens to sit at the same table with her, KENNY W. wills his ability to keep ALICE C. amused in study hall.

To GRACE S., IRETA M. wills all of her aches and pains.

To ORVILLE R., CLYDE V. W. wills all of his notes from MARY P.

To WESLEY and OSCAR H.; GLEN S., JAMES H., and CHARLIE Q. will their bookkeeping books.

To JACK H., BOB S. wills his curly eyelashes.

To anyone who would like to try it, MARY ELLEN and LYLE B. will their ability to hold hands in class unnoticed.

To DICK H., HARRY N. wills his interest in a sophomore girl.

To VIVIAN S., JIM L. wills his great artistic ability.

To ALICE P. and LYLA B., AAROL W. wills his carpentry tools.

To JANE K., BETTY R. wills her bottle of peroxide.

To EDITH and BERNICE, DALE F. wills his Wildroot Cream oil.

To LUCILLE H. and MARY JUNE, NEVA W. wills her long bob.

To KENNY T., JIM H. wills his pin-up girl. Take care of it!

To BURTON C., ELAINE P. wills her goo-goo eyes.

CLASS HISTORY

On a bright September morning way back in 1937 nine member of our graduating class made the first of a long series of treks to school with fervent anticipation of mastering the three "R's". The four little girls—Betty Henley, Elaine Pearce, Virginia Reed, and Martha Sewell—all proved themselves to be extremely "chic" with their stylish wind-blown hair-dos. The young carpenters of the class—Don Johnson, Jim Larson, John Proctor, Glen Shivley, and Joe Sutton—built the most super-stupendous-colossal house in the world (as far as they were concerned, that is). However, all was lost on that eventful day when Glen was playing a game of chase around the room and took a short-cut through one of the ever-so-sturdy paper walls.

For some unknown reason we had developed into a very talkative group by the time we reached the second grade—only on rare occasions did one not find a good share of the students staying in at noon or after school. Two glamour girls—Eloise Barry and Mary Taylor—and that terror, Jim Hansen joined our class that year.

The Graceful Garant Glide came into being in the third grade when Frankie first mastered writing under the tutelage of Miss Taylor. Lyle Balderson and Verne Lindsay entered our class in the fourth grade to take part in a political battle to elect the President of the United States. By enrolling at Newport during the sixth grade, Jim Kofford and Joan Myers took part in scaring all of our teachers nearly out of their wits by setting the alarm of Mrs. Jones' clock so that it rang at some opportune moment. Miss Hall easily cleared two feet when it went off during her lecture on punctuation.

Though Joe Sutton, better known in those days as Jo-Jo, left Newport in the seventh grade, we gained two other members of our graduating class to help us dodge Miss Talbot's memorable ambidextrous "hook to the jaw". Yes, this was the year when that staunch supporter of students' rights, Jean Hall, and that noisy Neva Wetzler arrived at Newport. Louise Gregory, Ireta Mann, Joe Cherrey, and Dana Morrill joined us in the eighth grade to help make up the largest graduating class in years—a full forty.

As lowly Frosh we went through a lively initiation and then settled down to become "oldtimers" around the school. Among the "greenies" were Delores Heiser, Bonnie Morse, Dale Falk, John Oscarson, Allen Smith, Wayne Zickler, Charles Quinn, and Ann Dietrich.

After a year of high school we entered our sophomore year to sit back and enjoy the initiation of the freshman. Allen Goodell and his guitar became favorite entertainment for students as soon as they arrived at school this year. Our class boasted six new girls—Annabel Capehart, Bernadine Coy, Mary K. Johnson, Delores Korbel, Betty Rhodes, and Janice Kirchgasler. Lyle Balderson, after attending school with us every other year, rejoined our ranks to continue through high school.

For some unknown reason several of our former students returned to N.H.S. during our junior year. They were Ann Dietrich, Don Johnson, and Joe Sutton. New this year were Clyde Van Winkle, Aarol White, Jim Huling, Vera Pillers, and Evelyn Willner. Our Prom with "April Showers" for the theme proved to be one of the most successful dances of the year.

Joining our ranks to graduate with us during the senior year were Nevalin Carlton, Bob Scott, Kenny Wilson, and Harry Naud. Janice Kirchgasler returned to Newport this year. With much work we put on the Senior Ball which was widely acclaimed as the "best ever", using "Christmas in the Arctic" for our theme. With graduation as a last flurry, we ended our school career.

