SPOTLIGHT ON THE STUDENTS

Dance Hip-Hop & Contemporary Modern Dance

Students taking Dance Hip Hop and Contemporary Dance with Instructor Anna Jarrell at Upland High School (UHS) recently competed at the WestCo Showdown held at West Covina High School on Saturday, January 20th. The competition was organized by the California Association of Dance/Drill Team Directors, which is a non-profit organization throughout California dedicated to providing students with opportunities to work in teams as well as learn how to rehearse and work effectively and efficiently in class in order to perform well on stage.

Instructor Jarrell discussed the value of competition for students as they develop their ability to work under pressure.

"Students learn how to cope with nervousness and focus amidst adrenaline during their performances," she said. "At this competition, they got to interact with dozens of experienced professionals working in the dance profession each year.

UHS senior Markiesha McCorvey enjoys the Contemporary Modern Dance course and had a positive experience competing.

"By taking Contemporary Modern Dance I've gained technique, more flexibility, and the courage to dance in front of groups. In the competition, I was able to use the many skills Mrs. J has taught us during the course."

UHS senior Alyssa Young shared, "Having Contemporary Modern Dance after school is something I always look forward to. It makes my day more exciting by being able to work on my dancing alongside my friends. It's competition-season which means really working on technique and being able to push through a dance while not cutting our movement short and helps us do so by constantly pushing us to always be our best."

Congratulations to the Contemporary Modern Dance and Dance Hip-Hop teams for competing and thank you to Instructor Anna Jarrell for sharing this story!

CHHS senior Gemini Cifuentes

Students taking the Health Support Services course with Instructor Julianne Baun at Chino Hills High School (CHHS) in Chino Valley Unified School District gain valuable preparation not only for their future careers in healthcare, but also practical medical experience they can use in their lives today. Course curriculum covers basic first-aid for use in emergency situations and CPR training. Students also have the opportunity to explore various healthcare occupations and learn fundamental skills such as checking various vital signs.

CHHS senior Brandon Trueman is on his high school's varsity football team and finds interest in the course curriculum.

"I play football so I like learning how the human body works and what the different muscles are," he shared.

CHHS senior Gemini Cifuentes has already used the training she learned in her ROP courses in a life-altering way. Gemini recently used CPR on her brother and was the first to respond to his medical needs during a sudden emergency that took place during a water polo match.

Gemini's brother was in the middle of playing water polo when his heart skipped a beat. He slowly made his way over to the side of the pool to exit, which was Gemini's first indication that her brother needed help.

"People actually started laughing at him as he left the game because he was moving so slowly. Usually water polo players move so quickly so they thought he looked funny," Gemini shared. "I could tell right away something was wrong. I turned to my dad and told him, 'Something is happening.'"

Gemini immediately left the bleachers and ran down to the poolside and instructed those around the team to help turn him over on his back. She administered CPR to her brother. Gemini's ability to act quickly is something she credits to her ROP courses. She also took the ROP Healthcare Occupations course at CHHS with Instructor Baun the previous year.

As the Cifuentes family soon found out, Gemini's brother had an underlying medical condition in which one of his arteries was routed the wrong way to his heart. The condition was corrected with open heart surgery.

Instructor Baun praised Gemini for her quick reaction, noting her many qualities not only as a promising student but as a caring person.

"She's amazing. She has a huge heart and really cares about others. She's also really focused on her future career," Instructor Baun said.

Gemini would like to be an RN after she graduates high school and credits her ROP courses with inspiring her future goals.

"What happened to my brother really demonstrated to me why my ROP courses are so important. They have inspired my career goals and I owe so much to Instructor Baun. She's a very inspirational teacher."

Articulation Exam Success!

Articulation is a formal agreement that aligns courses between Baldy View ROP and community colleges. Articulated courses provide students with the opportunity to earn credit at participating colleges if they pass articulation exams at the completion of their ROP course.

18 students who completed the Baldy View ROP Healthcare Occupations course at the BVROP Career Training Center this fall semester have now earned college credit by passing their articulation exam! The students took an 150 question exam on medical terminology. The pass rate ensures that they have earned 3 college credits to apply either towards the Mt. San Antonio College Medical Terminology course or the Chaffey College Beginning Medical Terminology course. Students who passed the exam attend BVROP partnering schools including Alta Loma, Chaffey, Etiwanda, Montclair, Ontario, and Valley View High Schools within Chaffey Joint Union High School District as well as Ayala and Chino High Schools within Chino Valley Unified School District. Congratulations to students who passed their articulation exam and special thanks to Instructor Mike Garcia for sharing

Alumni Profile

Steven Zamudio (right) discusses his job with fellow Steelscape employee Frank Ramos during the Ramona Jr. High School Career Day on January 18th. Thank you to Dawn Marks of the Chino Champion for providing this photo!

“ROP is important for kids to learn about the reality of life after high school and what it takes to get a job. It’s great that they have this opportunity to take these classes.”

- Steven Zamudio, Haz Mat Coordinator, Steelscape

Steven Zamudio gained his first exposure to career skills while attending Valley View High School in Chaffey Joint Union High School District in the 1970’s. BVROP was still a young organization at the time as it was founded in 1972. Steven took the ROP Residential Wiring course. The course’s schedule demanded that Steven get up well before his typical school day started to learn about outfitting homes with proper electrical equipment.

“The hardest part was getting up very early in the morning and doing our projects on houses before school started. We worked on houses for those in need at the time.

Something I say about ROP is that it gets kids out of bed and learning about getting a job!” he shared.

Today, Mr. Zamudio is the Haz Mat Coordinator for the Environmental Health and Safety Department for Steelscape, his employer of the last 28 years. Mr. Zamudio is passionate about his work and for the last few years has attended Career Day events at Ramona Junior High School to talk about his job and get students interested in exploring different career options. He also shared that his experience in ROP prepared him for his current job by helping him at an early age to see the value of hard work and how to be accountable to his company.

