

THE WILDCAT WEEKLY

A Note from Dr. G

Volume 3 Issue 10

Superintendent's Corner

As I said Last week, Halloween in Mount Pleasant is an opportunity for our creativity to shine. The WHS main office became home to wrestlemania stars, the entire middle school staff dressed up as their students, the 5th grade team were once again a media sensation this year as the cast of Top Gun, there were some very unique Barbies to be found across the district, and our HES parade around the new playground was amazing. Thank you everyone for a wonderful day! Check out more photos and videos on our social media.

When November arrived on Wednesday, it brought with it some very seasonable temperatures! Tonight's football game against Valhalla at home under the lights for the Class C Semifinal will be a true cross-town battle and I hope many of you will come out for it. Please join me in wishing our Varsity Cross County Team good luck at the Section I Championship Race tomorrow. With just over a month until the Bond Vote, we have scheduled three Community Information Sessions & Facility Tours: Monday 11/13 at HES, Wednesday 11/15 at CES, and Monday 11/20 at the District Office. For full details and to RSVP, visit the district website.

Noticing the Good

Día de los Muertos, or Day of the Dead, is a celebration of life and death and is celebrated in Mexico. Across the district, our students celebrated it too!

Erika Rama's middle school students made Ofrendas which are altars made of colorful paper, topped with photos and placed in homes, schools, or other public places to honor the deceased. Maria Mittermann's AP class learned about the "Festival de Calaveras" in Aguas Calientes México and her Level 3 students made masks and sampled "Pan de Muerto." At CES, LauraLee Chambers' students decorated sugar skulls to honor deceased loved ones and guitars in the style of Mexican folk art inspired by the movie Coco.
