

FAMILY Tech Talk NIGHT

Inspiring Digital Responsibility

Social Media and Internet Safety Resources

© Information for Parents

These sites will help you teach your kids to be safe and responsible users of the Internet, social media, and personal technology.

Center on Media and Child Health

www.cmch.tv

This partnership between Children's Hospital Boston, Harvard Medical School, and the Harvard School of Public Health has a database of research and also offers tips and resources for parents to help their families use media in a healthy manner.

Common Sense Media

www.commonsensemedia.org

This site reviews websites and other media for children and rates them according to their age-appropriateness. You'll also find advice for parents about cell phones, gaming, and more.

ConnectSafely

www.connectsafely.org

This site has tips, advice, the latest news, and blogs about the online world and its effect on children and teenagers. It also hosts a forum for parents and kids who want to bring their questions and concerns to experts.

Cyberbullying Research Center

www.cyberbullying.org

Research and tips for parents on dealing with and preventing cyberbullying. It also provides contact information for reporting cyberbullying to Internet, social media, and mobile service providers.

CyberTipline

www.missingkids.com/cybertipline

Make a report of online sexual exploitation through this service of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

Brought to you by

FAMILY Tech Talk NIGHT

Inspiring Digital Responsibility

Gaggle

www.gaggle.net

Provides tech/Internet safety resources and solutions for schools, as well as maintains an informational blog and an ongoing list of social networks and apps used by kids.

iKeepSafe

www.ikeepsafe.org

This site has many resources for parents, educators, and policymakers who teach youth how to use new media devices and platforms in safe and healthy ways.

National Association for Media Literacy Education

www.name.net

Provides tools and education as part of its mission to foster critical thinking and expand media literacy.

NetFamilyNews

www.netfamilynews.org

The "community newspaper" for Internet safety. The site features news and information about online safety and privacy, new Web resources for children, research about how kids use the Internet, and more.

Trend Micro Internet Safety for Kids & Families

<http://internetsafety.trendmicro.com>

A good source for timely advice on issues, technologies, and laws that affect kids online.

Search Engines and Research Websites for Kids

These sites will help children use the Web more safely.

AllSafeSites

www.allsafesites.com

A child-safe Internet search engine.

American Library Association's Great Websites for Kids

<http://gws.ala.org>

A comprehensive list by subject area of child-safe websites.

KidzSearch

www.kidzsearch.com

A Google-based kid-safe search engine.

Brought to you by