“Not everyone who comes to work every day knows what it takes to give it their all. ROP courses show students early on what it means to work and that everything they do in their jobs has an impact on other people, so it’s important to come to work knowing you’re part of a team. I’m so glad that ROP is still available to students and has grown so much since I was in high school, because today we need it more than ever.”

CTE Incentive Grant Flash

Marketing efforts are continuing through the CTEIG. In late December, Altek Media group shot a short film and corresponding commercial for the BVROP course Computer Programming & Informatics at Claremont High School. Altek shot footage of students working in class and of Instructor Brent Gilson's instruction. Altek also sat down with several students to interview them about their experience in class.

The short film will be available for viewing on Baldy View ROP's YouTube channel.

Superintendent of Educational Services Forest DeRenzo, Ed.D., addresses attendees during the Warehouse Operations & Logistics Pathway information session

Baldy View ROP also continues to make progress in developing our Warehouse Operations and Logistics Pathway. On January 22, we held an information session led by Special Projects & Grants Liaison/Program Specialist - Curriculum Development Shawneece Coyle. Industry professionals attended to learn about the latest developments in the pathway which included a discussion about the current instructor vacancies that we are looking to fill. Superintendent Shelley Adams, Ed.D. and Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services Forest DeRenzo, Ed.D. also addressed those in attendance.

We will be hiring two instructors, one for the course to be taught at Claremont High School and the other to be taught at our Career Training Center. Both courses will begin fall 2019 and positions are currently posted on Edjoin at www.edjoin.org.

"It was great having attendance by industry professionals who know the logistics industry and have a passion for teaching and educating youth to get them ready for the workforce," Special Projects & Grants Liaison/Program Specialist - Curriculum Development Coyle said.

All interested high school students and parents of high school students may add their names to our interest list available on our homepage at www.baldyviewrop.com.

Full Circle: An Inside look at Instructor Jessica Garcia

Baldy View ROP is home to some of the most knowledgeable and dedicated professionals in their perspective field. With a passion for teaching and inspiring students to prepare for a career, instructors commit themselves to offering students a world class experience that is hard to find anywhere else. Jessica Garcia, BVROP's Medical Assistant Instructor, demonstrates her passion for the Medical Assistant students by not only offering them her 17 years of experience as a BVROP instructor, but her countless years of experience as a nurse practitioner!

If you were to ask Jessica where her love for ROP first began, she proudly replies that she was once an ROP student herself! Because of her medical background, some would guess that Jessica completed a course in the medical field, but in reality, she took a course in Fashion Merchandising and another in Retail Sales.

Speaking of her ROP experience at a young age, Jessica explains that she not only enjoyed the classroom instruction, but she absolutely loved her community training at the West Covina Fashion Plaza. After completing her training, Jessica was offered a job with her site location! Speaking of first jobs, Jessica has a piece of advise that she likes to offer her students: When offered a job, take it! You never know when the next offer may come along. Even if it isn't the most perfect job, gain from the experience. Experience will help you later."

Jessica's passion is easily matched with her years of experience as a nurse. Her career began as a Medical Assistant working for a general surgeon in Chino, CA. After working under the surgeon's direction for three years, Jessica transitioned to Kaiser Permanente where she stayed for seven years. Later, after she completed her LVN program and earned her license as a Licensed Vocational Nurse, Jessica worked in an urgent care facility where she served as a supervisor. Jessica's professional growth and work history is a shining example for students on where they can begin and where their hard work and determination can take them. Thank you Jessica for all your hard work!

Chaffey FCU Director of Business Development Michelle Lemoine and CEO Kevin Posey address BVROP staff and instructors as January Professional Development sponsors

Chaffey FCU CEO Kevin Posey is proud to work in the Inland Empire. Mr. Posey grew up in Ontario and graduated from Alta Loma High School. He shared the importance of Chaffey FCU being a strong community partner.

"In my time at Chaffey as CEO I have found great people at dozens of organizations who are working to make our communities better. Chaffey FCU is excited to be part of that community building," he shared.

Chaffey FCU has a strong relationship with the Baldy View ROP. Chaffey has held an active role in participating with the BVROP Foundation as well. One unique feature of the relationship between Chaffey FCU and BVROP is that they share an associational membership through the National Credit Union Administration. If a consumer is interested in joining Chaffey FCU but does not qualify for membership, he or she can donate to BVROP and gain eligibility to join. In 2017, this associational membership led to more than $2,000 being donated to BVROP.

"Chaffey FCU is very proud of this relationship and the ability to donate to BVROP. We look forward to continued growth and more opportunities to donate to such a wonderful and powerful organization," Mr. Posey shared.

Mr. Posey also understands the value of ROP courses firsthand, as his fiancé was an ROP student in high school who took the dental assistant course. This led to her being hired as a dental assistant at a local dentist's office, kickstarting her career. She continued her education to become a dental hygienist, a position she has held for seven years. Today, she is looking to return to school again to enter a dental program.

"Programs that help students find their passion are critically important," Mr. Posey said. "The ROP program helped my fiancé find her passion. Her story is just one of an incredible number of students who have found a career they love through taking ROP courses."

Mr. Posey shared that looking ahead, he is proud of the work that Chaffey FCU does in the community and is excited to serve all of its members and partners such as BVROP.

"We exist not just to serve our 11,000 plus member owners, but also to enrich lives in the wonderful communities we serve."

Chaffey FCU donated a TV to BVROP! The donation was awarded to Law Enforcement Occupations Instructor Kelly Binks as the most active BVROP instructor on Twitter in 2017!
