DATES TO REMEMBER

October 9th is Indigenous Peoples Day. This holiday recognizes the history, culture, and contributions of indigenous communities. It is celebrated in many places worldwide and in the US as an alternative to Columbus Day. Indigenous Peoples Day promotes awareness of the rich heritage of native peoples and raises awareness of their ongoing struggles for justice and equality.

October 10th is World Inclusion Day. On this day, people are encouraged to recognize the value of diversity and create fair, equal opportunities for all, regardless of gender, race, religion, or other factors.
