CAUGHT IN THE ACT!! Sophomore Robbie Kuoppala takes time out of her English class to converse in the halls with her "hall friends."

Skyview students came back to a newly remodeled and exciting school.

Many new advisors joined the Skyview team this year. This included a new principal and assistant principal.

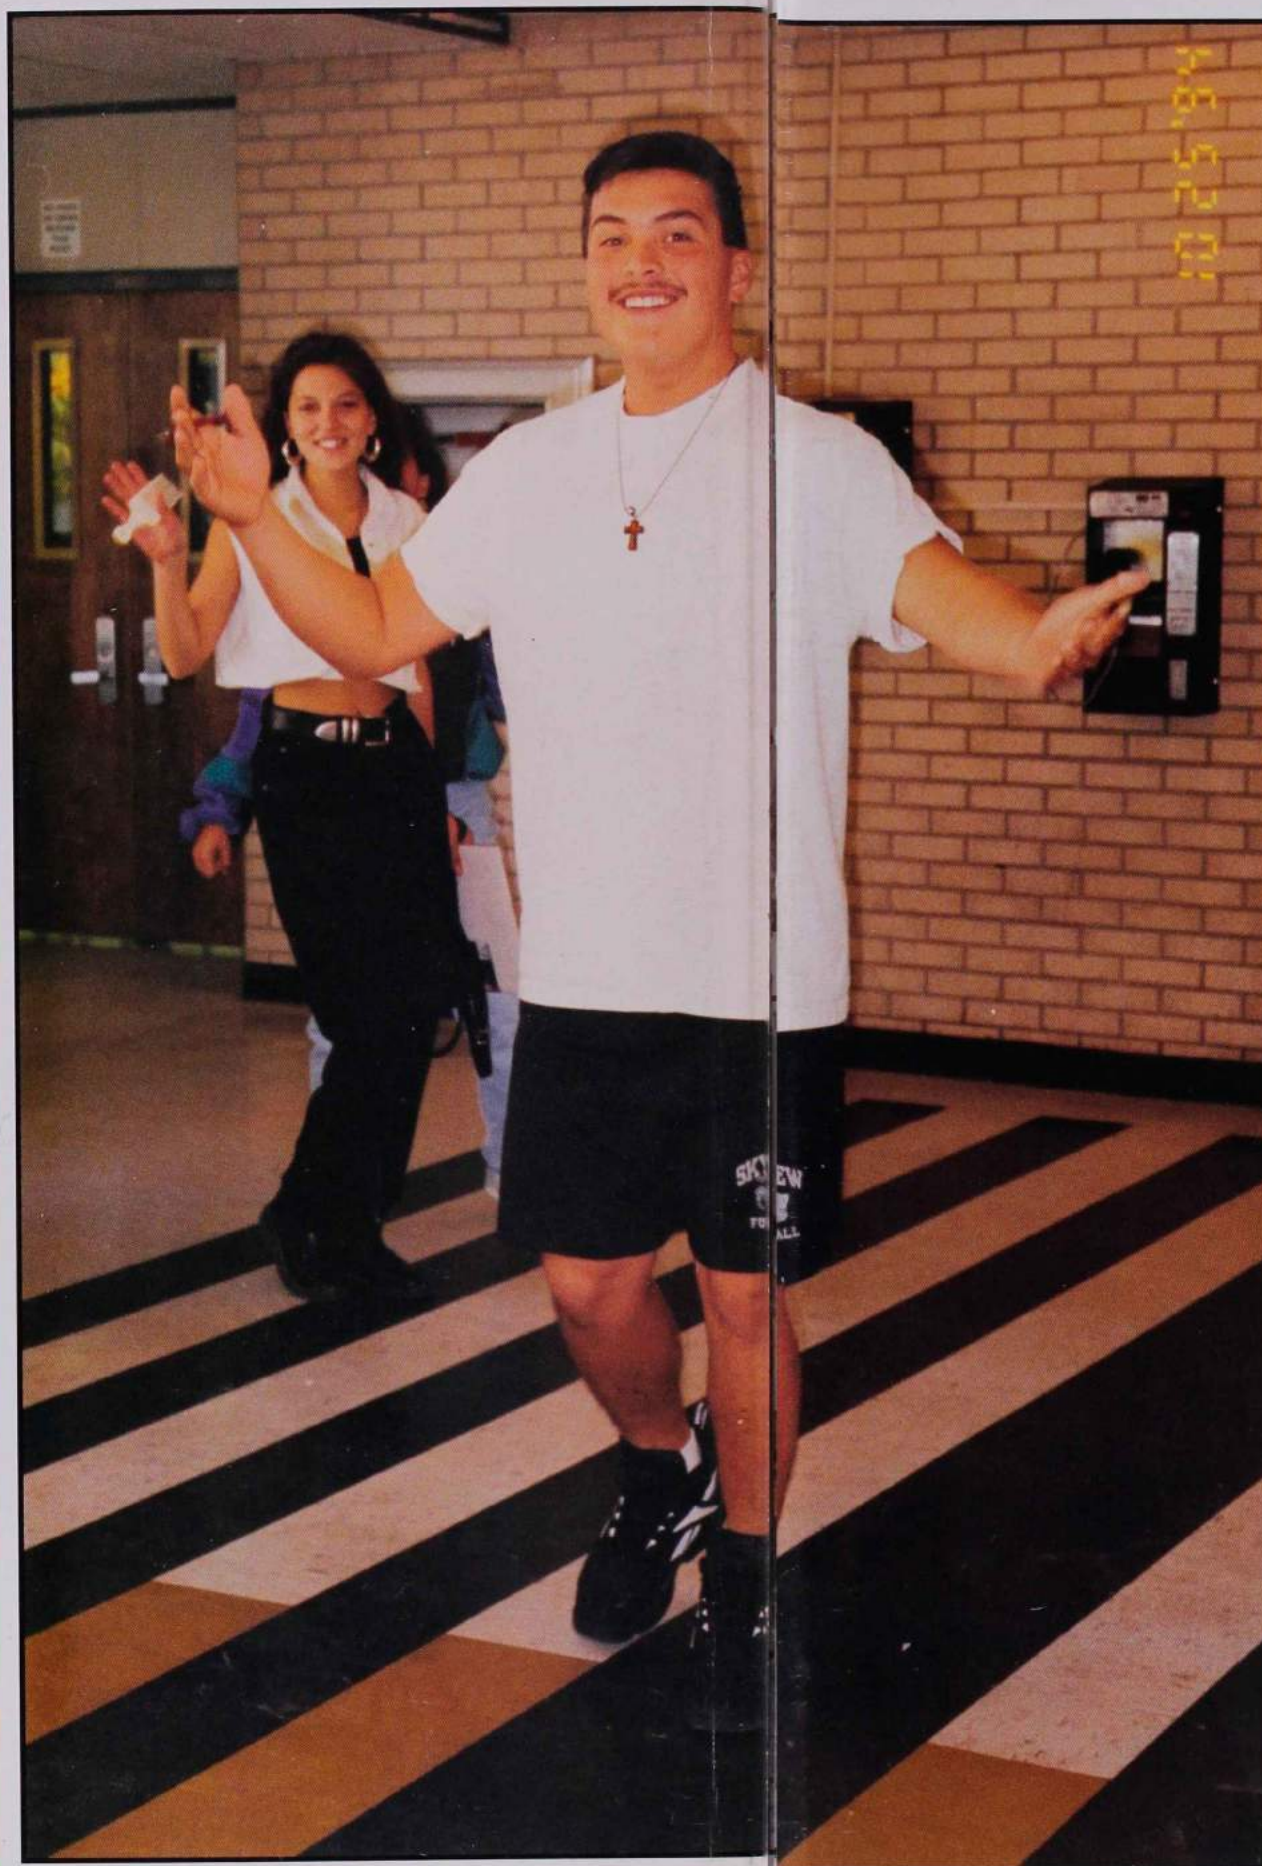

"I thought the changes in the school were awesome. The remodeling really makes Skyview stand out as a school. We are finally getting noticed!"

Shawn Douglass-11

CONSTRUCTION NOTES... Giving thanks to the many construction workers that so carefully repaired and remodeled our school. (Photo by C. Hill)

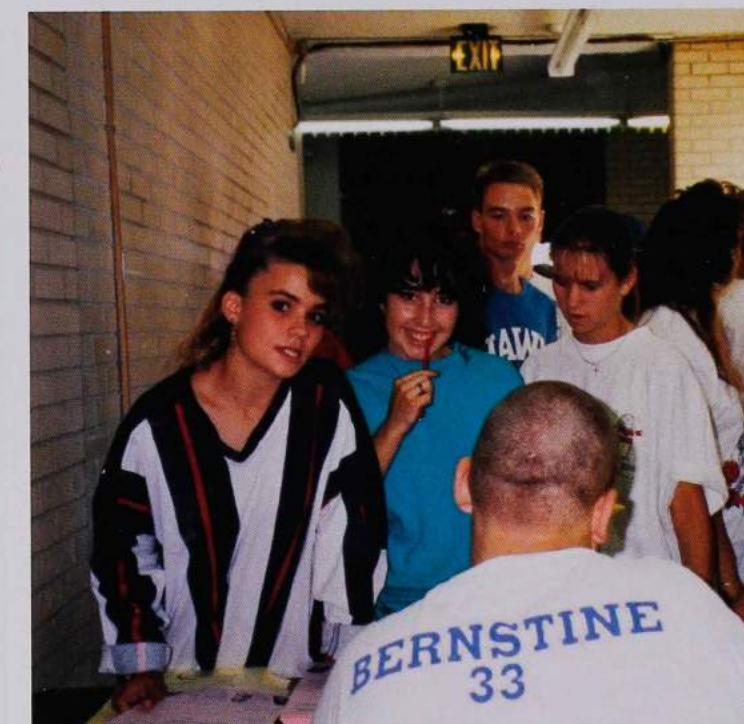

WHAT'S UP??
Walking aimlessly through the halls, senior Nolan Smith gets caught in the act of being on a senior rush. Seniority was definitely in the air throughout homecoming. (Photo by C. Elkerton)

How 'Bout Us??

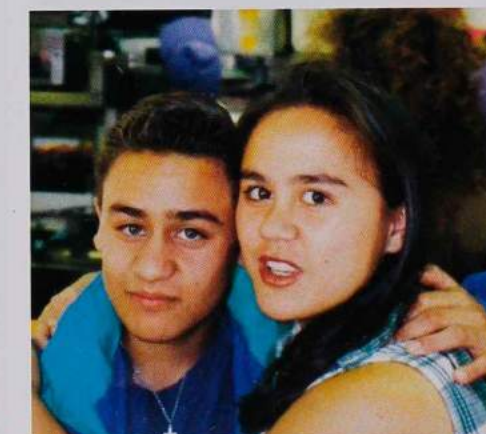

Another year past, another class gone. Skyview made a name for themselves this year. During homecoming with a long fought parade, and with all of the added entities, this year was like no other for seniors and underclassmen alike. Coming back to a new, remodeled school, hopes for a bright and good year were in the air. The thoughts revolved around so many new changes to the school. New teachers and administrators, students abroad thought for the best. As a result, the year became a unique experience. Noticing those who never stood out is what we do. Skyview stood out in the record books this year, we are on a roll...an amazing one. So, How 'Bout Us??

SUPERIOR SENIOR-ITY!! As seniors sign up for their classes and pay their many dues, all they can do is smile with happiness that it is their senior year!! (Photo by M. Flagg)

HUGS AND KISSES!! Senior Cheryl Elkerton and freshman John Oestereich give in to their lunch affair. (Photo by R. Hanlen)

Stranger As My Face...

