

A Tree Talk by Cesar Collantes in 1990

To me, Pasquaney is a special kind of family, one that thrives because of its unique and caring community atmosphere. And like other families, we have our memories, sorrow, joy and homecomings. This homecoming is special to me because I have a new son, Nicholas, who, in the year 2000, will be the second generation of Collantes at Pasquaney. So I have come full circle. I have been the son of parents who sent their son off to camp, a counsellor, an alumnus, and now soon to be a parent sending his son to Pasquaney... As I embark on the long journey of parenthood, I hope to be able to teach, practice and live the ideals of Pasquaney in my relationship with my son. And I hope that he, too, will apply them to our relationship.