CLASS PROPHECY

A passer-by pauses on his way one warm evening in May, 1970. He glances with interest at the brightly lighted high school in the city of Newport, Washington. From the open window come the strains of the school song. It is the night of the reunion of the class of '49 after a period of twenty-one years. He listens with interest as a woman in her late thirties rises and speaks to the assembled group.

"Classmates, I am very happy that we could all attend this—our first reunion. So much has happened to us all, so many surprising things. For instance, who would have thought Verne Lindsay would be a minister? The first marriage ceremony that he performed united Eloise Barry and her ever faithful Bill. Verne's next ceremony was to marry Mary Taylor and Lyle Balderson. Bernadine Coy was a bridesmaid. Two weeks later Bernie was married, also by Verne.

Ireta Mann is now operating an exclusive dress shop for women in Chicago. I must say that Dana Morrill, Charlie Quinn, and Jim Huling make good models. Evelyn Willner is chief seam ripper and Joan Myers keeps track of all stray pins.

Alan Goodell has his own radio program. Yes, he took over Rocky Star's morning program, "Yodeling Stranger." He is followed by Betty Rhodes and Delores Heiser, "The Singing Suzies". They are very popular with the listening audience.

We all remember our Florence Nightingale, Elaine Pearce. She's now head nurse at a veterinary hospital. Carl Corbit is head doctor. Together they operated on Aarol White for horsomitus, a serious disease which Aarol contracted on his farm out of Newport. Aarol pulled through beautifully.

Virginia Reed is completing her life ambition. She always wanted to be a miser. She now has accumulated the sum of $25, after working on her first million for only 20 years.

Johnny Oscarson and Bob Scott are now leading movie actors. Remember how bashful Johnny used to be? The movies liked his fresh, little boy look and I guess they just couldn't resist Bob's curly eyelashes. Remember the days when the thought of Bob would remind you at once of Nevalin Carlton? Well, it's still that way, as she and Bob are married now.

Betty Henley runs a "Lonely Heart's Club". She has so many "lonely hearts" that she had to hire assistants to help her with the correspondence. Delores Korbel is in charge of editing all letters.

Don Johnson has become a song publisher. Among his recent releases are: "Three Week-ends in a Bar Room" and "Gloria". Of course "Gloria" isn't new, in fact she came out in '49, but Don still considers her his favorite.

If you ever pass through Blanchard on your way fishing, be sure to stop in at Annabel Capehart's Worm O'Works. She has the best variety of worms this side of heaven.

Martha Sewell is head of Miss Sewell's Exclusive School for Young Women. In her spare time Martha directs the many theatrical performances given by her girls. Martha is quite the actress. Perhaps she acquired her acting ability during her high school days.

Jean Hall and Janice Kirchgasler are the co-owners of a little "Sweet Shoppe". I hear they have a thriving business. Their awful-awful-awful-awfuls are in great demand. They are just like the awful-awfuls you buy any place except they are four times as good.

PROPHECY

After his graduation Clyde Van Winkle went back to Pasco, where he established his own radio repair shop. Clyde's motto is "If it's fixable, I can fix it," and he really holds true to his word.

Joe Cherrey inherited his father's farm out of Newport. He has made quite a success of his farm. Of course, while he's not farming he works a regular shift at the mill.

Speaking of farming, Ann Dietrich and Vera Pillars own and manage a hundred and sixty acres in the valley. They were very busy, but they managed to come out here to attend this reunion.

I was surprised to find out that Dale Falk and Harry Naud teamed up and are now successful stunt men in an annual air show. Joe Sutton is very popular. He appears with the Korney Bros. Circus as the man who is shot out of a cannon. At least he starts out with a bang!

Allen Smith is still looking for a beautiful blond, red-head, or brunette. He isn't particular. He has traveled all over the U. S. after his little hunk of beauty, but he just hasn't found her yet.

Jim Larson is now an architect. He doesn't have much time for designing anyone's home but his own, for he has to add another room on his estate every time he has an addition to his family. He now has 50. That always was his goal.

Jim Hanson is now a pants presser in a nudist colony. He never was very ambitious.

Kenny Wilson has followed in Gene Krupa's footsteps. He now has his own little band. Frank Garant has joined Kenney's band as first trumpeter.

Louise Gregory and Neva Wetzler have incorporated a day nursery. They always did have a way with children.

Oh, I almost forgot! Glen Shivley has remained right here in Newport. He has become the high school agriculture teacher.

Johnny Proctor and Wayne Zickler are great big husky football players—professional, that is. I always knew they would go far. Garey Strand rose to fame in the last few years and now holds the world's heavyweight championship in the boxing world.