As each year progresses, our intellect increases, our emotions develop and our bodies enlarge. Between the time that we were born and the time that we shall die, the human body goes through many changes... so do the siblings who attend here at Skyview. We find that although many brothers and sisters here have a lot in common, they still may have even more differences. Their features and names may be the same but each individual has his own personality traits. The separate family members enjoy and desire different goals and activities than that of their siblings. All in all, having a brother or sister attending Skyview isn't so bad after all.

- Skyview students are more likely to spend lunch with thier friends rather than a sibling.
- Skyview siblings are very close to one another.
- There are as many differences as there are common interests in the siblings.

"We became closest when we got into high school. We found that we have a lot more in common than we thought." Amy Deaguero-10 and Alicia Deaguero-11

JUST ONE KISS! Before leaving the school to go to lunch, senior Diana Prillaman pecks freshman Jared Prillaman on the cheek. It's not very often that you see this much love going around. (Photo by E. Schlimm)

Sometimes, people can tell what type of person someone is by their appearances; the expression on their face, the clothes they wear, or the way they walk. A lot of the way Skyview students dressed from day to day expressed individuality. Freshman JJ Prillaman said, "The reason why I wear comfortable clothes to school is because, getting through a full day of school is hard enough." Animation characters can be seen throughout the Skyview hallways.

- There is a trend towards clothing that may be worn by either sex.

A portrait of a young woman with short, reddish-brown hair and black-rimmed glasses. She is wearing a blue sweater and a dark backpack strap is visible over her shoulder. She is looking slightly to the right of the camera.

A vertical photograph of two women. The woman on the left is wearing a white t-shirt with Korean text and a brown jacket, looking down at a piece of paper. The woman on the right is wearing a dark patterned top and a necklace, also looking down. Large white letters 'ST' are visible in the background.

DON'T TURN BACK!
There's no turning back these sophomores. They know their style is hot and they like it their way.
Allison Sorber and Tommi Eagan won't settle for less than comfort.

Who's To Judge?

Students at Skyview express their originality in different ways. Some people express it in the clothes they wear, the cars they drive and the bags they carry. Some choose to show with body language. What is body language?

Is it body piercing, tattooing the hairstyle, or is it the way you express yourself through non verbal communication? Is there a right or wrong answer? Since it's all based on opinion, there must not be...When students were asked what they thought about pierced body parts and tattoos the responses varied. Sophomore Sara King's opinion on tattoos is, "As long as they wash off they're great." Senior Cindy Blunt's opinion on body piercing is, "It looks ugly and gross..."

Kids Will Be Kids

...Remember Kindergarten? Boys had cooties and girls were gross.

Now that we've entered adulthood, we find that the more things change the more they stay the same. "We still sing Girl Scout songs on the bus," said sophomore Rosie Branstetter.

Video games, doodling, and playing keep-away are typical behaviors that aren't yet mature... but at least we quit eating paste.

We've learned a lot since our days in the sand box. Kids find funny ways to explain things. "I used to think Labor Day was the day all the women went into labor," claims sophomore Vickie Gonzalez. Senior John Morgan said, "I used to think you could get rabies from girls."

We may be advancing, but those childlike instincts stay forever.

THE POWER RANGERS ARE MY HEROS. Senior Vickie Maldonado and sophomore Matt Schultz still enjoy messing around in stores. After all, toys are for kids and grown ups alike. (Photo by M. Thomas)

In The End Zone...

A long lived tradition here at Skyview is to have a group of hard working individuals make up our football team.

For the past few years, Skyview has made a slight variation on this sport. This variation is called Powder Puff. Each year the student body asks the question, "What if the roles were reversed," and that's exactly what they find out.

The senior and junior girls take the field and go head to head, to ultimately decide which class is better. The guys involved in Powder Puff were the cheerleaders.

Meanwhile, the real football team at Skyview took the field and gave it their all in their homecoming game against Brighton.

We got spirit!

Homecoming '94 was one of the best ever. From people in fuzzy slippers, to getting up at 5:00am to work on class floats for the parade. People coming to school wearing boxers and a tie or just wearing the sheets off their beds. Some just liked to throw pies at their favorite teachers or go sliding around in jello pudding.

Others decided to get some exercise by playing Strobelight Volleyball. Then to end all the excitement of the week there was a colorful parade. There were floats by freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, gymnastics, and more. Above all the creative side of the Skyview Wolverines roared through in the homecoming festivities.

A Night to Remember...

The time came for the homecoming dance and spirits were high as people entered the dance! This years dance, Beyond The Stars, was remarkably put together by the Student Council.

Royalty was announced at the game and crowned at the dance. Prince Jason Urdiales and Princess Valerie Medina weren't able to attend the game or dance. Lord and Lady went to Mr.

Auday and Ms. Chandler. "It was such a thrill being crowned lady, because I wasn't expecting it at all," said Ms. Chandler. Homecoming was definitely a night to remember!

Zodiac Attack!

Have you ever read your daily horoscope and found your day went exactly as planned? This was the response from many of the students at Skyview. When junior Brandy Martinez was asked if she reads her daily horoscope, she replied, "Yes everyday, sometimes I read it after school and it explains exactly how my day went." Some people may not necessarily believe in their zodiac sign, but you still catch them reading their horoscope once in a while. Whether it is in the newspaper, magazine, or even in a fortune cookie, everyone is curious about what the future holds.

You wouldn't believe the dream I had...

Put It Off

Have you every noticed just how many people procrastinate? It may be staying up until the wee hours in the morning finishing that paper. Sophomore Amy Swan states "I procrastinate when it comes to any work, especially homework." It might be putting off those awful chores at home. As sophomore Erika Jolin says, "I hate doing dishes, and always put off doing them." Others wait until the last minute to do those little things that they hate. Junior Celina

Sanchez exclaims, "I hate and always put off going to the dentist." Anyway you look at it, the number of procrastinators is amazing. You may ask "Why?" but there is no real reason. Some say procrastination helps them. Junior Tina Hedglin states, "I work better under pressure." Others might just not want to do it. As junior Valerie Gonzalez says, "I procrastinate because I am lazy." No matter what the reason, most people will find themselves putting off something some time. Just as junior Alison Scully says, "Procrastination is human nature."

Does doodling help you concentrate better?

Junior Robert Skinner

Many of the students here at Skyview spend some of their class time doodling, when they should be paying attention to their teachers. Some of the students, as well as some of the teachers, expressed that doodling helps them concentrate, while others said it is just a way to pass time. When freshman Misty Cordova was asked if she considered doodling an art or pastime, she replied, "Doodling is an art because it expresses my inner self." Junior Garrett Rosa said the reason he doodles is, "...because I don't have an art class." Though most Skyview students have a legitimate reason to doodle, most just do it out of pleasure. Whether being considered an art or a pastime, the majority of Skyview students are still found doodling away in their classes.

Kiss and Tell

Butterflies, cold clammy hands... What are all of these things related to? First kiss jitters. Whether it was nothing, everything, or it hasn't even happened yet, along with any other "first," it tends to be sentimental. For some, their first kiss was a flop, while for others it was one of the most magical experiences of their life. Junior Randy Tracy commented, "Sparks were flying across the room, it was the coolest!"

Junior Josiah Masingale stated, "My first kiss scared me, and kissing still kinda scares me!!" Pleasing the opposite sex, with either a kiss or a gentle stare always can make your heart pound. Knowing that you are being judged for your actions can be really heart wrenching sometimes. "I can't really explain my first kiss. I guess that it was great, but I wasn't sure what a 'great' kiss was. Ya Know?", stated sophomore Desiree Duran. Kissing is one of those things that is unpredictable and can be a very special time for everyone, so enjoy!

Brandy loves Bonak! How 'Bout Love?

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS STAND ALONE. Bringing friendships closer is one thing these two out going juniors, Ryon Rivera and Adrian Teran, know how to do. These two friends are inseparable when it comes to photographs.

LET'S TALK! Getting to know people is just one of freshman Timothy Thornton's hobbies this school year. Just saying "hi" can be the start to a friendly conversation with someone you may not know. (Photo by S. Arumen)

These days most people look for someone to care for or with whom to spend time. Whether it is a friend or just someone who shares a common interest. Sometimes conflicts arise during relationships. People are always trying to understand the opposite sex. Guys are always trying to figure out girls; complaining that they can never understand them and vice versa.

If they would take the time, they would realize how much they have in common. This brings up many questions and concerns about relationships. Are they looking for a commitment? Does he love me? Do I love her? "Romance is doing little things to show you care," expressed junior Garrett Rosa on his opinion of relationships. So even though many questions arise about love and romance, most relationships are able to be worked out in the end.

Fun and Games

Does every one like class clowns? "I don't know," replied junior Lizzy Pilcher, "I just know that I can't stand a class with a bunch of stiffs." Junior Michael Hall feels, "Class clowns are ther to make the day go quicker and better." You may get a different response from some though. When asked the same question junior Ray Chu replied, "They are very rude and try to act like the Mack."

I'D MAKE A GOOD CLOWN! Sophomores Hilary Hawthorne and Dusty Starr get seriously silly in their English class.

Are class cowns really a problem in this school? Should something be done about these so called "class disruptions"? "Heck no" says junior Robbie Gilpatrick, "they're too cool to do anything about." Sophomore Cassandra Graham feels, "If they are discriminating in any way (race, clothing, looks) they should get written up and hopefully realize that it's not right to make fun of others." If you ask the average class clown what THEY think, they'd probably tell you how much they agree.

A RIDE AROUND THE CORRAL. Junior Celeste Groghan takes an afternoon stroll with a trusted friend. It always brings a smile to her face.

Man's Best Friend?

