Hello Oakland Unified Community,

Here on the fifth day of the teachers' strike, we are thinking about the many impacts on our students and families. At the Parent Student Advisory Committee (PSAC) meeting on Tuesday evening, the group discussed the challenges families are facing, including food insecurity. In our community, food insecurity is a serious issue, and we want to connect families with important resources.

OUSD continues to provide breakfast, lunch, and supper for the thousands of students attending school during the strike. All schools have food for all students who come to campus.

Families needing additional food assistance during the strike should contact the Alameda County Food Bank at <https://foodnow.net/find-a-food-pantry/> or at the Emergency Food Helpline at 510-635-FOOD (3663). That's where they can find emergency groceries and the closest pantry to their home. This is usually the easiest option for families, and it will connect them with short-term and long-term support.

In community,
