

A Tree Talk by Doug Camp in 1992

It is important to try to know a person rather than judging him or her. “It is so and so’s actions I don’t like, not the entire person.” If we do this, we will have many more friends, enjoy our community more, and find joy and excitement in realizing how different and wonderful and unique we all are.