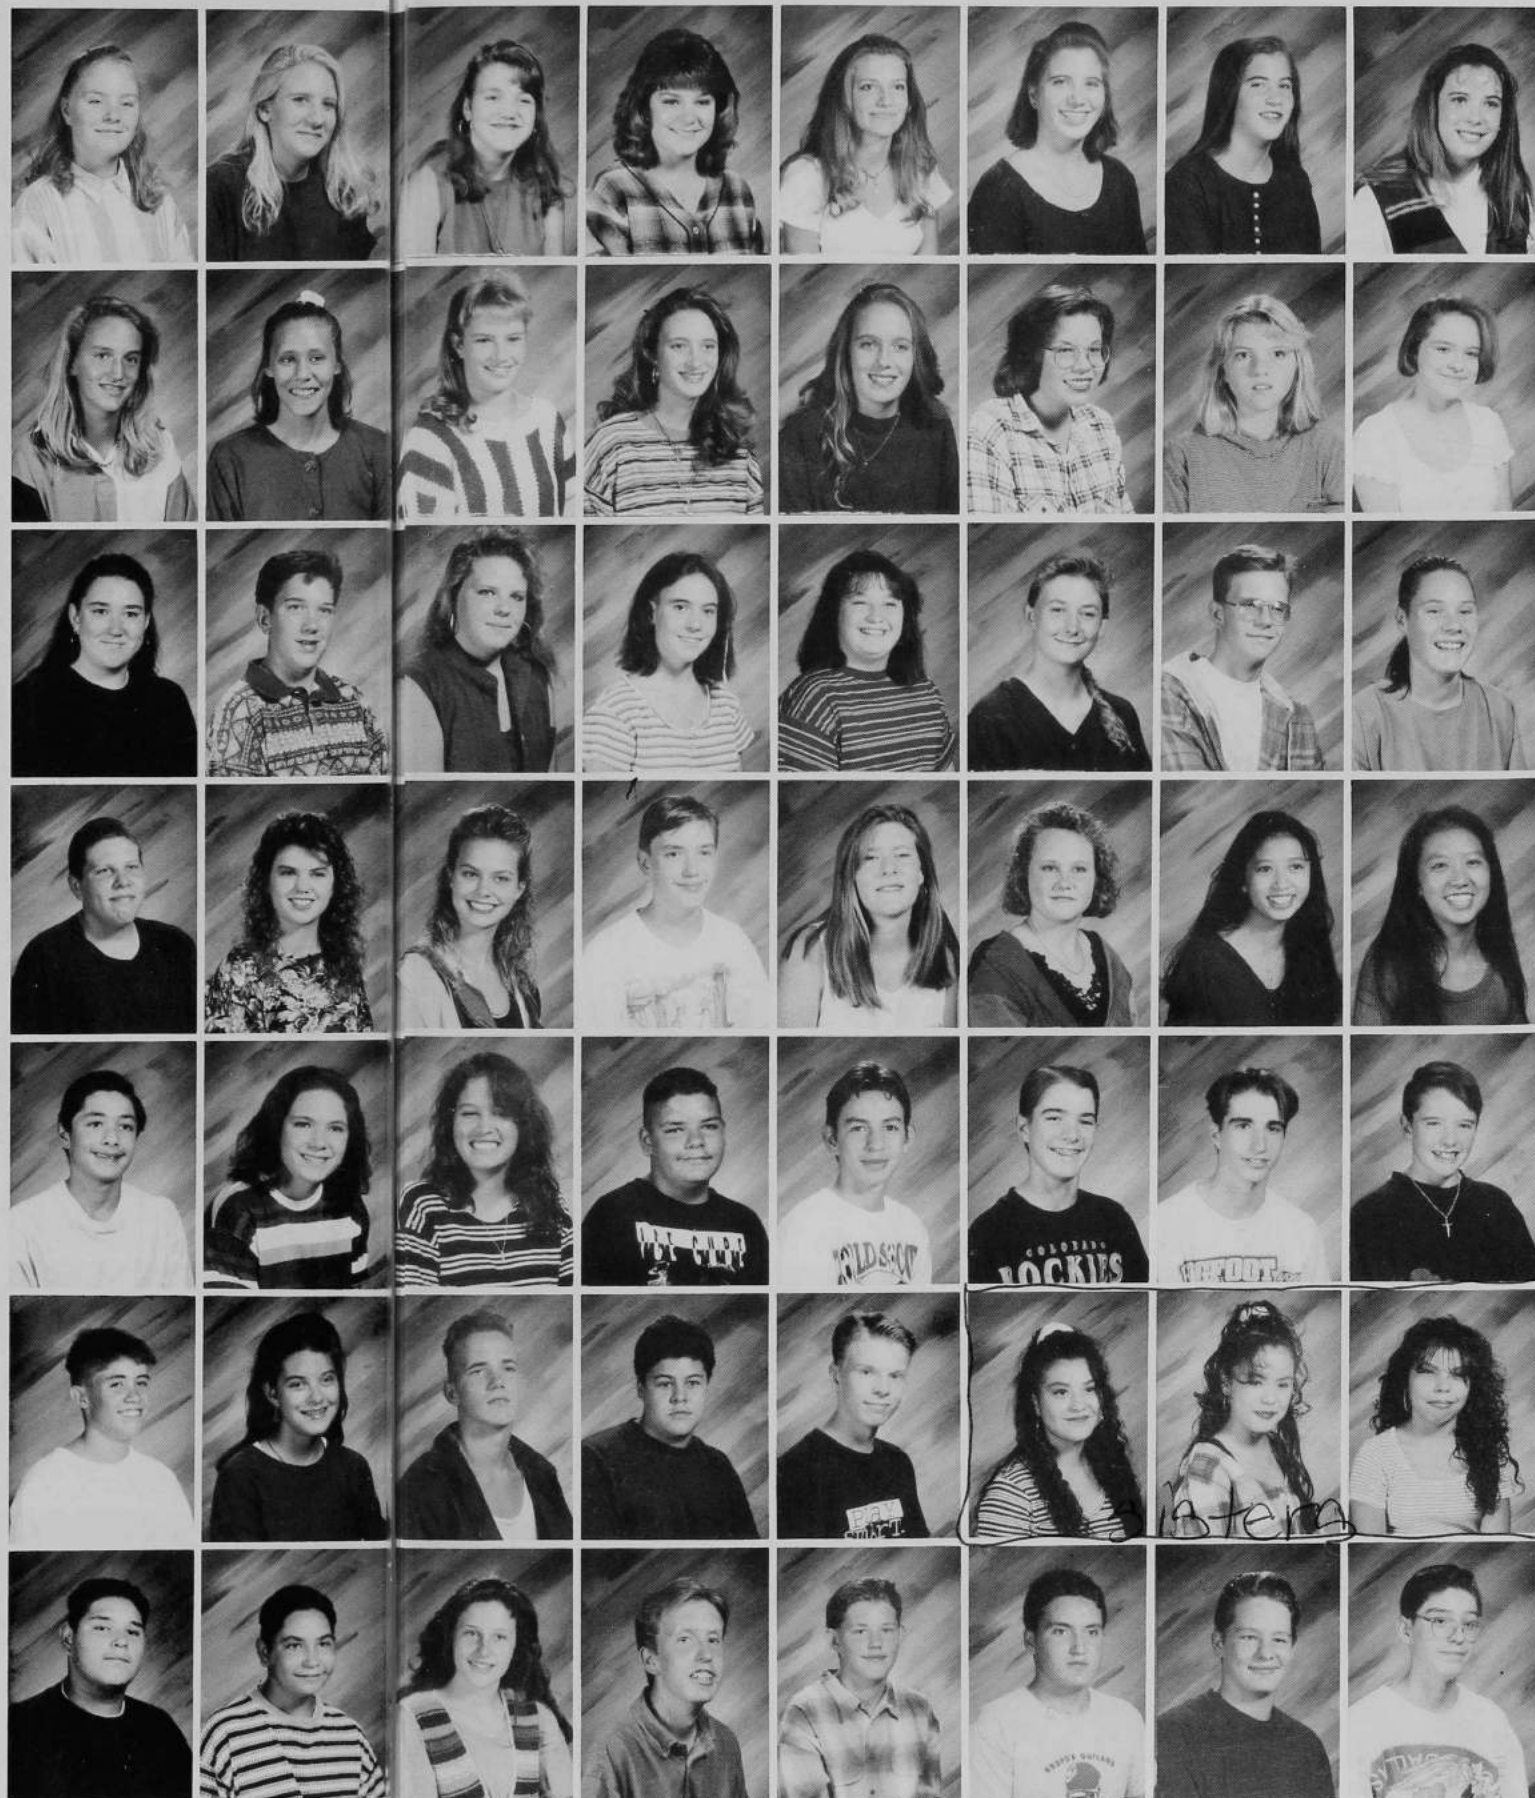

There are certain pets that most people would call irregular, but to others they are a normal and fun way of life. Some people would rather have a dog or a cat, but for others that would not fulfill their need to be different. Whether it is a reptile, spider, exotic fish, or a bird that talks back to you, they still feel better that their pet is as odd as it is. Like Senior Amy Nutter's parrot, that says, "I can talk, can you fly?" or the ferret that seems to be able to leap a building in a single bound while making a grunting noise. It is all amusing to the owners of these pets.

DON'T GET TOO CLOSE. Although it is not visible, Mad Dog, held by junior Matt Sailor, is not in the greatest of moods this morning. He makes this very clear with the constant hissing and snapping. (Photo by M. Younger) Believe it or not, reptiles, spiders, and scorpions are growing in popularity. The sale of Iguanas in the last three years has been higher than that of either cats or dogs. "Scorpions and tarantulas are hard to keep in pet stores because they sell so fast" says Mike, a manager at Pet City in the North Valley Mall. As a whole, the pet world is changing. Many moms all over the country are yelling and screaming because they have some strange animal in their house, but as they say, "Life Goes On".

Rules to Live By

Have you ever heard the saying, "rules were meant to be broken"? Well, many Skyview students have broken a few rules. Lying about your age to get into a dance club, or even ditching a class period are just a few rules that are often broken. While sitting around, do you sometimes wonder what rules you would make if you had the chance? Junior Troy Smith said, "I would make the legal drinking age 16." When other students were asked, their responses differed,

"I would want to wear pajamas to school, that way you could just wake up and go!" said junior

Tera Pruitt. Sophomore Brooke Craven wanted to change a much larger rule, "No speed limits!!" Although many Skyview students aren't eligible to vote, they still have a wide variety of opinions. Senior Matt Bussell smiled when he said, "After you graduate, you can't come back to high school." Rules have been a part of our culture forever and always will be.

ALL I HAVE TO SAY IS...UTOPIA!

TAPED FOR DISGUISE. Juniors Jamila McCoy and Alicia Deaguero mask themselves to escape all the sexy men who want these terrible two. Picking off the tape might be easier than picking them up. (Photo by C. Elkerton)

SWEPT AWAY. Sophomores Phillip Mendoza and Jim Skinner wait to be swept off their feet, while wondering if they'll trip on the broom. As for the two unknown ladies, who knows if they even exist? (Photo by K. Kasler)