I guess I really don't have much to say about Jim Kofford. We all know that he is now a tenor with the Metropolitan Opera. Jim began singing back in high school and he has never stopped.

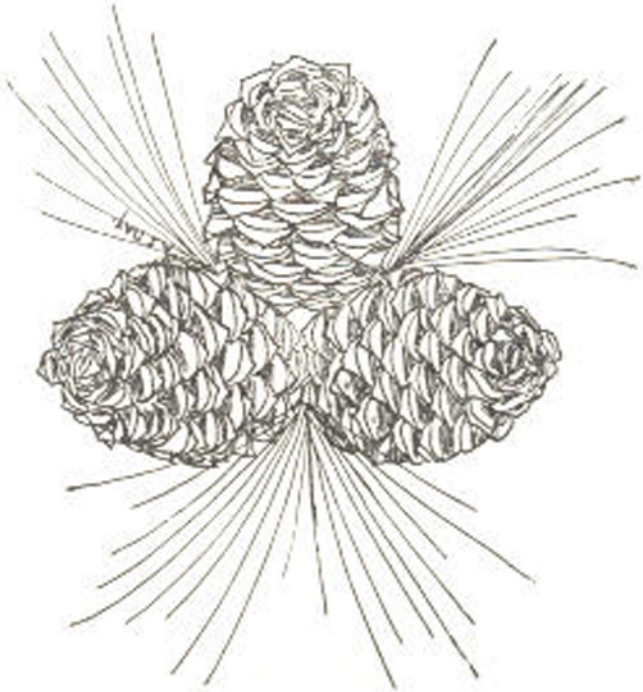

Mary Kay Johnson hasn't done too well. She lives all by herself in the house by the side of the road. She's an old maid at 40. But as the saying goes, "While there's life there's hope", and she's still hoping.

I think I've mentioned all of you. I'm so glad we've all turned out so well and have fulfilled our youthful ambitions. Now to close this very lovely banquet, I propose a toast to the class of '49."

After starting a season that introduced eight man football to the county for the first time, the Grizzlies, with only four returning lettermen ran roughshod over its foes to complete an undefeated season, and capture the Pend Oreille championship.

The fighting Red and Black who were considered by many as the underdog in this region began the season by trouncing Rathdrum High in a non-league game. In the second game, which was the first league tilt the Grizzlies were pitted against their toughest foe—Metaline Falls. This contest which was a hard fought battle ended in a 13 to 13 tie after Newport crashed to pay dirt with only one minute of play remaining.

