Michael Jake Carter
Director of Community Engagement
CRUHS

Bullhead City, AZ – Last school year, a district Guiding Coalition of teachers and administrators developed a Collective Commitment to create a Professional Learning Community and the School Board adopted it. In an effective Professional Learning Community support and intervention is provided for students who need it. “Success Time” is a program that was rolled out at both High Schools in August. River Valley High School is showing early signs of success with the program.

River Valley High School Success Time Results

Superintendent Remarks:

"At 4 different high schools, over a 10-year period I have properly implemented - with great outcomes for kids - what is currently known as "Success Time" here. The program requires a great deal of hard work and follow through on the part of teachers and administrators; but the results at River Valley prove that when you work hard to support kids, they will respond positively. River Valley is trending in the right direction and once they get to 90% or more of their students passing all their classes, we will have a big party out there with lots of food, fun, and music. This is Achievement for All! Go Dust Devils!" -Dr. Richard
