

A Tree Talk By Sam Adams in 1993

Here at Pasquaney we have a unique opportunity to look beyond the status symbols, beyond the hype and commercialism, and to get to know each other for who we really are. To learn to judge our friends by their actions, rather than by their cars, by their abilities rather than their baseball caps, and by their true selves rather than by their hip slang or cool clothes ... Learn to know and love yourself, so that you may know and love others ... Don't let these bright summer days slip by without meaning, without growth, without development. Be your best self. Be an individual.
