Welcome!

Dear Parents,
On behalf of the faculty and staff of San Antonio Academy, welcome to the Wildcat family and our Military Program. The Military Program is designed to enhance the school's rigorous educational program with a focus on developing young leaders of character committed to the school's values of "Being Honest, Being Kind, Being the Best You Can Be."

San Antonio Academy is an exceptional all boys private school steeped in tradition that carries its legacy through the lives of our alumni and their contributions to their communities and society as a whole.

While attending The Academy, students are surrounded by a genuinely caring cadre of teachers, coaches and staff dedicated to their individual success, ready and willing to work through challenges to see their potential realized. This approach to development results in a young man with a strong work ethic, sound morals and an appetite for lifelong learning.

At The Academy your son will receive a top-tier education recognized for excellence, while learning how to be a leader. At the heart of everything we do, the focus is to develop character and the moral-ethical attributes essential to good leadership, all of which is woven into every aspect of The Academy experience.

Since our founding in 1886, Academy graduates have served our communities and nation with honor and distinction as doctors, lawyers, businessmen, entrepreneurs, military officers, Members of Congress, astronauts, and captains of industry. Many have been trailblazers, making history and paving the way for future generations of leaders of character. Soon, and before you are ready, your son will join the ranks of the prestigious Academy Alumni Association and continue The Academy's great tradition of leadership and service.

Your sons are at The Academy during a very challenging period in our history — one that will test our mettle, resolve, and resiliency as a community and a people. For this school year, those qualities will be put to the test as your sons undergo a challenging education curriculum and leader development experience.

We are privileged to work with your sons as they develop and strengthen the skills that are vital for their long-term success. Thank you for your support and Go Cats Go!

Dedication

This guide is dedicated to San Antonio Academy alumni Louis John Jordan (January 30, 1890 – March 5, 1918). Jordan graduated from The Academy and played football for the University of Texas from 1911 to 1915. He was the first Texas Longhorns player to be selected as an All-American. After college Jordan returned to SAA to teach and coach. At the onset of WWI he took a commission as an Army Officer and was killed by a German artillery barrage while serving in France, making him the first Texas officer to make the ultimate sacrifice.

Today, you can visit the Louis Jordan Flagpole at Texas' Royal-Memorial Stadium, along with his diary in which he wrote "Do the best you can... and then keep on smiling," just days before a German artillery shell landed in the opening of his dugout. He was among the first four individuals, and the first athlete, inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor. He was also selected as the honorary captain for the all-time University of Texas football team in 2009.

"One of the most popular students at The University of Texas from 1911 through 1915 was a young man of German heritage from Fredericksburg, Texas, named L.J. 'Louis' Jordan. Jordan was like everybody's big brother. He was a round-faced blond who stood over 6 feet tall and weighed 205 pounds -- that was big for the time ... Jordan, in fact, was so gentle by nature he had to be coaxed to play football. But when he did, he became the greatest lineman, both offensively and defensively, of his era." - Bill Little, UT Football Historian.

Between 1914 and 1918, sixty-six Academy graduates held commissions in the Army or Navy in WWI. Louis Jordan's death, coupled with the high number of Academy veterans, inspired Superintendent W. W. Bondurant to create the military program at San Antonio Academy in the fall of 1919.

Overview

Purpose: The Academy's military program promotes a variety of life skills: planning, following directions, working as a team, setting goals, and overcoming obstacles. Through this unique and tradition rich program SAA boys have learned to become responsible, self-confident young men. The military program teaches leadership skills, critical thinking skills, and promotes attention to detail. Students learn how to think as a leader, solve problems, learn to delegate, and build the team. They learn to be leaders of honor and integrity.

1. Mission: The mission of the Military Program is to "Develop boys of character, who are critical thinkers and committed to living the values of The Academy." To meet this mission our program rests on three pillars using a military model: Leadership Development, Uniform Standards, and Company Spirit.

2. The Military Model: For over 100 years the fundamental premise at The Academy is to use a military model within an exceptional educational environment. The military model uses structure, routine, accountability, leadership, teamwork, decision making and personal pride as vehicles to holistically develop young boys to meet their fullest potential. The pillars are fully integrated into a challenging and purposeful curriculum. When our students graduate, they are not only prepared for the rigors of High School but prepared to face life's journey with determination, perseverance, and resolve.

The military model defines roles and responsibilities, provides leadership opportunities, and encourages decision-making by students. The military model also provides a clear set of rewards for exceptional performance and consequences when standards are not met. The military model is an effective way to provide a clear path to success. A student can reach their full potential by developing their leadership skills, meeting and exceeding standards, and being challenged to do their best both in and outside the classroom.