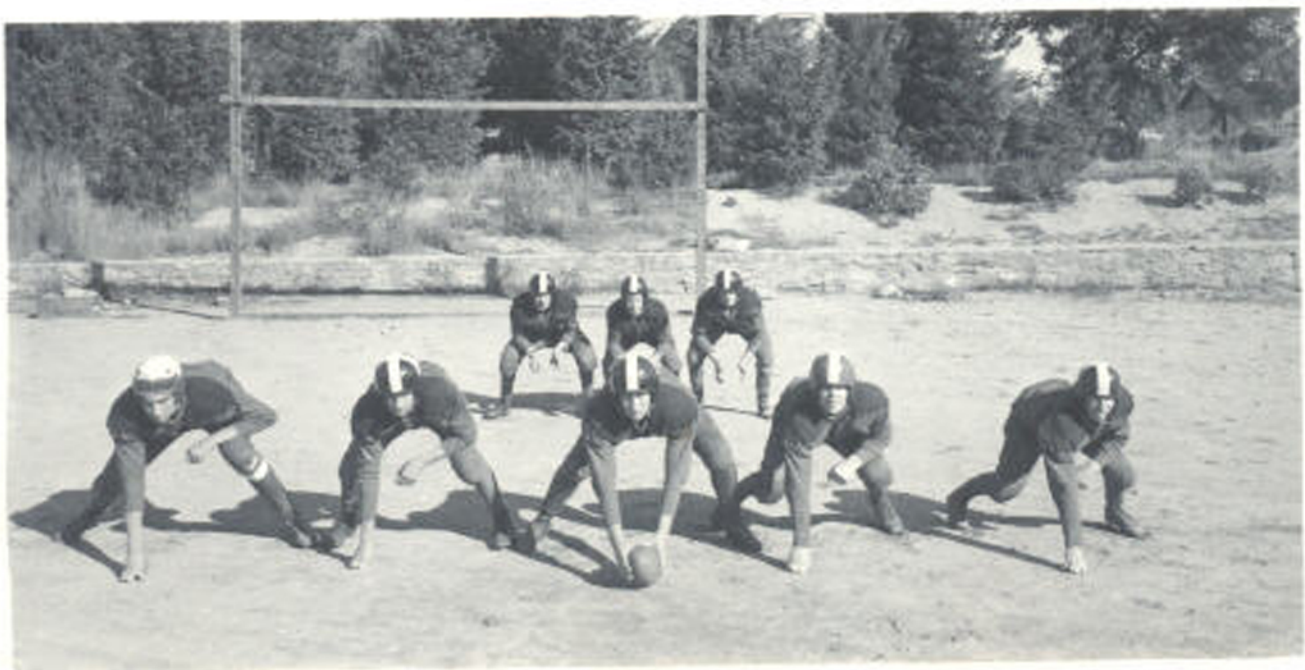

In the remaining games the local lads had strong competition in only two games, those being the return contest with Metaline Falls and the last encounter of the season with Cusick.

This was the first season in many years in which the Newport aggregation has finished an undefeated season.

B-Squad: Left to Right—Paul Foster, Murray Willson, Burton Cook, Raymond Johnson, Gordon Campbell, Phillip Howe, and Gail Larson. Not shown: Captain—Everett Eaton.

Majorettes—Delores Heiser, Annabel Capehart, Betty Rhodes, Michele Mintzer, Marie Rougle.

A-Squad—Albert Moeser, Maurice Mintzer, Carl Corbit, Vern Lindsay, Russell Fahland, Lyle Balderson (Captain), Kermit Pierson, Kenny Scott, James Brigham, Richard Yonck.

BASKETBALL

Basketball, the second round of the athletic season, proved to be about as successful as football with a winning team that won 19 games while dropping only 7.

The Grizzlies lost only one non-conference tilt and two league games. The Red and Black were downed twice in the County tournament at Metaline Falls by the Metaline quintet, and twice to Marcus in District play.

After taking second place in the Pend Oreille League the Grizzlies swept past Medical Lake, 48 to 39 and Odessa 39 to 37 in the District playoffs to win a spot in the North East District competition at Whitworth College.

