Dedication

We, the annual staff, do hereby dedicate the 1958 "BRUIN" to our three coaches, George McCarty, Vern Stoddard, and Harlan Guy, who all are completing their third year of teaching at N. H. S.

Mr. McCarty, the football coach, is twenty-six years old, and is working on his M. A. from W. S. C. Married to Mary Ann Alderman on June 16, 1951, they have three children.

Basketball and track are under the supervision of Mr. Stoddard. He is thirty-four years of age, and has a M. A. from W. S. C. He married Reah Goulding on December 26, 1949, and they have five children.

Mr. Guy coaches baseball and "B" squad basketball. Thirty-three years old, he has his M. A. from C. W. C. E. June White became his wife on June 3, 1947, and they have three children.

Not only have these three men directed the athletic activities at Newport High School, but they have gone far towards proving that (as the saying goes), "Teachers are human!"

To them--our hats off--and may they enjoy this yearbook!

Superintendent's Message

You, the Annual Staff for the year book for 1957-58, are to be most heartily congratulated. You have accepted and performed the responsibilities in a most creditable manner. I am proud of you and it is my firm belief that the lesson learned at High School of faithful and joyful performance of assigned task is extremely necessary to apply later toward life's successes.

Please allow me to pass on to you a bit of philosophy that to me is a key to a gracious and full life. This bit of thinking has to do with Character, a personal quality that is being pushed in the background of the modern day life concepts. Character is not like a mushroom that grows overnight after a warm spring rain. Character comes from endurance and fortitude. Escaping discipline and hard work has become one of the most common sins of our way of life. Without discipline and work, we come to find that life consists of spurts and stops, mainly stops, because the superficial things that falsely arouse enthusiasm for a time soon collapse.

Any person who is morally sound, above board in his dealings, and not afraid of work should succeed in spit of obstacles and handicaps, if he plays the game fairly squarely and keeps everlastingly at it. The yardstick of your life may be measured by the determination within.

George Anderson
Superintendent of Schools

Principal's Message

Congratulations to the students and faculty members for a highly successful school year. You have shown rapid progress in the advanced fields of science, mathematics, English, and others so necessary today for a sound education. To the graduating seniors, may we wish each of you success. You are always welcome; come back and see us often.

Sincerely,
Lynn W. Easton

Senior Class History

Twelve graduating seniors started the first grade together. They were: Mabel Miltner, Gladys Sanburn, Mary Sowder, Ruth Baergen, Karen Funden, Emmett Bartman, Bill Willner, Geraldine Menear, Larry Raven, Herm Glander, Dan Davie, and Steve Cannon. Our teachers in this first grade were Miss Barnes and Miss Liptzky. The rhythm band highlighted this year.

Miss Metcalf was our second grade teacher. Enrolling this year were Donald Melin and Robin Weber.

Our third grade teachers were Miss Taylor and Mrs. Moore. Bob Farrelly joined us this year.

Mrs. Moore and Miss Halstead taught us in the fourth and fifth grades, and we were so thrilled at being allowed (!) to take P. E.!

Those enrolling in the sixth grade were Marlyn Bell and Diane West. This year Mr. Hudson and Mrs. Polk were our teachers. The main interests centered around being on the top floor and being able to go on an out-of-town picnic.

In the seventh grade, Duane Coplen, Jim Trombley and Nancy Owens joined our class. Our teachers for this year were Mr. Hoon and Mrs. May.

Mr. Weir and Mr. Postma were the eighth grade teachers. Gloria Ferron joined us that year. Our eighth grad graduation and class picnic at Indian Creek brought to a climax eight fun-packed years.

At last we were in high school. As freshmen, our first real excitement was initiation. Amid lipstick, garlic, onions, pudding, and many funny costumes, we all had a good time. We gave the sophomores a return dance shortly after initiation. Advising us were Miss Simpson and Mr. Fahland.

At the beginning of our sophomore year, we initiated the frosh and gave them a "Welcome-Frosh" dance. Our advisors this year were Mr. Engen and Mr. McCarty.

Now we were upperclassmen and had the high privilege of having our lockers on the top floor. Miss Gies and Mr Engen, our advisors, helped us with the Junior Revue, whose theme was "Picnic", and our Junior Prom. The theme for the prom was "Blue Hawaii", and was said to have been one of the prettiest proms ever given. Royal crowned were: Queen, Gerry Menear; King, Eddie Oscarson; Princess, Janice Sedlacek; Prince, Emmett Bartman; Attendants, Donna Cox and John Bilow.

Are we really seniors? It still doesn't seem true. Just twelve short years ago we were starting our first day of school. Our Senior Ball, "Got a Date With an Angel", was successful. The royalty were: Queen, Janice Sedlacek; King, Denny Sheridan; Princess, Jean Ott; Prince, Eddie Oscarson; Attendants, Gerry Menear, and Bob Farrelly. The big highlight of our last year was, of course, the Senior Sneak and graduation. Miss Gies and Mr. McCarty helped us, as advisors, to make this a never-to-be-forgotten year.

These joining us through high school were Lynn Thompson, Wanda Klawitter, Merrill Oaks, Eddie Oscarson, Dennis Sheridan, Russell Jared, Larry Fromdahl, Gloria Fullerton, Reveta Wood, Charlotte Snethen, Janice Sedlacek, Mike Murray, Jean Ott, Marie West, Jean Looney, Frances Winkle, Donna Cox, Gene Founds, Carol Burnham, Judy Richards, and Bob Kanikeberg.

