

Bio – SRO Chris Turner

Chris was born in California, but grew up in Fort Collins, Colorado. He met his wife and got married in 2007. At the time he met his wife, he drove school buses and was also a trainer for the new bus drivers for the local school district. After a few years of marriage, he started his career in the IT field. This career took them to the mountains of Colorado, to Arizona, and then all the way to Vermont in Dec 2019. He worked in the IT field for 13 years. He worked for commercial companies, the hospitality industry, and most recently Morrystown Elementary School. Along with IT work, he also decided to drive school buses again this last year, driving the Waterville bus route, sports games, and field trips. He enjoyed making a positive impact on the kids each day, starting and ending their school day with a cheerful smile and a greeting as 'Captain Chris'.

After 3 years of IT work in Vermont, Chris recently decided to change careers to become a Sheriff's Deputy for the Lamoille County Sheriff's Department and School Resource Officer for Lamoille North Supervisory Union. Chris is looking forward to continuing to make a positive impact on students as well as staff as he supports them in their schools, as a School Resource Officer.

Chris Turner currently lives in Johnson Vermont with his wife, 3 kids, and 2 dogs. He looks forward to their family movie night each week, enjoys spending time with family and friends, playing games with his family, and relaxing with a good video game.