3. Leadership Development: Leader development and leadership opportunities are predominant at The Academy. It begins in the morning with the “Line Up”, flag raising, and chapel. On the drill field upper students participate in a leadership lab that allows them to engage practical applications while younger students learn to follow and build the team. All boys set the example in the classroom and in the dining room where upper boys are responsible for the conduct of family dining and younger boys all have a role to play. Boys in 3rd – 7th grade have the opportunity to engage in Safety Patrol and Safety Escort. 5th – 8th graders serve as role models to their “buddies”, and 7th – 8th graders are placed in key positions of responsibility.
 - Pre-K - 2nd Grade: Students in Pre-K - 2nd grade do not formally participate in the military program. They do, however, grow into the structure, community, and peer leadership of this school-wide program through regular activities, such as wearing a modified school uniform, being recognized for positive achievements, and partnering with a “buddy” student.
 - 3rd - 8th Grade: Students in 3rd - 8th grade are full members of our military program. They participate in drill activities, earn rewards and consequences based on the merit/demerit system, and receive promotions in rank and responsibility. Recognizing the needs and abilities of younger students, elementary school students focus on learning basic drill movements, maintaining a proper uniform, and following orders. These basic skills lay a foundation for self-confidence and personal responsibility.
4. Uniform Standards: The school uniform is a symbol of honor and tradition, of esprit de corps and morale, and of personal excellence and pride. The Academy has a set of standards for the school uniform and appearance where discipline is judged. Therefore, it is important for all students to maintain a high standard of dress and personal appearance. Elements of this standard are neatness, cleanliness, safety, uniformity, and school image. Appearance in uniform is an important part of the school image. The image of a disciplined and committed student represents confidence that they live by a common standard and respond to order and discipline.
5. Company Spirit: We instill a sense of pride, school spirit, esprit de corps, and team work by using various competitive modes. Each boy is assigned to one of six companies at The Academy and we test them, not only individually, but also by company. Boys and their companies receive competitive scores on inspections, drill competitions, academics, and the “Company Challenge”. These are designed to test the capabilities of both leadership and followership, while exercising key Social Emotional Learning competency skills.

Training

General: The Academy's military program promotes a variety of life skills: planning, following directions, working as a team, setting goals, and overcoming obstacles. Through this unique and traditional program SAA boys learn to become responsible, self-confident young men. Students learn how to think as a leader, solve problems, learn to delegate, and build the team.

Starting with the idea of "Followership", the 3rd grade students begin their journey by staff instruction and watching upper classmates who mentor them in uniform standards, marching techniques, and behavior. In the 4th grade, students assist 3rd graders with the things they learned the previous year. In the 5th and 6th grade, students begin to take more of a "Leadership" role by assisting squad leaders during drill, inspections, challenges and mentoring "Buddies" in the primary grades. 7th grade students continue to reinforce their leadership skills and take on select leadership roles as 1st Sergeants, Squad Leaders, and Guidon bearers.

In the 8th grade, students assume leadership of the Wildcat Battalion and the Battalion Council. 8th graders are in charge of Companies, Color Guard, and Drum Corps.

- EDGE Method of Training: At The Academy the Military Staff uses the EDGE method of training. It is a simple strategy used to structure our training to ensure what is taught actually gets learned. It is our goal to have the program led by boys and not by adults. As soon as possible in the school year we turn over training to key 7th and 8th grade leaders who then use the EDGE method to train younger students. EDGE stands for:
 - Explain – talk about what we will be doing and why it's important.
 - Demonstrate – Next, show what the skill looks like when it's done correctly; we talk about what they are doing as they go so they understand the actions. When we are done with this step, they will know what "right looks like"
 - Guide – Now it's their turn. We give them the tools, and let them try. If needed we talk them through the process step by step so they understand. This phase typically takes the most time. Practice makes perfect.
 - Enable – In the final step, they do it on their own. If they can properly demonstrate the skill themselves, then they have effectively learned the skill. The best training ends with the learner showing off his new ability.
- Social, Emotional Learning (SEL): The military program supports the development of SEL core competencies by focusing first on the young mind and the ideas of "Followership". As boys grow and mature the focus shifts to leadership skills and developing critical thinking skills. SEL competencies include:
 - Self-Awareness: Understanding your emotions and thoughts and how they influence your behavior. Skills include: identifying emotions, self-perception, recognizing strengths, self-confidence, and self-efficacy. Self-efficacy is the belief in your ability to succeed in specific situations or accomplishment of a task.
 - Self-Management: The ability to regulate your emotions and behaviors in different situations and to set and work toward goals. Skills include: executive function and self-regulation, stress-management, and self-discipline. Executive function and self-regulation are the mental processes that enable us to plan, focus attention, remember instructions, and juggle multiple tasks successfully. Our brains need this skill set to filter distractions, prioritize tasks, set and achieve goals, and control impulses.

- Social Awareness: The ability to take the perspective of and empathize with others. Skills include: empathy, appreciating differences, and respect.
- Relationship Skills: The ability to establish and maintain healthy and meaningful relationships with others. Skills include: communicating clearly, listening, cooperation, resisting negative pressure, resolving conflicts, and supporting one another.
- Responsible Decision-Making: The ability to make positive choices and take responsibility for positive and negative outcomes. Skills include: identifying problems, analyzing situations, solving problems, and reflection.

3. Training Schedule: Each year the Commandant publishes a Training Schedule that is made available to teachers, students, and families. It will note drill dates, parades, leadership retreats, special events, and Battalion Council meetings. Example below.

