Parents/Guardians:

Once again, the police have informed us that numerous local schools in PA have fallen victim to “swatting”: the action or practice of making a prank call/email to emergency services or schools, which dispatches a large number of armed police officers to a particular address.

There was an email sent to local schools about bombs being placed in school buildings. The information is false. This is a hoax. Trinity Area did not receive the threatening email. Our Trinity Area Police will remain on high alert as usual. Expect to see an additional police presence.

Please note that our Trinity Area students are safe and protected at all times by our experienced police officers, who work directly on campus. All buildings are secure and thoroughly inspected daily. The police have reported that this specific email is not a credible threat. The State Police are visiting schools today as well.

Sincerely,

Dr. Michael P. Lucas
Superintendent