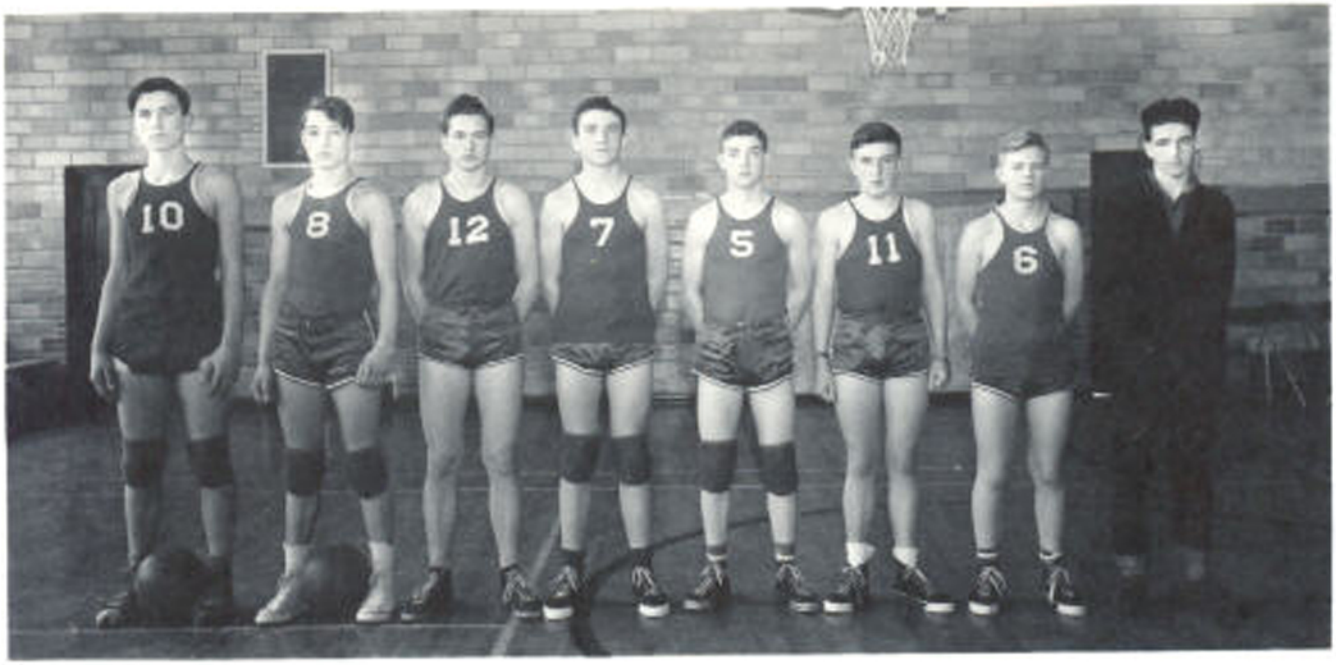

After bowing to Marcus 45 to 50 the local lads trounced Latah 57 to 46 and Hunters 52 to 36 to get into the consolation finals.

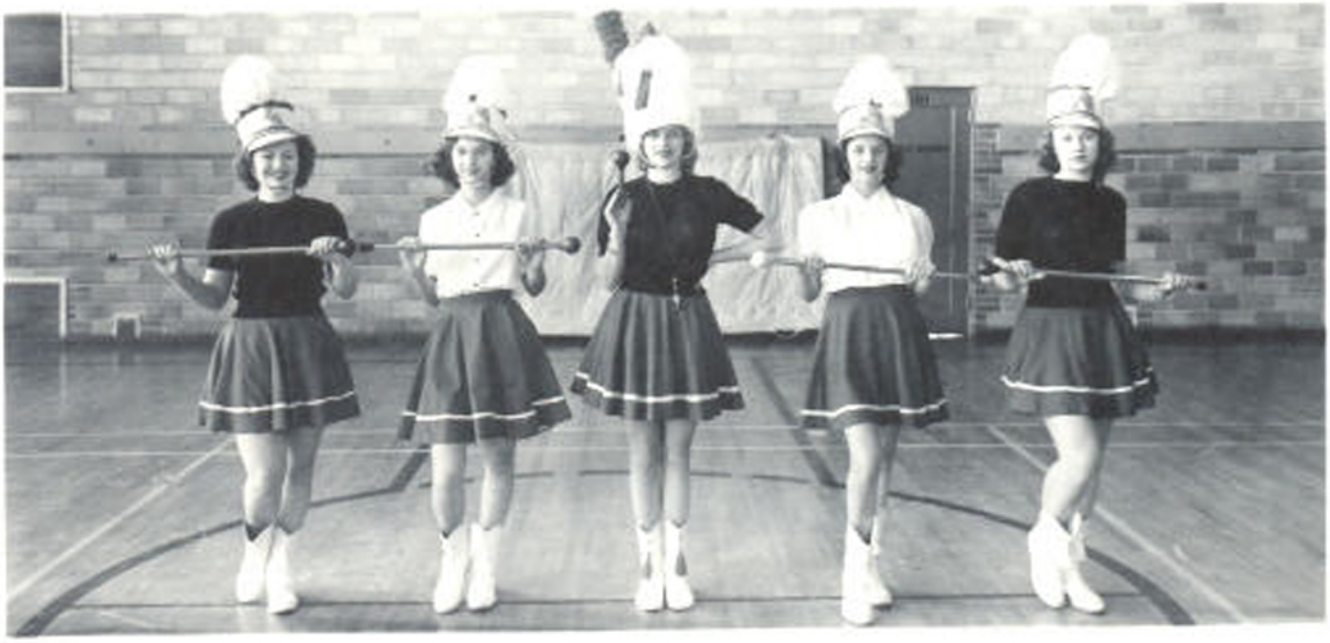

The basketball season was climaxed with a double overtime finale which Newport lost to Marcus 41 to 42.

BASEBALL AND TRACK

The baseball and track season opened with 25 boys turning out, revealing plenty of good material. Six returning lettermen returned for action: Lyle Balderson, Johnny Proctor, Wayne Zickler, Joe Sutton, Frank Garant, and Maurice Mintzer. Verne Lindsay was unable to participate this season because of his age. Verne played first base last year and was a valuable man.

According to expectations Newport had an A-1 track squad, some of whom went to the state meet. Those turning out for track were—sprinters: Lyle Balderson and Wayne Zickler; distant men: Joe Sutton, Bob Scott, Carl Corbit and Kermit Pierson. Shot, javelin, and discus throwers include: Maurice Mintzer, Jim (Red) Frankson, and Raymond Johnson; the polevaulter was Dana Morrill, and the high jump man was Alan Goodell.