5. Inspections and Daily Standard: Academy students are expected to meet uniform, hair, and grooming standards each school day. Individual scores for inspections and daily wear are reflected in the company's overall inspection score with the lead company recognized at the end of the year.
 - Formal inspections are conducted on a regular basis, typically once a month in either the Drill Blue or Dress Blue uniform.
 - Uniform, hair, and grooming standards are inspected daily. This occurs informally at line-up, on the drill field, in class, and while around campus by the military staff, teachers, administration, and student leadership. Students are ALWAYS accountable for maintaining and wearing the uniform correctly.
 - Students are inspected for: Uniform is clean and wrinkle free; rank, name plate, tabs and cords are worn properly; all awards and decorations are present, serviceable and worn properly on the Drill and Dress Blue uniform; in compliance with jewelry standards; hair is in compliance with standards; shoes are clean, shined, and laced; socks are correct and without holes; belt and buckle is clean and gig line is straight.
6. Company Challenge: Students participate in the Company Challenge both individually and as a company team. Individual challenges are conducted during P.E. Team challenges are conducted three times a year, as a mini field day, in the build up to Field Day. Scores from each, individual and team, are reflected in the company's overall challenge score.
7. Academic Scores: Student academic standings are reflected in the company's overall score with the lead company recognized at graduation.
8. Drill Competition: Drill competitions at the Platoon and Company level are held throughout the year. Scores from these are reflected in company's overall score with the lead company recognized at graduation.
9. Leadership Retreats: Retreats are conducted throughout the school year for 5th – 8th grades. Retreats provide an opportunity for boys to gain confidence and for the class to build the team and fostering esprit de corps while learning new leader skills.

Battalion Organization

The Wildcat Battalion is organized into 6 Companies, along with a Battalion Staff Group, Color Guard, and Drum Corps.

1. Companies are organized with 2 Platoons of 2 Squads each (4 Squads to a Company). Each Company and Platoon is led by an 8th grader along with an Executive Officer. 7th graders fill the First Sergeant, Squad Leader, and Guideon leadership positions.
2. The Color Guard and Drum Corps are led by an 8th grader along with an Executive Officer and a 7th grade First Sergeant.
3. The Battalion Staff Group is led by the Battalion Commander. He will have a staff that is typically made up of an Executive Officer, Adjutant, Operations Officer, and Logistic Officer.

Leadership Positions

General: We expect every boy to embrace the idea of leadership and character. The Academy offers multiple roads to experience leadership opportunities. On the drill field, at line-up and chapel, in the classroom, the dining hall, or the athletic field student have the opportunity exercise the ideas of “Followership” and “Leadership”. General leadership opportunities include:

- Safety Patrol: 3rd – 5th Grade
- Safety Escort: 6th – 7th Grade
- Buddy Mentors: 5th – 8th Grade
- Dining Room Table Leaders: 5th – 8th Grade
- Battalion Council (Commanders & Staff): 7th – 8th Grade (Key Leaders)

1. Safety Patrol and Safety Escorts: The Safety Patrol and Escort programs are staffed by boy volunteers who help to direct younger students at morning drop off. The program allows boys the opportunity to demonstrate and develop their leadership abilities. As school-age leaders, patrol members teach other students about safety on a peer-to-peer basis. They also serve as models for younger children, who look up to them.
 - Safety Patrol members come from the 3rd – 5th grades and serve for one day week at scheduled times throughout the year. Volunteers in good standing are recognized at the end of the school year with a medal.
 - Safety Escort member come from the 6th -7th grade and serve for one day week for a semester. Escort volunteers are recognized with a blue & gold shoulder cord and at the end of the school year with a medal.
2. Buddy Mentor Program: Starting in the 5th grade the Buddy Program matches primary students with upper school mentors. The mentor team develops a bond with upper students providing support, guidance, and opportunities to help their primary student succeed and meet their goals. The essential components include creating caring, empathetic, consistent, and long-lasting relationships, often with the combination of role modeling, teaching, and advising. Buddies and mentors are typically assigned by lunch table association and may change each semester.
3. Battalion Council: Key 7th and 8th graders are members of the Battalion Council. Functioning much like a student council, the Battalion Council works together to provide a means for student expression and assistance in school affairs and activities. It provides experience in leadership and encourage student, faculty, and community interaction.
4. Select Leadership Position: Starting in the 7th grade and into the 8th grade, boys will be considered for select leadership positions. These include Commanders, Executive Officers, Platoon Leaders, Battalion Staff, First Sergeants, and Platoon Sergeants. The selection process is competitive. Each fall, the Commandant will form a committee to complete a holistic review of each 7th and 8th grader. Variables such as teacher ranking, peer ranking, uniform and inspections, school spirit, grades, conduct, and in school and out of school activities will be reviewed. From these variables the committee will form an Order of Merit List (OML) with recommendations for positions and endorsement by the committee chair. The OML will then go to the Head of School for review and approval. This process is typically completed by the end of October with announcements made after approval. Select leadership positions include:
