University of South Carolina
&
Lexington-Richland School District 5

Professional Development School - District

Professional Development School Partnerships

- prepare future educators,
- provide current educators with ongoing professional development,
- encourage joint school–university faculty investigation of education-related issues, and
- promote the learning of P–12 students.

(NAPDS, 2008)

PDS partnerships can “offer perhaps the strongest bridge between teacher education and classroom outcomes, academics and clinical education, theory and practice, and schools and colleges”

(NAPDS, 2008)

Lexington-Richland School District 5 Professional Development Schools

- Irmo Elementary School
- Oak Pointe Elementary School
- Irmo Middle School
- Dutch Fork High School

University of South Carolina
&
Lexington-Richland
School District 5

Professional Development School - District

Professional Development School – District Vision

In collaboration as PDS-District partners, Lexington-Richland School District 5 and the University of South Carolina will enact principles of Improvement Science to enhance the social, emotional, and physical well-being for students and staff to ultimately yield academic gains and to provide practitioners continued opportunities for professional learning.

Professional Development School – District Coordinating Council

- Christina Melton
- Michael Guliano
- Kelly Brown
- Robin Hardy
- Vann Holden
- Tina McCaskill
- Davida Price
- Angie Slatton
- Kate Ascetta
- Shelly Curcio
- Cindy Van Buren

KNOW THY IMPACT
*John A. C. Hattie

As Gamecocks,
our impact has
No Limits.

UNIVERSITY OF
SOUTH CAROLINA

