Author Spotlight John Green

John Green is a famous young adult fiction writer that is known for his books, as well as, his many popular educational videos.
Green was born on August 24, 1977 in Indianapolis. While in Elementary and Secondary school, Green experienced being bullied and intimidated by his peers. Despite the difficult circumstances he encountered, he was later able to graduate from Kenyon College with degrees in English and Religious Studies. Writing was not his original choice for a livelihood; he was actually preparing for a career as an Episcopal priest. This path took a detour after he spent an extended amount of time with terminally ill children. This experience changed the course of his life and he decided to become a writer. His debut novel in 2005 Looking for Alaska is a coming of age novel which he earned The American Library Association's Michael L. Printz award. The book stayed on the New York Times best seller list for seven years. Other well acclaimed novels by Green include Paper Town, The Fault in our Stars, Let it Snow, and Will Grayson, Will Grayson.