Pick up Lines

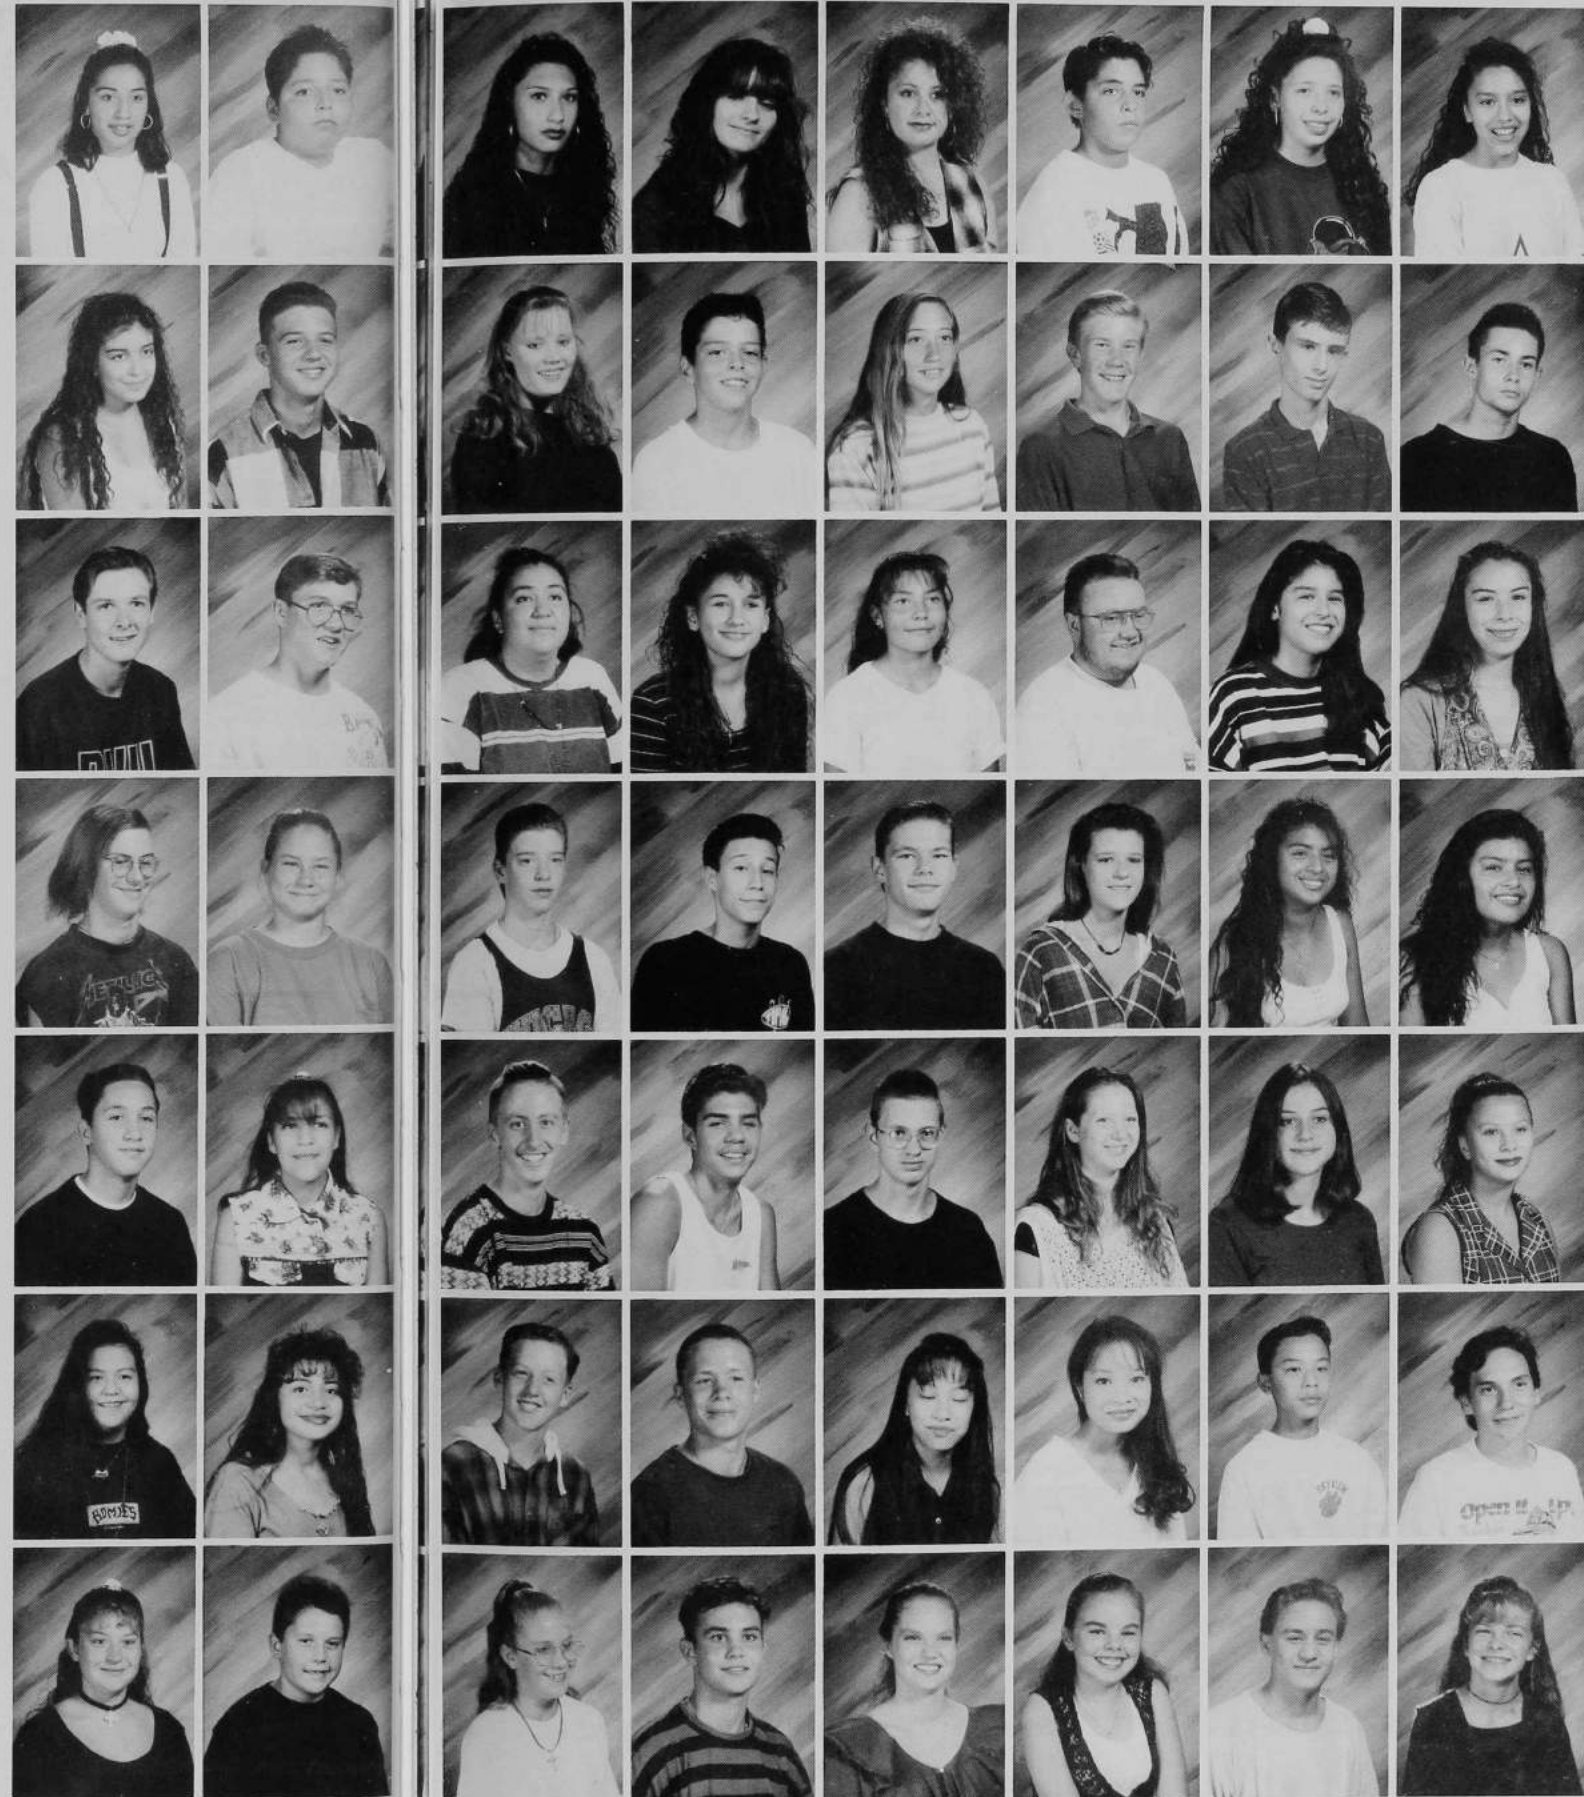

Some people say pick up lines work. Other people think it's not even worth their time. All mighty junior Randy Tracy thinks differently as he quotes, "I don't need pick up lines because all the girls love me already!" Anyway, on the more courteous and romantic side, junior Garrett Rosa slyly replies, "Excuse me, I need directions, what's the fastest way to your heart?" AHH! What a heart throb! If being straight up is what you like, then meet junior Clinton Brown as he states, "Do you believe in love at first sight or do you want me to walk by again?" Although men usually use these weird ways to get to know a girl, freshman Heather Wooldridge gives them a dose of their own medicine stating her smooth line, "Your father must be a baker because you have a nice set of buns!" If that sound good listen to the line sophomore Richie Maestas uses, "If I told you that you had a nice body would you hold it against me?!" WHATEVER! Well, are they in or out?

HEY DUDE! A universal way of cheering yourself up is being with friends. The students at Skyview sure know how to practice this bonding! (Photo by L. Redel)

When you're Blue

Cheer up! Students express what makes them feel better when they're down. Junior Taunya Brackeen says "My friends always make me laugh by bringing up my most embarrassing moments and then they take me out to lunch." "He is so stupid that he makes me laugh." says junior Michelle Conley about her brother who cheers her up. Junior Charita Brinkman had four words to say, "Cookie Dough ice cream!"

"My family makes me feel better because they are very understanding and are always there for me." shares sophomore Nancy Nevarez. "Going to sleep and listening to the radio," does it for junior Brandon Frawley. Junior Valentina Gonzales says, "No More Rain" by Blind Melon really makes me feel all happy and jittery. "My girlfriend always makes me feel better because she is my best friend," says romantic junior Robert Cisneros. No more frowns. Don't worry, be happy!!

Bad Habits Who Me?

