

COLLINGWOOD SCHOOL

Mr. Martin Weinberg

I am a self-made entrepreneur, currently the Founder, Chairman and CEO of Halston Court Capital. I was born in Winnipeg but have called West Vancouver home for 9 years. I am married to Michelle Weinberg, and our son Zac is entering grade 10 at Collingwood.

I would like to be considered for the position of Governor for Collingwood because I believe in governance and accountability. My 40 years in industry, along with 36 years of board experience, have taught me the value of good governance and its impact on management and operations.

My passion is building great things that stand among the best in their field, are self-sustainable, and have lasting brand value, and this is my vision for Collingwood.

I understand that delivering on this vision takes hard work, dedication, teamwork, fairness, transparency, and always considering all stakeholders' interests.

I believe that I possess the requisite qualifications, including my background in finance and accounting, coupled with experience in governance, fundraising, human resources and public relations.

By way of background, I earned a BCom Honors degree in 1982 from the University of Manitoba. Subsequently, I earned a Chartered Financial Analyst designation from the University of Virginia in 1986.

Since then, I moved on to build, acquire and grow several public and private companies in Canada, the US, the UK and Asia. Over my career, I led the creation of over $2 billion in shareholder value for thousands of shareholders.

Regarding not-for-profit organizations, I have extensive experience on many boards and have led numerous campaigns, fundraising over $10 million for organizations serving education, health, the underprivileged, and Jewish communities.

I believe I could make a valuable contribution to the Collingwood Board, helping to ensure that the qualities and values that have made Collingwood a top educational institution are preserved and enhanced.

Dr. Riley Senft

Dr. Riley Senft attended Yale University as an undergrad, University College Cork in Ireland for medical school, and he completed his anesthesia residency at the University of Manitoba. Currently an anesthesiologist at Lions Gate Hospital and the Deputy Head of Anesthesia with an academic appointment as a Clinical Assistant Professor at UBC, Riley served on the board of the British Columbia Anesthesia Society until the end of 2022. Presently he sits as a board member of his family business, Tricor Pacific Capital Inc., a multinational organization with over 80 private companies. He also previously served on Collingwood's HR Subcommittee 10 years ago, which gave him valuable insight into the school's operations and governance. He brings exceptional experience in fundraising, having run across Canada raising over $1 million for prostate cancer.

The Senft family is a House name at Collingwood's Morven Campus in consideration of their tremendous contributions to the School. Riley's connection to Collingwood School spans several decades. An alum from the Class of '97, Riley attended the school from grades 1-12 (1985-1997) and served as Head Boy during his final year. He is a current parent of three students at Collingwood with a fourth applying to Junior Kindergarten next year. He holds a deep appreciation for Collingwood and a strong desire to contribute to its continued success.
