My Anti-Drug Collage – 50 Points

An anti-drug is an activity or interest that helps one stay drug free. Anti-drugs may be completely different for different people. Examples of anti-drugs are participation in sports, clubs, and other organizations. Other anti-drugs include music, hobbies, and productive interests. These might include songs that calm you down, collections or games you enjoy, or interests in a certain field like designing websites.

DIRECTIONS: Each student will create their own personal anti-drug collage using drawings, magazines, newspapers and/or the internet. Each student will start out with a piece of paper and attach images of the activities and interests that will help you stay drug free. After completing the collage, you will write a brief description of the photos included on your collage and why they will help you stay drug free.

CHECKLIST:

- AT LEAST 5 images/drawings of activities that are your “Anti-Drugs”
- 1 description for each image/drawing included (AT LEAST 5 TOTAL!) explaining why that activity is an anti-drug for you.
- Use the space below to outline your collage before beginning with the final draft.
