HIGH SCHOOL ADDITIVE MANUFACTURING COMPETITION

Oregon Manufacturing Innovation Center Research & Development (OMIC) hosted its first Annual Additive Manufacturing Competition! In Partnership with The American Center of Manufacturing and Innovation (ACMI), OMIC R&D invited four high school teams (Glencoe High School, Scappoose High School, St. Helens High School, and Beaverton Academy of Science and Learning) to compete in designing a machine that could effectively hurl a golf ball inside its new Additive Manufacturing Center. Each team was supplied with a 3-D printer by OMIC R&D, given four weeks, and challenged in the following categories:

- Design
- Execution
- Accuracy
- Distance

Participating St. Helens High School students (Tim Moehring, Case Mann, Jace Relojo, and Ty Mattinen) are featured wearing purple shirts. The video link is included below.

Krissy Shaw

Excellence
NOW!

CORE VALUE AWARD WINNER

Krissy Shaw is the best example of Excellence Now! She is always willing to step in and help when staff are absent or support when needed. She goes above and beyond her role and always does so willingly and with a smile. She cares about all students and is a great friend and staff member.

Krissy has incredible skill at reading the room/environment and stepping in when needed! She is so flexible and has worked in special and general education classrooms and would even work in the kitchen if they needed it that day.

She has a strong work ethic and willingness to serve. She doesn't just show up every day; she shows up with a smile and a desire to help wherever needed. I don't think she has ever said no to someone in need. Teachers and staff flock to her for favors and help. Kids come to her for hugs and support because they know she is ready and willing to help.

Krissy has saved the day too many times to count.

Congratulations to Krissy Shaw for receiving the St. Helens School District Core Value Award for EXCELLENCE NOW.

Jay Groom

Innovative Teaching &
Learning

CORE VALUE AWARD WINNER

Jay Groom is an outstanding educator who has added much to his department. He makes complex systems easy for students to understand by drawing diagrams, displaying live data, and playing relevant videos on a large screen. His background and vast experience complement the curriculum he is teaching.

Jay has a remarkable ability to simplify technical topics, which helps his students be successful. He is a hard worker, a great mentor, and he is always ready to tackle any project that comes his way.

He has developed new classes that help elevate his program and students to new levels. Some of the courses being taught are rarely taught at the high school level and are in areas of high pay and demand.

Jay's classes provide hands-on practice so his students have the fundamental skills and knowledge to succeed in their chosen career path.

Jay is driven to improve his students' skills and knowledge and offer them the best and latest technology.

Congratulations to Jay Groom for receiving the St. Helens School District Core Value Award for Innovative Teaching & Learning.

November Hanson

Integrity &
Compassion

CORE VALUE AWARD WINNER

Irreplaceable is a word that can be used to describe November Hanson who goes above and beyond for students. She takes the time to get to know each student's personal and educational needs to provide them with the support needed.

She familiarizes herself with the majority of students' work, including assessments, before she interacts with them as a method to ensure optimal student assistance and output. She often takes home worksheets and classroom books home on weekends to read up on what is coming. She has the ability to proficiently explain work in all of the subjects offered is incredible.

The fact that she takes the time to teach herself to better help students illustrates an extreme dedication to her work but, perhaps even more importantly, it simultaneously models to the students she serves that, with hard work and perseverance, you can accomplish more than you think in life.

Apart from academics, and immeasurably crucial to the continued social success of our students, lies her ability to construct meaningful relationships built on trust and kindness.

November builds a welcoming environment and is often the person in the department that learns about students' lives outside of school. Her unique relationships with and knowledge of students strengthens her ability to see through a trauma-informed lens when serving our students and their families.

Congratulations to November Hanson for receiving the St. Helens School District Core Value Award for Integrity & Compassion.

Dani Boylan

Effort & Courage

CORE VALUE AWARD WINNER

Dani Boylan is hard-working, dedicated, and passionate about her staff and students. She works hard for her employees, often traveling to several schools to ensure everyone has what they need.

Dani is the kind of person that puts her heart and soul into her program and is always on top of everything, providing staff with a reliable source to come to.

She is always available whenever someone is in need and works tirelessly to ensure everyone around her is cared for.

Congratulations to Dani Boylan for receiving the St. Helens School District Core Value Award for Effort & Courage.

Heidi Green

Diversity & Community Involvement

Heidi Green encompasses diversity & community involvement at every level and goes out of her way to make those around her feel special and welcome.

With a tremendous heart for students, Heidi reached out to community members to help improve the playground for McBride students. Through her efforts, McBride has received new swings and garden beds for the students to enjoy.

Heidi is an amazing asset not only to the St. Helens School District but to our students, families, and the St. Helens community.

Congratulations to Heidi Green for receiving the St. Helens School District Core Value Award for Diversity & Community Involvement.