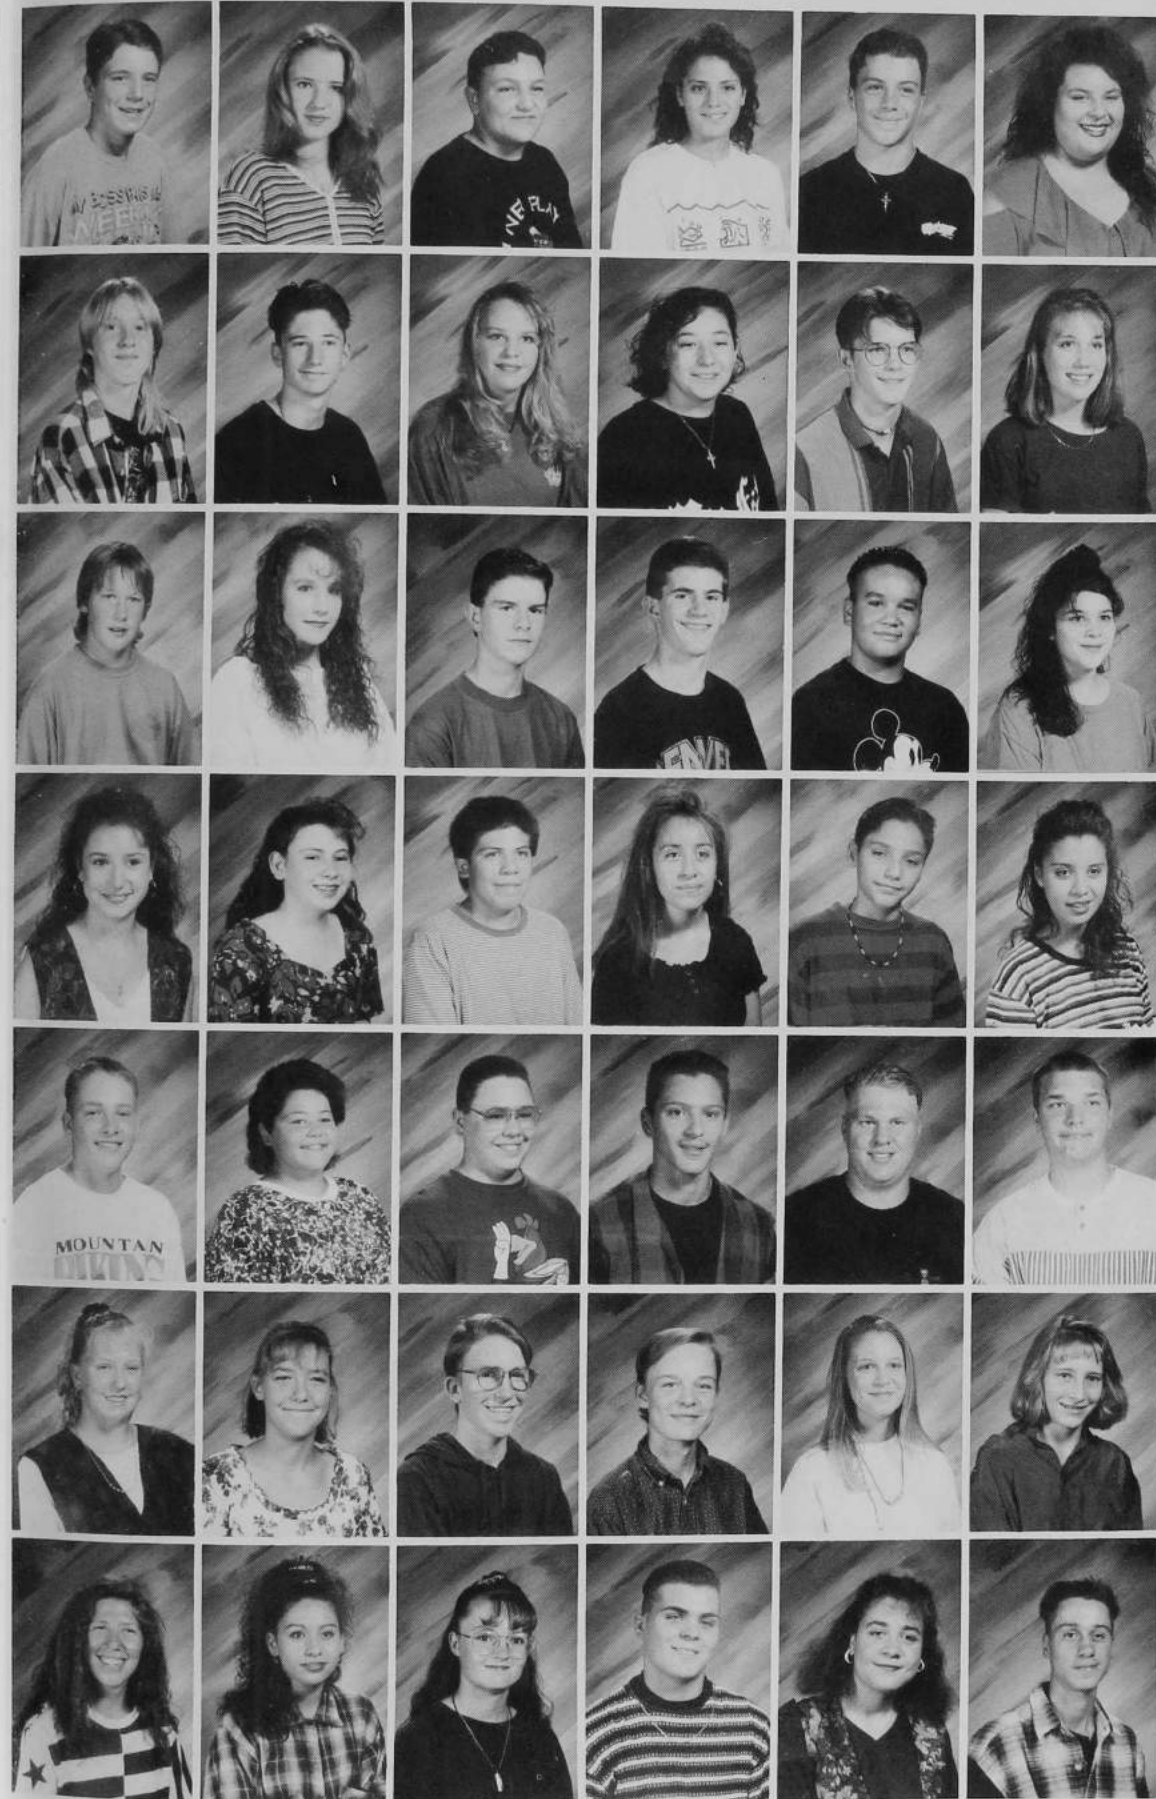

Do you have a bad habit? Why do you have this habit? Most people have some kind, whether good or bad. For instance, junior Alice Bartoloni says her bad habit is "yelling at people when I'm mad, especially when people say dumb things to me." Some people go a little overboard with some of their bad habits such as senior Earcillia Romero who's bad habits are "being nosy, rude, harassing people, and not being very neighborly." Others such as junior Brandi Martinez's bad habits aren't really bad, but rather always thinks

"my pants are short because I'm tall and I'm always pulling my pants down off my hips." Some people have other habits that they don't quite realize they have. Senior Mary Lambert says her bad habit is "forgetfulness, because I'm old and senile." Even though most people have a bad habit, secretary Mrs. Crockett insists "I have no bad habits!" All in all, even though most say they don't have any bad habits, they really do because they're a part of our every day lives.

Trick or Treat!

Students showed their originality at Skyview's first annual Halloween costume contest, sponsored by Student Council. The contest had three categories: most original, scariest, and funniest. The two students who won for most original were seniors Michelle Freeman, dressed as Charlie Chaplin and Joe Bjorhus, dressed as a hippie. The award for the scariest costume was given to freshman Marlo Holt for her creative skeleton costume. The person with the funniest costume was junior Tassi Pacheco, dressed as a clown. Each student who placed in the contest was presented with free movie passes. "The best costume I saw this year was a guy dressed as a hooker (He had some looks!)," said freshman Kevin Stoddard. A lot of school spirit was shown during Halloween at Skyview this year. It just shows that you're never too old to celebrate Halloween.

A New World

Can you imagine life in a different country, away from home, in attempts to learn another culture and language? According to senior Victoria Souto, "Absolutely everything about Spain and the United States is different, from food to how you go out and have fun. Here, everyone eats tons of fast food." On the other side of the globe, freshman Jesus Sanchez from Mazatlan, Sinaloa Mexico stated, "Traditions and the climate are the biggest differences between Mexico and the United States." Foreign students have no choice but to adjust to our way of life- even if it's for a little while. Freshman Alejandro Barron from Chihuahua, Mexico said,

I GOT IT! Jeanette Taniana listens closely to Senora Acosta's English lesson. Foreign students often become bilingual in no time. (Photo by Y. Delgado.)

"Schools are especially different because in Mexico they are much harder and more strict; the people are different as well and much more religious."

Some people say the best education one can receive is traveling abroad to see different life-styles, cultures, languages and ways of life. Becoming bilingual is also an amazing accomplishment and enables people to better communicate with the rest of the world.

"My biggest fear about becoming an adult is whether I'll have enough education for the career that I will have chosen for myself."
-Freshman Debra Rice

"The fear of not being able to lean on someone else for my problems because I'm an adult and everyone expects me to handle it is probably my worst fear right now."
-Freshman Holli Oglesby

"My worst fear is not reaching all the goals I am aiming for and not reaching my full potential."
-Sophomore Elizabeth Younger

The thing that scares me the most is not getting the job that I want. If I don't, it would set me back in my goal of becoming a police officer."
-Sophomore Jeremiah Meck

Most Skyview students have fears about becoming an adult or a senior in today's society. Sophomore Drew Hadley says, "My worst fear of being an adult is not being able to understand and communicate with my loved ones, and becoming injured so I would not be able to play baseball." Sophomore Lonnie Wyant has very different fears. Lonnie told me, "My worst fear is probably not being able to fulfill my goals and dreams, and what God has planned for me."

The worst fear of sophomore Elizabeth Wattenberg is, "...that when I'm older I'm going to take a detour on the road of success and end up struggling for the rest of my life."

MY FEAR? Joyce Tejada, Annette Media and Amy Olvera discuss some of their worst fears while in class. These three girls can't decide what fear is worst- graduating or getting a good job. (Photo by H. Rothe)

Fears usually range from a boogie man in the closet to filling out college applications and financial aid forms as a senior, but one thing is for sure, we all have at least one fear. These fears may not match your own, but everyone in the whole world has some kind of unique fear. And whatever yours happens to be, smile, because you can conquer it one day!

Fears Last Forever

CRAMMIN' FOR TIME: Senior Vicki Maldonado hurries to complete an assignment. With the new schedule, it is much more difficult for students to get work done in class. (Photo by M. Younger)

What do you think about the new schedule?

"I think the "floating seventh" schedule was a lot better. I think we should be able to sleep in on Mondays and leave early on Fridays."

-James Troutner

"It gets kind of boring going to the same classes every day. In my country, we say that too much of something is not good for your health."

-Roman Sutka

"I like the shorter classes, but get bored bygoing to the same classes over and over and over. I like mixing the classes up a little, ya know variety is good!"

-Matt J. Bussell

Times are chargin'

Waking up early on Monday and staying until 2:22 on Friday. These were two of the problems students and staff had with the new schedule. The "floating seventh" schedule Skyview had last year consisted of students and staff meeting only four times a week with longer classes. This schedule also gave the students an opportunity to sleep in an hour on Monday mornings and get out an hour early on Friday afternoon. This year the schedule was totally different. The length of the classes was shortened by nine minutes, which allowed for seven classes every day of the week.

But how do the teachers feel? "The new schedule provides us with eighteen more contacts per semester with students. It allows math teachers to expose students to different materials and still cover required curriculum," said Mr. Clapp.

Not everyone likes the new schedule, but the students and staff have learned to work together to deal with it.

What is the purpose of presentations? To senior James Lund "they are a chance to argue with the rest of the class and see how their minds work." Junior Joe Ruder thinks "presentations are a way to get information in a more interesting way because students will listen to their peers." According to senior Christie Taylor "presentations are just a time to take a little nap!" Some students such as sophomore Emily Helton "enjoy watching others mess up in front of the whole class." So why do teachers require that students give class presentations? According to social studies teacher Ms. Pergola, "they help students express their thoughts and feelings in a manner which aides in the development of their public speaking skills." However, students like sophomore Devlynn Rodriguez view getting up in front of a crowd of people like "standing in front of a firing squad." Ultimately, there really is no possibility of knowing why we are required to do presentations.

When I hear Micro Academy I think of...

"Presentations allow me to see students grow in confidence."
-Mr. Newton

"It's hard to say one style of class is better than another. It's like comparing apples and oranges."
-Mrs. Rouse

"I think M.A. will help create better educations; less students, more help."
-James Ford

"I always see new things from different points of view (a student's). I get to know students better."
-Mrs. Alpern

Keep the Class

"What is Micro Academy?" This is a very common question unless you are in the class or teach it. Presentations are a major piece of learning in M.A. Mrs. Rouse says, "Students demonstrate what they know. It can help me see, not just what they know, but how well they know it." Although the students may not like presentations, they often help to improve their educations. Students enjoy the time they spend in groups, as well as the time to themselves. Yet with all the pluses of Micro Academy, it is far from being perfect, but the students don't seem to mind. In fact, students said the only thing in need of change, or rather, the only thing they would change, is the fact that they have so many classes in one day. Therefore, the only question unanswered is, "Will this type of class last for some time or die quickly?" Although only time will tell, it seems like the students of Micro Academy are in for a definite learning experience.

