Dads getting personally involved at school at least 1 day per year helps with:

- the kids feeling a sense of security;
- the kids seeing the priority you place on their education;
- the kids getting a different perspective... from a positive male role model;
- the dads getting to see their student's everyday world and the things they face away from home;
- the dads gaining greater awareness of how they can impact their student's life in academics, proper self esteem, and social behavior;
- and the dads and the kids actually have FUN!

What would you could help with...

- Read with classes or tutor small groups of students
- Work with flash cards and/or educational games
- Patrol hallways
- Actively and positively engage with their student and others
- Assist on field trips and activities
- Help with front office needs
- Lunch duty help
- Library assistant
- Assist at recess, play with the students on the playground
- Provide PM support on the bus.
- Smile, give high fives, and be a hero for a day!
