Medical Statement for Special Diet Accommodations

The United States Department of Agriculture guidelines require school food authorities participating in the National School Lunch Program to make reasonable accommodations available to students with disabilities, on a case-by-case basis, when the need is supported by a written medical statement.

The Americans with Disabilities (ADA) Amendments Act of 2008 (Public Law 110-325, 42 U.S.C. 12101) updated the definition of a disability to include "anyone with a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of that individual", including major bodily functions as a major life activity.

According to the USDA, school food authorities are not required to accommodate special diet requests based on dietary preferences that are not considered medical conditions or disabilities, including personal lifestyle choices (such as vegan, vegetarianism, organic) or religious choices.

This form must be completed by a state licensed physician, physician assistant or nurse practitioner. Updates to this form are required only when a participant's needs change.
