Substitute teaching can be a rewarding profession for people looking to make a difference in children's lives and leave a positive impact in their communities. Potential substitute teachers will learn the benefits and challenges of substituting, the steps involved in completing the state-required application, what to expect in a day of substituting, techniques for managing student behavior, and more. Go home with strategies and a "make-n take" you can use on your very first day on the job.

To be eligible as a substitute teacher, applicants must have a minimum of 30 college credits from a regionally accredited college/university and a criminal history background clearance.
