The Family Medical Leave Act is an unpaid leave regulated by the U.S. Department of Labor. Employees are eligible to take FMLA if they have worked for their employer for at least 12 consecutive months and have worked 1,250 hours within the previous 12 months.

If eligible, an employee may take up to 12 work weeks (60 workdays) of leave for the following reasons:

All active full-time employees needing leave because of their own serious health conditions are eligible for TDL. Leave needed for a family member with a serious health condition is not eligible for TDL. SBEC Certified employees are eligible to take up to 180 calendar days of TDL. Non-certified may take up to 60 calendar days.
