Contact: Wynne Overton, 614-252-0781, ext. 241, woverton@columbuschoolforgirls.org

Columbus School for Girls (CSG) is an all-girls' PS-12th grade college preparatory school, where girls discover their distinct potential as learners and leaders. Founded in 1898, CSG is located on an eight-acre campus, three miles from the center of downtown Columbus. The school has a Reggio-Emilia-inspired Program for Young Children (ages 3-6), an academically challenging program that includes unique, interdisciplinary opportunities for students in all divisions, strong offerings in the arts and athletics, and a foundational sense of community. Our Institute for Innovation & Leadership offers experiential learning in leadership, science, math, equity, global studies, and art. CSG also has a 55-acre athletic facility and a 100-acre natural campus, both of which enhance the academic campus. Follow Broad Street out of town going east for three miles. Turn right onto S. Drexel Avenue. CSG is on the corner of E. Broad and S. Drexel and approximately a 15-minute drive from downtown.

Marburn Academy

9555 Johnstown Road
New Albany, OH 43055

www.marburnacademy.org

Contact: Leigh Hill, Senior Executive Assistant to the Head of School, lhill@marburnacademy.org

Marburn Academy is an independent day school devoted to serving the educational needs of bright students who learn differently due to dyslexia, executive function difficulties, and attention challenges in grades 1-12. Marburn is the only school in Central Ohio with academic and co-curricular programs designed to address the full range of unique learning and personal development needs of students who learn differently. Marburn Academy is one of only 19 schools nationwide to have its language instruction program accredited by the Orton-Gillingham Academy. The school is about 25 minutes northeast of downtown in New Albany.

The Miami Valley School

5151 Denise Drive
Dayton, OH 45429

www.miamivalleyschool.org

Contact: Anne Dettmer, Director of Enrollment and Financial Aid, 937-434-4444, anne.dettmer@miamivalleyschool.org

The Miami Valley School (MVS) is Dayton's only independent school and serves 500 students in early childhood through grade 12. The school's educational goals are achieved through the Immersion Method, which is based on the knowledge that learning is rooted in direct experience that leads to engagement and discovery of passion by each student. The environmental lab is a signature piece of the school's curriculum. We invite you to come meet our faculty and staff and learn about our success in applying the Immersion Method into everything we do. MVS is 70 minutes from downtown Columbus. Drive west on I-70 and exit at I-675 South. Exit at Route 48 North. Turn left on Rahn Rd. and right on Denise Drive.

The Wellington School

3650 Reed Road
Columbus, OH 43220

www.wellington.org

Contact: Dara Jackson, Director of Admissions, 614-324-1641, jackson@wellington.org

Founded by a group of entrepreneurs in 1982, The Wellington School was the first coeducational, independent school in Columbus. We are passionate about the topic of student engagement and consistently encourage parents, students, and faculty to think big and dive deep into the pursuit of knowledge. We serve students in preschool through grade 12. Named a Top Workplace by Columbus CEO Magazine, eight years running, we look forward to welcoming you to our innovative community. The Wellington School is located near the corner of Fishing and Reed Roads, about a 15-minute drive from downtown Columbus.

Welsh Hills School
