Dedication

Harold Engen

We, the Annual Staff of 1961 take great pleasure and pride in dedicating this annual to you for all your guidance and assistance during your many years at Newport High School.

You have been a friend to all of us and your happy and smiling face along with your school spirit has added much to our school days here.

Again may we say that it is indeed a pleasure and an honor to dedicate this 1961 "Bruin" to you MR. HAROLD ENGEN.

Administration

Superintendent

My congratulations to the Annual Staff of the 1961 "Bruin." Your persistence in completing a task of this magnitude is appreciated by your fellow students, your teachers and by your administrators. The Annual Staff has not only learned to do excellent work individually but has achieved, as a team, two lessons that will be of value the rest of your lives.

TO ALL THE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS: You have this year displayed initiative that sets you apart from the unimaginative and closely related to initiative is that subtle factor known as vision. Edison said that "invention is 99 percent perspiration and 1 percent inspiration." The point is, of course, without the 1 percent, all the sweat would be wasted or spent uselessly on some wholly unrelated work. There is no epoch in recorded history when the situation offers such a free rein to people of vision, nor when vision is so desperately needed if we are to provide the foundation for a free and happy tomorrow.

Your fortitude and spirit this year has created a new high in student morale that is most complimentary to you and refreshing to be viewed by myself.

George H. Anderson

Principal

School life becomes more real, more enjoyable for each of us when we participate fully in student activities. The student who enters each phase of student life with a dogged determination and a wholehearted willingness will be the one who takes the most from his student days.

The philosophy "the world owes me a living" presents a real danger for each of us, but those of you who have participated in student life to its fullest extent will find it much easier to match wits with people in your ever changing, most complex world.

Please accept our hearty congratulations and sincere best wishes for the future. May the memories of your school days ever be pleasant and lasting ones.
