FENTANYL: THE FACTS

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A SAFE STREET DRUG. KNOW THE FACTS.

Teenage overdose deaths from synthetic opioids like fentanyl have tripled in the last two years. Fentanyl is odorless and tasteless, making it easier to hide in other substances.

WHAT IS FENTANYL? Fentanyl is a very strong narcotic pain medication that is prescribed for severe, disabling pain and pain after surgery. Fentanyl acts on the brain and central nervous system like other opioids such as morphine and heroin. Fentanyl is about 100 times stronger than morphine, therefore it is very easy to overdose on this drug. Fentanyl acts very quickly inside the body and this fast action can cause you to stop breathing much quicker than other drugs and therefore has a much greater chance of overdose.
