As a Flagler County Student enrolled in Daytona State College or University of Florida for Dual Enrollment, Flagler Schools has agreed to purchase required textbooks for each course. Dual enrollment textbooks, workbooks, and access codes required for dual enrollment courses are loaned to dual enrolled students at no cost, therefore are property of Flagler County Schools. Kits, equipment, and tools that are kept by students must be purchased by students.

Students will either receive the required textbook from their home-zoned school or they will receive an e-book activation code sent to their Flagler Schools email address. The email will give detailed instructions on how to activate their digital textbook or online course-ware. All print textbooks and workbooks are still considered property of Flagler Schools and must be returned to your home-zoned school. Please note that if you purchase the books yourself, the district is unable to reimburse you.

Returning Books

- It is Flagler policy that students return all dual enrollment textbooks no later than one week after final exams for each term enrolled.
- Students will be charged the full cost of each book that is returned later than one week after the final exams for each term or if the returned textbook is damaged.
- No additional dual enrollment textbooks will be issued to the student until they return the books within 1 week or pay the financial obligation.
- Students will not be allowed to enroll for dual enrollment the following semester until the financial obligation is resolved.
- Dropped Courses - If a student drops a course within the DSC drop period, students must also return the book/digital access code to the HS or DSC bookstore within the drop period to avoid being charged the full cost of the book.

If you have any questions about the dual enrollment textbook process, please email the following:

Parent Agreement:

I understand that in order for my student to receive dual enrollment textbooks through Flagler Schools, they must agree to the following:

The student agrees to return textbook(s) to the High School textbook manager no later than one week after final exams for each term enrolled. Students will be charged the full cost of each book that is returned later than one week after the final exams for each term or if the returned textbook is damaged. No additional dual enrollment textbooks will be issued to the student until they return the books or pay the financial obligation. Students will not be allowed to enroll for dual enrollment the following semester until the financial obligation is resolved.
