

MEET THE TEAM:

Lauren Furman

Assistant Director of College Counseling

Lauren Furman joined Maclay College Counseling with over a decade of college admissions experience and a wealth of knowledge in the college selection process. As the primary counselor for Juniors and Seniors with the last names M-Z, Mrs. Furman works with students and their families to define what their potential college looks like and the type of experiences they hope to have in the future. She meets with families and with students one-on-one to help them navigate the journey of finding a college and assists students in building the foundation for a successful application and profile.

Mrs. Furman knows not every student is going to be “well-rounded.” Some students have a specific interest that they’ve followed all the way through high school and others are wanderers who like exploring new things - and there is room for all types of students on college campuses. Mrs. Furman works with families so they feel empowered in the decisions they make, and provides support in navigating the journey for our students.

Working with students during their high school years and helping them find their next best step keeps Mrs. Furman inspired every day. Through meetings, workshops, college counseling programs, she is able to build a genuine relationship with her students and believes every student deserves time, energy, and engagement as they make plans for their immediate future.
