

A Tree Talk by Robert Thompson in 1989

At the end of the summer some of you will take home trophies and medals, along with projects from the shop which are more sophisticated than my lanyards...But my question to you is: Will you present those items as the sole evidence of a successful summer at Pasquaney? Or will you take something home that is in your heart and mind — something that is visible to your families and friends in the way you choose to conduct your daily life?