TALKING MATH. Micro Academy is a tough class, too. Mrs. Rinaldi explains some of the homework to the students so that they know what they are doing. (Photo by J. Mobley)

What do you think of when the phrase "confusing subject" is mentioned? The first thing that pops into junior Robert Gilpatrick's head is Mythology. "The whole concept of mythology is weird. I mean when you have a full grown woman wearing armor popping out of someone's head and some dude holding up the world, and each person has two names, that is confusing!" Any of Mrs. Hill's sophomores could tell you, in great detail, just how hard it was to read Shakespeare, especially when you have to translate it again. Parents WORKING HARD Booster Club and Twelfth Man were two groups of parents working hard to keep school activities running. These two groups raised money for school functions like football, soccer, alternative, band and for anyone who asked. Booster Club helped out with a variety of school events. They had the concession stands open at the football, volleyball, basketball, wrestling, and the dances. They helped at the dances by chaperoning, holding a coat check-in. At Homecoming they even participated in the parade by making their own float. Whether it was working bingo to raise money, or operating concessions, the Booster Club was always willing to help out. Twelfth Man primarily helped the football team, by working to bring in more money. They raised the money for their equipment and team building activities. You might have caught them working ARA at the football

A. "Yes, it helps us to give three, one thousand dollar scholarship out at the end of the year."

Hard work PAYS OFF!!!

Student Council and National Honor Society worked hard to keep Skyview an interesting place to go to school. They organized dances, college night, pep assemblies, and much more. With Amy Oaks as a new advisor this year Student Council had one of their best years ever. For the first time in many years Student Council organized a parade for Homecoming '94. They organized the Halloween Contest, Christmas baskets, and a Students Against Violence rally with Ranum. The seniors organized their banquets and designed the senior class shirt. The sophomores sold t-shirts, and organized a dance to raising money for prom. They also kept in touch with what Booster Club, SAAC and all the organization were doing.

National Honor Society sponsored the Knowledge Bowl, they had a blood drive in February. They also raised toys for children during the Christmas season. Student Council and National Honor Society are groups working to help the community and student body.

Q What did you like about the Student Accountability conference?

A. "The thing I liked most about the Student Accountability conference was all the new people I met, the workshops and the dance."

Andrea Garcia

Q Do you think Honor Society helps the community in many ways?

A. "Yes, Honor society really helps out in the community with Toys for Tots and the Blood Drive."

Into the MAIN STREAM

With the advancement of the world into the 21st century, the yearbook and newspaper have become more elaborate. New publishing software has greatly improved both publications.

1994-95 was the first year Silver Lining was designed on computer. Although the strains of advanced technology caused some problems, the outcome was a much better yearbook. The staff was able to create a more visually interesting page by doing such things as manipulating text styles and sizes to entice a person to read further. Fewer mistakes also occurred because they were easier to discover and correct.

Senior Gretchen Wittkowski summed it up by saying, "The technology is great. We got to do a lot more things with our pages."

The newspaper staff has also been struggling with the advances in publishing technology. Due to the disadvantage of not having an actual class period and working with a small staff, progress has been slow. However, plans were in the works to convert the newspaper to a magazine type format and begin completing pages on Pagemaker, like the yearbook, instead of using the conventional cut and paste method.

Ready or not, technology, though sometimes frustrating, can only result in the continued improvement of Silver Lining and The Predator.

HELP ME PLEASE! Senior Cristen Myhaver shows her way of dealing with the stress of yearbook deadlines. She uses drastic measures to get attention. (Photo by M. Flagg)

A. "When you become part of something like this, it means more to you than a book on the shelf, it becomes your legacy."

A. "I drink as much caffeine (Jolt soda) as my body can possibly hold before my head and bladder explode."

Q. Being a senior in F.B.L.A., how would you get more involved?

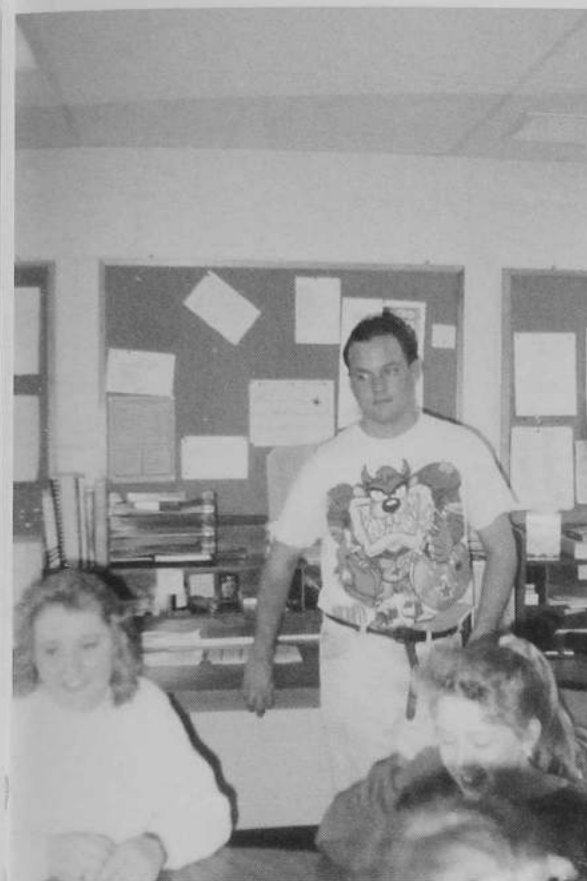

A. "As a senior I would take it upon myself to recruit others at Skyview to join and be involved in F.B.L.A."

Interested in A LITTLE BUSINESS

Have you ever wondered what F.B.L.A. or S.O.S. stands for? F.B.L.A. meaning Future Business Leaders of America is one of the most upcoming clubs in Skyview this year. They work together and individually most of the year to compete in districts at the end of the February. Also, with 37 members

Skyview has risen to the top in districts. S.O.S. on the other hand, meaning Stars of Skyview used to formerly be Future Homemakers of America (FHA). All you have to do to get into this club is be in one of the consumer and family studies classes and you're automatically in. If you're not in any of these classes you can still be a member. S.O.S. members are required to participate in at least one community service project. It doesn't stop there, they also can compete nationally that way they can compete with other schools. FBLA or SOS will be a good asset you'll never forget.

Now that's using your HEAD

In the past Knowledge Bowl and MESA were considered just for nerds, but this year more and more people thought of them as interesting ways to keep up on their classes. Now more than ever, you could see people who use to think they were "too good" for extracurricular activities, making their way to these activities during lunch and after school. Mathematics, Engineering, Science Achievements and Knowledge Bowl had students with a range of abilities. "It is a place to get my homework done and work on physics projects, such as bridge building," says Junior Dan Gillespie, a MESA student of three years. As a whole, these activities tended to broaden young people's horizons by giving them more to do than sit and watch television. MESA meetings were held Thursday at 7:00p.m., while Knowledge Bowl met during lunch to prepare for meets. Overall, it didn't matter if you were as smart as a whip or dumber than a doornail, both clubs were a learning experience.

Skyview... where THE WORLD'S A STAGE

If the saying, "All the world's a stage" is true, then Skyview had many talented students willing to act on that stage.

This fall, Skyview produced its most elaborate, expensive, and technical show, *Fran-and with the help of a wonderful supporting cast, put on a show that minds of the audience.

Sophomore Amy Crook
raved, "It's the best play
I have ever seen!"

While not all of the students with talent were in the play, they managed to keep active in the drama department through a club known as Thespians.

Thespians is a group of students who get together, hang out, take acting seminars, and see professional productions.

The only requirement for admittance into the group is a love for theater and the arts.

Through this love for theater, Skyview drama students have started a new tradition of excellence in the performing arts.

MARCHING TO A DIFFERENT BEAT

If you want to do work, work and more work and you have musical talent, you should have been a Skyview High School marching band member. These seventy some dedicated students work summer practices, after school on Tuesdays, occasional Thursdays, and all day every Saturday throughout the marching season. Skyview marching band took first place in all of the parades they participated in this season and they were the very proud three time winners of the Colorado Parade of Lights.

This year the band went on a trip to Las Vegas, at a cost of 300 dollars per person. They made the money by doing fundraisers with the choirs and orchestra.

Over all it was a productive year for the students who participated in the Skyview band. All have enjoyed their successes immensely, and hope for more to come next year!

Music makes the world GO ROUND!

FA! LA! LA! Concert Choir and Orchestra have been an intricate part to many students throughout their high school life. Some people use it to relieve stress, some for enjoyment, and others because their parents make them. Even special bonds can be created between student and teacher. Sophomore Julie Erbes said, "The thing that I like most about choir would have to be Mrs. Clark, because she is more like a friend than a teacher, and she always sees your point of view."

Choir and orchestra have their moments of stress, too. Preparing for concerts and competitions can really weigh down a person. Orchestra Director Steve Mallinson reflected back on a stressful moment, "I started to conduct a piece by Mozart, and instead the orchestra started to play Happy Birthday." If you enjoy having fun, take Orchestra or Concert Choir.

Dancin' with A NEW STYLE

How does a trip to Las Vegas sound to you? To these two choirs it sounded like a great idea, but the idea cost $389. This was a major factor in deciding the outcome of their vote, but these students weren't discouraged by the news. After all they had tons of fund-raisers to help them get to Las Vegas--from selling Christmas Trees, cards and wreaths, to Avon and jewelry. They also had a lot of fun in their many concerts, such as performances at Target, Safeway, the Skyview Auditorium and the new Thornton Rec. Center. These students are not only talented vocally but they can dance too. If that wasn't enough excitement for one choir group, they also hosted the musical Once Upon A Mattress. Even with all the new style changes made by Mrs. Clark, this class was just as fun and exciting as ever for all that joined. More important, it was definitely a learning experience!

Q. Why did you pick choir? Why is the choir so special to you?

A. I feel I'm learning, because we sing and dance. It's great! Thank you Mrs. Clark!
Lonnie Wyant

Q. Have you always wanted to be in the Choir? Do you like this group?

A. The choir is something I have always wanted to try. I enjoy it a lot and I love to sing.

Liftin' and A LOT of LEARNING

With the gift of a new weightlifting room, the lifters dreams of a great season were very high. Even though Skyview Powerlifters have not been recognized as much as they should have been in the past years, they have accomplished many individual and team goals by winning many championships year after year. Many agree that the hard work and dedication from the lifters and Mr. Hisamoto has lead to many great and rewarding memories and events. Sophomore Libby Parys stated, "I have enjoyed lifting and have found out what real hard work means."

On the other hand, along with brawn comes brains. In ESL (English as a Second Language) students try their best to learn English to better communicate with everyone. Sophomore Lilia Benitez stated "En la clase de ESL se aprendes el ingles a escribirlo y hablarlo, porque cuando llegue a este pais no sabia nada de ingles, ahora por lo menos puedo entenderlo y trato de hablarlo, espero en futuro poder aprender mejor el ingles."

Whether in the class or the weightroom, Skyview students are always learning.

I'M PONDERING!! Junior Elsa Marquez completely understands the lesson being given. Most ESL students have come a long way already. (Photo by L. Benitez).

Pumpin' up THE SPIRIT

Sometimes, schools have spirit, but they just need a little boost before they start displaying it. This is the whole reason the cheerleaders were around. Whether the team won or lost, cheerleaders were there to make sure the students kept their heads high and retained their ultimate faith and spirit in the school.

This year, the cheerleaders took a whole new approach to boosting school spirit. They started by getting new sponsors. This year's sponsors were Ms. Shirley Porterfield and Mrs. Raylene Josserand. With the new sponsors, the girls realized that if they wanted to improve school spirit, they first had to improve themselves.

They attended dance clinics and put in many strenuous hours of practice. The end result...a great cheerleading squad. It was through this great squad that everyone from freshmen to seniors learned how to express their school spirit and the pride you get from being a wolverine.

