National Hispanic American Month

As we celebrate National Hispanic American Heritage Month, we highlight the contribution of many Latinx innovators in aviation and aerospace. Many began their careers in service to the United States and established themselves as pioneers who went on to implement aviation policy and open opportunities for future generations. A current “rock star” in the industry is Quality Assurance Specialist Maria Zavala. Maria works for the Engine and Airframes Division in the Directorates Department of Defense, supplier operations. She embraces this year’s theme of Todos Somos, Somos Uno – We are All, We Are One.

Student Updates

A huge shout-out goes to several of our outstanding students who earned academic honors from The College Board National Recognition Program. Congratulations to senior Alem Alem who received the National African American Recognition Award, senior Kean Timblin who received the National Hispanic Recognition Award, and junior Nour Khalifa who also received American/Black, Hispanic American/Latino, or Indigenous/Native.

The class of 2027 students went to Camp Waskowitz last week! They had a great time hiking in the woods and completing some leadership challenges. A great time was had by all…and we even avoided most of the rain!