Senior Class Prophecies

Some years have passed since Sputnick and our graduating day. So I, Bob Farrelly, decided to visit my classmates of the Class of "58" and see what they were doing to help get ahead in our scientific race against the other countries of this world. I teleported myself back to Newport High to start my investigation.

On arriving at Newport, I found myself standing in front of my old school. Many old thoughts were running through my mind when all of a sudden the sound of a supersonic airplane zoomed by, knocking me down. As I looked up I saw a strange thing in front of me. At first it looked alien to our planet, but I discovered it to be Dan Davie in a space suit, and (what I thought a supersonic plane), was none other than his faithful old Studebaker. In it, still riding around with him were Merrill Oakes and Stew Hascall. They said they were all very glad to see me, but they were in a hurry to get to work at the new atomic plant now standing just outside of town. They said goodby and left me in a cloud of blue-black smoke. As I walked down Main Street, I saw that Mary Sowder had now taken over Sowders Inc., and was coming along quite well. I heard from one of the townspeople that Denny Sheridan is now playing football for the Los Angeles Rams, and is their star guard. I had heard before about Larry Raven's being head pilot on the luxury liner space ship, with daily trips to the Moon and Mars, but I didn't know that Lynn Thompson and Gloria Ferron were his co-pilot and stewardess. I wanted to see them, so I teleported myself to the Moon and waited for them to arrive from Mars. As I was sitting in the Moon space-port, I heard music coming from the next room. I entered the door and there before me was Jim Trombley and his "Hot Rockets!" Playing the clarinet for Jim was Frances Winkle, and they were really hitting the jive. The vocalist with the group was none other than Gerry Menear, singing her little heart out. I sat down and was served by Robin Weber. All of a sudden over the loud speaker came an S. O. S. from the space ship on which were my friends. Their atomic reactor was out, and they were floating free in space. I ran over to space command headquarters, and was greeted by Captain Gene Founds. I asked if I could go with him while he went out to rescue the powerless ship. He called his Lieutenent, Donna Cox, to ready the patrol ship, and in a few minutes we were off to the rescue.

Just as we were within a million miles of the destination, we were overtaken by a black space ship. As I started to ask who it was, the hatch door opened, and in walked Big Bad Bartman, and with him, his comrades, Mary Bye and Marie West. He was surprised to see me there, but he took my 40 space credits anyway. They tied up Donna and Gene, but took me along with them to their headquarters. We arrived at a small moon, and when we landed, I was greeted by Jean Looney, Duane Coplen, and the official executioner, Eddie Oscarson.

We started for the main house of the pirate village and were almost run down by Moon-Girl cowboys. As I was diving for cover, I saw that they were Gladys Sanburn and Janice Sedlacek. We entered the main house. Emmett showed me around the house, and in the laboratory was Dr. Jean Ott, working on some cosmic ray to blow up the Universe. The librarians were Mabel Miltner, in charge of Science Fiction, and Nancy Ovens, in charge of all Popular Mechanics magazines. As we entered the kitchen, I saw Diane West peeling moon roots for dinner, and Karen Funden washing dishes, with Don Melin wiping. I heard a car horn outside and was surprised to see Rusty Jared running back and forth in his black Ford. At dinner that night I heard the pirates discussing how to kill me on the morrow. I went to bed, but couldn't sleep. At about two o'clock, I was startled to find someone else in my room with me. It was Larry Fromdahl. He told me to follow him and he would help me to escape. When we had almost reached the space ports, I heard the alarm bell, and saw Marlyn Bell ringing it. Larry and I got off in the rocket just as the pirates were rushing out of their space huts.

As we headed for home we stopped in at Wayne Persyn's Meteor Rocket Refueling Station. His partner, Herman Glander, told me that three of our former classmates, Ardie Cline, Gloria Fullerton, and Isabelle Crawford are on Mars learning to take stapling machines apart. We refueled and headed for the moon. After we landed we turned our ship over to the customs officer, Bill Willner. We learned that the Space Command had picked up Donna and Gene and also rescued the powerless space liner. I said goodby to Larry and started for the space port and the next ship home.

I slid into my comfortable seat in the Earth-bound rocket and noticed the person sitting beside me. It was Mike Murray. We had a long talk on the way home and I found out that he happened to be President of a company which makes the Universe's best paper clip--it had no bends, instead of three. His foreman in charge of bending was Carol Burnham, and his secretary was Ruth Baergen.

After landing I called for a taxi-cab and found my driver to be Charlotte Soethen. As we went tearing around a corner, we hit someone on a motor scooter, and it just happened to be Reveta Wood, Chief of the Motor Scooter Patrol.

So, as I sat in my cell block, I thought over the way I had been reunited with my former classmates. I was finally released after Steve Cannon, my lawyer, paid my bail.

We did not have a successful football season this year as the scores point out; however, I don't believe we will see a team that fought as hard and as long against great odds as these boys did.

The boys coming back next year learned a lot this season about desire and the quality of never giving up from their captain, Denny Sheridan, and from the Little boys and Verne Hovey. We can only say to these boys, "Wait till next year."