Q. How has being a cheerleader for Skyview improved your personal school spirit?

A. "Being a cheerleader for Skyview has not only improved my G.P.A., but it has also improved my feelings for SHS." Sandra

Q. What is the best thing about being a cheerleader, and why?

A. "I think the best thing about being a cheerleader is learning to work with the other girls." Tina White

WARMING UP! Warming up and prepaing for a game are a very important part of cheerleading. Some of the girls are like sophomore Nicole Gonzales and feel laughter is the best way to prepare for a game. Whereas other girls warm-up like junior Tina White, and save their voices for the game. (Photo by C. Elkerton)

TRAVELING SPIRIT! The cheerleaders attended many away games this year and felt that the team needs support away from home, too. In an attempt to boost the spirit at one of these away games the girls jumped into the crowd for a quick picture. (Photo by C. Elkerton)

The best TALKERS AT SKYVIEW

Many students at Skyview have taken on talking as a full-time hobby, but those students serious enough about talking have an opportunity to turn it into an activity. This activity is known as forensics.

Members of the forensics team take their talent of talking and apply it at many competitions throughout the year. The members compete against the speech teams from other schools for trophies and awards.

With a small team, Skyview had an outstanding season. The team managed to win over teams with many more members.

Coach Karen Greening, a former forensics competitor, took on the task of sponsoring and helping the members of the team. It was through her help that the team achieved so much.

Each year the teams keep getting bigger and bigger and the team is hoping to have an average size team next year.

Until then, all the team can do is keep on talking.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT! Junior Kristine Washburn and sophomore Matthew Schultz run through their forensics piece again, always striving to reach perfection.

PREPARATION TAKES TIME! In the unending task of finding winning forensics pieces for students, coach Karen Greening searches the contents of a forensics library folder.

GOING TO THE CHAPEL. Feeling nervous and a little excited Senior Jessica Gray and her date Tony Dreher exchange their vows at Afterprom. Many couples were able to share these same moments at the wedding chapel. (Photo by Skyview Booster Club.)

Freshman Andrea Garcia had an opportunity not given to most freshmen. While Prom is usually an experience reserved for upperclassmen, she had the opportunity to attend her first year in high school. "I never thought I would be going to Prom as a freshman. It was very fun and I will remember it forever," she stated.

Today, Tomorrow and Always

On April 30th, juniors, seniors and their dates descended upon the Boulder Broker for 1994's version of Prom. In the small room, closely clustered people gave the effect of a huge crowd. When senior Kim Shultz was asked about her experience, she enthused, "My Senior Prom was the greatest, it was almost magical. It's a night I will never forget, because it was one of the last nights I spent with friends." The romantic mood was lightened by the effect of teachers, male and female, wearing tuxedos. Excellent food added ambiance to the perfect evening.

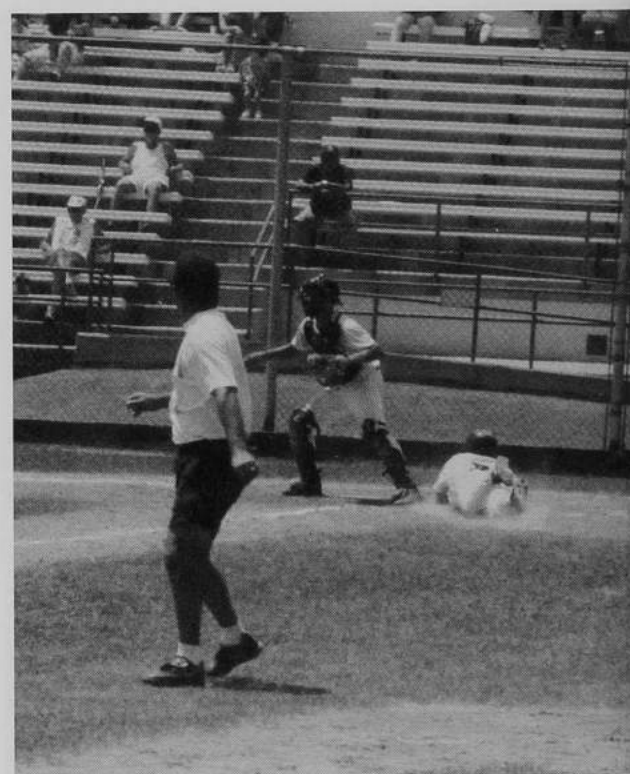

A few hours later, decked out in casual, comfortable attire, Promgoers and underclassmen returned to Skyview for Afterprom. The theme of Mardi Gras was heightened by various activities. Senior Gabe Rodriguez won the car, the big door prize of the evening. Junior Breena Griffin commented, "I have always had a good time at past Afterproms and regret not going to 94's."

Keep Your Eye On Us !

Skyview's baseball team started off on a roll in Spring of 1994, winning their first six games, which included beating such 6A teams as Horizon, Northglenn, Thornton and Westminster. Winning the Adams County Invitational held at Skyview's vastly improved field, expectations for league play were high. Junior Justin Ray stated, "Winning this tournament is a sign that the baseball talent around this area is going to Skyview, and that's something to build on." In their first league game, Skyview was stunned by Brighton, 3-1. After this loss, the Wolverines played only average baseball for the rest of the season. With a disappointing loss to Broomfield in the district tournament, Skyview finished the season with a winning record of ten wins and seven losses. "We had a strong season and a young team, so we're really looking forward to next year, hopefully state!" said Junior Zeke Hanger.

Real men wear Speedos

The varsity boys swim team had a great season.

With four returning lettermen and seven first year swimmers, they had many team goals, as well as goals of their own. For junior Mike Stoddard, his favorite part of a race was "finishing the race and watching everyone else finish." As the season rolled on, the team kept their hopes and dreams alive for a big finish by the end of the year. With a 1-5 record, the boys had hopes and dreams of individual wins over the team wins.

Junior Buddy Hutchins swam the 100 breaststroke event and ended his season well. Junior Joe Bjorhus stated, "swimming is a great way to relieve stress."

The team as a whole had the determination and confidence to overcome the draw backs of losing, but came out on top when team spirit came into play.

Soccer Strikes Back !

The Skyview Girls Soccer Team faced some stiff competition last year, but still wound up placing third in the Skyline League Playoffs. The only two teams who finished ahead of them were Highland's Ranch and Ponderosa, who are no longer in competition with Skyview. Obviously, future goals have been set very high. As Junior Vickie Maldonado put it, "I hope we can be #1 in the league and go farther in state. If we get more people to try out we can be the best."

The season brought along many memorable moments. Freshman Kizra Kastler remembered, "I tried to kick the ball, I missed and fell right on my butt-oops!" On the other hand, Freshman Nicole Plese stated, "I was disappointed loosing to Green Mountain in State. I know we could've done better." After losing eight Seniors, the girls may have to struggle to be on top once again, but Tiffany Elwess said, "If we can play as a team and work together, we can be successful in every area on the field."

Last year's girls' tennis team had an outstanding record, 07-04. For most of the tennis team members, it was their first year on the court. Considering that half of the team was relatively inexperienced, they did exceptionally well. Over half a dozen girls went to state competition.

When looking back the girls had colorful memories of their great season. "Tennis was the best experience of my freshman year because it helped me to get involved," said Freshman Andrea Garcia.

Taking It In Stride !

Pride and Determination. These two words describe the 1994 Track team perfectly. Although the team was comparatively small to other schools, Skyview fought all the way. The team had a tough start, but by the end of the season they were starting to place better and win more meets. Those who were on the team were full of pride and fought hard to make their mark in the Skyline league. Through the course of the season many Skyview individuals improved their scores and new team records were set. As Sophomore Michael Peterson said "It was a season that had its ups and downs, but we accomplished a lot and we will be the team to beat in 1995." With very few seniors on the team and a lot of returning talent, Skyview is sure to do better in the coming years. In the long run, Skyview gave a tough fight and even though they didn't take state they made huge progress in individuals and school pride.

"Despite the smallness of the team, every member of the track team kept up the pride and spirit and went to each meet with a great attitude. If more people go out for the track team and the pride and spirit continue, Skyview could do great things in the coming years." Tiffany Elwess

As retiring principal Jim Sekich celebrated the graduation of the class of '94'. He was full of emotions and remembrances from his years here at Skyview. When asked, Mr. Sekich said, "I will miss the good times I had with the staff and kids. What I liked about graduation was that it was a very emotional and fulfilling experience. One of my most memorable moments was at my retirement party with my friends and family, I cried like a baby."

The Beginning of the End?

On June 4, at 10:00 a.m. the graduating class of 1994 approached the beginning of the end. Girls in silver and guys in black marched into Dittiro Stadium to the traditional strains of Pomp and Circumstance. Expressions varied as this balmy, beautiful day proceeded and 202 Skyview students would receive coveted diplomas. Many graduates had high expectations, while others just went with the flow of the ceremonies. Graduated Senior Shae Hurst says, "I had expected it to be an emotional day. I wasn't sure if I'd ever see some of my friends again. But it was a lot less in every way. It was more exciting and a day I will never forget." As the speaker challenged the graduates to never stop striving for their dreams, beach balls bounced around the football field, while others threw confetti and shot out string from their little cans. While the diplomas were handed out many tears and shouts made their way to the graduates. Approaching their circle at the end of the field to throw their caps, their hearts pounded and the countdown began. Suddenly, they knew it was the start of their lives, better known as the beginning of the end.

Don't Ever Forget Us !

Saying good-bye is always a difficult thing to do, but the senior brunch is one way of saying it before the "big" day with the cap and gown.

The graduating class of 1994, along with many other classes before them, held their senior brunch at the Graystone Castle. Last year's reception was held on May 21, 1994.

This event is a time to be sociable, with good food and good company; also, it is a time for awards to be distributed. Such awards included scholarships, and presentations of academic honors.

LET'S EAT! Many students and family members stand patiently in one of the two long lines, awaiting to be served the deliciously catered food. The cost of each ticket for the senior brunch was $10. Senior Gabe Martinez takes advantage of the opportunity to spend some memorable moments with his fellow senior friends, but a growing boy has to eat, doesn't he? (Photo by C. Hill)

THE WINNERS ARE... Congratulations were given to co-valedictorians Molly Reed and Chad Coxsey, and salutatorian Joey Pacheco. Mrs. Egbert had the honor of presenting them to the rest of the senior class and their parents. Even though these people were serious students, they still knew how to let their hair down and have a little fun. (Photo by C. Hill)

TAKIN' IT TO THE TOP

This year's 1994 volleyball season has been a success in the eyes of many. For the first time in several years the varsity team placed in the district tournament. Coming home proud, with heads held high, third place belonged to them.

The hard work and sacrifices united the team into a family. Smiles of encouragement shined across the gym floor, showing that the team stood strong behind each other. With a 14-11 record, it shows that a winning season was made by a winning team.

Many things will be missed at this seasons end, but forgotten they will never be. The memories of a winning scoreboard, the initiation of the freshman during homecoming week, and the fans who were always there to show support.

HOLE IN ONE

What's the first thing that comes to mind when someone says "golf"? For most people it's boring, dull, and pointless, but to the seven members of Skyview's golf team it is fun and enjoyable. Going into the season with three returning players and four new ones, the team finished with an overall sixth place in the league. Junior Randy Tracy finished 11th in the league and 5th on the second all conference team. Although no individual or team records were broken, there was tons of improvement on individual scores. There was an interesting new rule this year that said if the sport you wanted to play wasn't at your school, you could play with the nearest schools' team. That's just what Mike Watts, a senior from Adams City, did. According to the coach, Mr. Ratkovich, this helped the team out a lot. Whether you think golf is dull and boring or thrilling and exciting, it is definitely a challenging sport that takes skill and hard work to play.

