How can I help my child get the most out of I-ready?

- Talk with your child about how using i-Ready at home will help him/her prepare for class work.
- Explain that i-Ready will show teachers where your child is doing well, and which topics need some more review.
- Encourage your child to use the tools provided during lessons and to use scrap paper to work out math problems.
- Help your child identify and become familiar with the different parts of the student home page ("My Assignments", "My Stuff", "My Progress").
- Parents can also support their child by making sure students are getting 45 minutes of online instruction per subject each week.
- Encourage your child to take each lesson and question seriously.
- Emphasize "thinking before clicking", because just clicking through will not give teachers an accurate report of what your child knows and is able to do.
- Discuss your child's results by looking at the "My Progress" box with him/her.
- Contact your child's teacher about how often your child should practice at home, or with any other questions about i-Ready

The Clever link can be found in the "Quick Links" found at the top of Cleveland School District Website.

How does I-Ready work with what my child is learning in the classroom?

I-Ready is designed to complement what is being taught in the classroom. The lessons are assigned based on how your child performed in the Diagnostic test, which he/she must complete before starting work on the lessons. The lessons are presented in three parts: tutorial, guided practice, and graded activity. Your child will get relevant instruction with supportive feedback as he/she progresses through the lessons.
