Community

Killingly is located in the northeast corner of Connecticut, "The Quiet Corner" in Windham County. The town has a population of approximately 15,000, is located within forty miles of Providence, Hartford, and Worcester, and one and one half-hours from Boston. It is composed of mostly middle to low-income families, most work in the professional, industrial, mercantile, and business environment in the surrounding areas.

Curriculum

Accreditation is from New England Association of Schools and Colleges and the Connecticut State Department of Education. Killingly High School is a four-year, comprehensive secondary school offering Advanced Placement, UConn ECE, honors, college preparatory, and general education courses. All offerings are leveled, with the degree of difficulty and amount of preparation identified for each course.

Level I: UConn ECE/Advanced Placement Level II: Honors Level III: College Preparatory Level IV: General Preparation

Special Academic Programs

- The Agricultural Educational Regional Program is located at KHS and students must apply for admission. Students accepted for enrollment by the high school and the Ag-Ed staff have a genuine interest in agricultural careers.
- Through the University of Connecticut Early College Experience and Eastern Connecticut State University's Dual Enrollment Programs, students may earn college credit in select KHS courses.
- Quinebaug Valley Community College offers the opportunity for qualified students to earn college credits while in high school. Juniors or seniors with a "B" average may apply for acceptance into the "Partnership" program. In addition, students taking qualifying electives may receive dual high school and college credits through QVCC's College Connections Program with a final grade of a "C" or better.
- Independent Study Programs may be available in subjects not included in the curriculum or in an area that is an extension or enrichment of the curriculum.
- Alternate Education Center/AILP are small programs consisting of two teachers, one special education teacher and one counselor. The student enrollment is limited to twenty-five ranging from grades nine through twelve.

Job Shadow Office

One full-time assistant coordinates services. The Office includes the vital links of the Youth Apprenticeship Program, Business & Computer Science Department, School Counseling Department, and the local business community.
