The image shows the exterior of a modern middle school building. The architecture features a large, cantilevered roof with a dark metal edge and light wood paneling. The main entrance is supported by three thick, light-colored brick columns. To the left of the entrance is a tall, multi-paned glass wall. To the right, a large mural of a tiger's head is painted on a dark grey wall, adjacent to a section of horizontal wood siding. The ground in front of the building is paved, and a small tree stands on the left. The sky is blue with scattered white clouds.