CRASH AND BURN

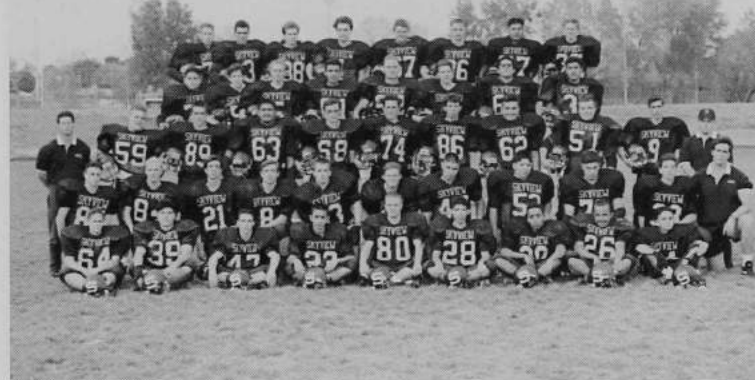

The 1994 football season was considered a joke by most of the students. The Wolverines 0-10 record caused many to lose faith in the team. Although the season was a disaster; it was also a season of awakenings for the team. It was a year of hard work, pain, and triumph. When others only focused on the results, and failed to see the positives that can come from defeat.

The Wolverines stepped onto the football field hoping for a victory. When they failed to be successful, the team did not lose faith in one another. Instead, the players moved forward and did not look back. Instead of feeling pity for themselves; they learned to enjoy the sport.

Believe it or not, even though the Wolverines went 0-10 they were victorious. Overcoming adversity, they learned about self pride. The season may have been a joke to the students, but they could never know personal triumphs gained this year. Because they believed in themselves the players played their hearts out for the few who believed in them, the players learned how mentally strong they were.

BOY'S SOCCER

NETTING HIGHER GOALS!

Expectations for the 1994 Wolverine soccer team were really high. Coming off of a season in which they finished 8th in state and having eleven returning lettermen, Skyview had hopes for a state championship. With a 4-7-2 record, the Wolverines showed that they were a good team that needed a little more experience. After finishing 5th place in league, the team ended the season with a tough loss to Poudre, 3-2, in the first round of the state tournament. "The team of 1993 had a lot more experience than this year's team. Even though the expectations this year were high, by qualifying for state we had a great year and I hope that the team next year lives up to the expectations that they receive," says senior Harry Tripp.

One of the bright spots was the selection of junior Ben Hatfield to the Skyline League First Team All-Conference. This and many strong underclassmen leave hope for the soccer team of 1995.

ROLL AND TUMBLE

The season was filled with fun, mischief, and of course, the traditional team injuries. The team's three prime candidates for injury of the year were Stephanie Glock ("Next year in gymnastics I won't 'break a leg'"), Jennifer Scofield for her foot injury, and Jessica Kralicek who said, "I probably spent more time in the training room and used more ice than any of the football players ever did!" Of course, it always had it's up-side too. "The funnest part of every meet was doing the Hoky-Pokie," said Sarah Dechant. There was always something to look forward to the next day, even if it was just taking bets on what color Melanie's hair would be. Still, the best practice time was when Ian didn't have to watch for flying gymnasts to catch. The 94 season brought a lot of personal successes as well as new friendships.

This season our boys showed us what tennis was all about. With excitement, sophomore Matthew Marshall states, "I believe it was a great season. Our team showed great growth in talent by turning a 3-8 record to 9-2 this season."

Were these guys serious about tennis or what? They must have been and crazy too, they were "...practicing in the falling snow," as junior Ryon Rivera recalls.

Although their victories were so great, they did have their disappointments, too. Speaking with a sense of loss, junior Brandon Frawley lowers his head to the ground and says, "One of the worst memories of this season was remembering every time we got beat by Broomfield." Yet, there are still good hopes for next year. Sophomore Tin Nguyen states, "There are a few open spots next year and we have some of the J.V. team moving up so we should be okay!"

BOYS' TENNIS

SHAVED AND TAPERED

As they walked into the pool on the first day of practice, it seemed as if nothing could be going better. The team consisted of nearly twenty-five determined and outgoing girls. They were ready to swim and dive, and that is exactly what they did.

With three divers out this year, the team had those extra points to help at the end of the meet. The divers were; senior Amy Rudy, junior Kristine Washburn and sophomore Valerie Valencia. They all dove well and came out on top in the league.

Top swimmers made the news many times this year. The underclassmen that helped keep the team together also brought in many good times and great swims. Having it hard was not nearly enough for the girls this year. They all swam their hearts out and brought the lady wolverine team to a 2-6 season, one of the best records in years.

MIND OVER MATTER

Mind over matter is the deciding factor in many things, and this doesn't mean if you don't mind, it doesn't matter. This means if you put your mind to what you try to accomplish than you can accomplish anything. All of Skyview High School's wrestlers knew this and worked very hard to do their best in all of their tournaments. As a general rule, any athlete must be well prepared both psychologically and physically, before they can even begin to practice, let alone perform. With SHS wrestlers, the second meaning of mind over matter also applied. Bernadette Lujan, a senior, joined the team this year, and most of the wrestlers didn't mind having a female on the team. They usually said "It really doesn't matter." But on the other hand some would disagree saying, "I feel it's not right and it makes the team look weaker." It's really true either way. What happens is up to the individual - it's mind over matter, and the wrestlers approached the season that way!

HOOP DREAMS!

With one of the better teams that Skyview has ever had, expectations for this year's team were enormous. The team started off red hot, winning ten out of their first eleven games. The Wolverines achieved the highest rank for an athletic team in Skyview history by being ranked #2 in Class 4A. After a jam-packed, regular season ending win over arch-rival Broomfield, the Wolverines were the Co-League Champions. With dominating wins over Adams City and Broomfield once again, Skyview was crowned District Champions. The season tragically ended with a suprising, last-second defeat to Greeley West. Even though the team didn't qualify for State, there were quite a few bright spots this season. Demarcos Anzures made 1st Team All-Conference and was named Class 4A Player of the Year. Mark Flipse and David Woodard made 2nd Team All-Conference and Tim Wilson and Derek Hargrave made Honorable Mention.

SLAM IT, JAM IT, AND DUNK IT!

The 1994-1995 Lady Wolverines basketball team started with a lot of hard work and dedication. With the strong leadership qualities of the returning varsity players; with only three seniors (Captain Jamie Coleman, Shelly Barajas, and Rosie Mendoza) and three returning juniors (Captain Jamila McCoy, Alicia Deaguero, and Pat Johnson). The Lady Wolverines worked well as a team. As on player expressed, "When we all played together we were unstoppable, but when we would stagger away from each other, that was our downfall." When asked about their most memorable moment of the season, juniors Alicia Deaguero, Jamila McCoy and senior Jamie Coleman all agreed it was "When we defeated Brighton and they all cried." The Lady Wolverines ended with 10 wins and 8 losses to make the season an unforgettable one.

IT HURTS SO GOOD!

For athletes, injuries are almost certain. The trainer's rehabilitation and care for an athlete could be the difference between watching or playing a sport. Skyview's athletic trainers are among the best in Colorado. Under head trainer, Mr. Fusiek, the athletic trainers guarantee athletes of Skyview High fast and thorough relief and rehabilitation for any aches and pains that may occur. When asked why she liked being an athletic trainer, senior Sonya Garcia said, "It gets us involved in the sports even though we were not involved with the team." Junior Ruth Lo had a different idea, "The guys! And I learned a lot about the medical field and how to help a person who has an injury." The athletic trainers do everything from give you ice to help an aching muscle to treating more traumatic injuries like broken bones. No matter what type of an injury an athlete has, the athletic trainers have the knowledge to help out.

ALL WRAPPED UP! Sophomore Jed Shandy gets his daily wrapping from Head Trainer Mr. Fusiek and trainer Andrea Garcia. Whenever an athlete is injured, the training room is the best place to go to rehabilitate the body. (Photo by J. Masingale)

"We are the backbone of athletics. We keep them healed and patched up."

-Ed Fusiek

Valerie,

We feel very blessed to have 3 wonderful and beautiful daughters. Being the middle daughter has not been easy for you but we have watched you become a very independent and determined young woman.

You have made us proud of your academic and athletic accomplishments and achievements. The standards and goals that you have set for yourself have been hard ones to achieve but we were not surprised that you would go forth and achieve them.

Remember always that we will always support and love you no matter what you decide to do in life.

You have made us very proud of who you are and what you have accomplished. There are times that it should of been said more often but I hope you know that deep in our hearts we love you very much and will always be there for you. Life has many challenges, but no matter how hard they have been, you have succeeded in many ways. Because of your strength and determination you have learned a big part of life, "There is no hill too steep to climb." May your knowledge help you to accomplish what your heart desires.

Your goals and dreams are out there, if anybody can make them possible- you can.

You have and always will be a special daughter in our life. Because you are who you are.

May God always bless you,

Mom & Dad

Rebecca D. Hull,

Thirteen years of school have already gone by, and yet, you are just getting started. You have a long ways to go and I am going to support you all the way. I look forward to having children because I will know that the doctor will be someone that I trust; you!

I don't want you to go because I will miss you so. But I know that you must. If it wasn't for you, I don't think that I would have been ready for high school. All the good and bad things that have happend to me, you have been their by my side the entire time. I wish that I could be as good a role model as you.

I remember when we used to walk to elementary school and you complained about how many years we had left until school would be over with. Well that time has come, and guess what, now you get to go to college!

I could never say it to your face so I will write it for the entire school to see; "I love you, Becka-Dawn."

We know we haven't always done things the way you thought they should be done, but you've done well in spite of us. We've tried to teach you to channel your stubbornness and hardheadedness into positive behavior and you'll be able to use that to stand on your own and reach for dreams others would not attempt.

We're very proud of you and the self-confident, mature, loving, outstanding, beautiful young woman you have become. You have the potential to be anyone and do anything you want with your life. Always strive for the high-quality and high-standards that have been your goals throughout highschool and you'll accomplish all of the goals you set for yourself.

Brian:

I remember the day you were born. You held your breath until your face turned blue. NOT FUNNY!! I've watched you grow from being a very sick child into such a healthy young man. You have endured more physical and mental pain than most people endure in a lifetime, but you always held your head up high. You always wanted to be the best at whatever you did and you have accomplished that so far. As you enter another chapter in your "Book of Life," remember, I may not physically be there with you but I will always be watching over you. I am proud to have you for my son.

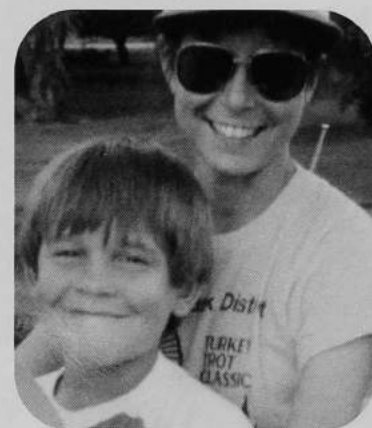

Love,

We've made a lot of changes in the world we live in. We're responsible for managing the results of those changes.

Natural resource management offers opportunities from college scholarships and careers to summer jobs.

Accept responsibility. And call us about those jobs.

Dave,

We have watched you go from a boy to a young man. There are no words to express the way we feel. You chose an eagle to show pride, boldness, and strength. Set your goals and work hard toward them, we know you can get there. Don't forget your kindness and love. We are very proud of what you are, Yourself!

Love,

Mom and Dad

P.S. Remember your mom's best friend!

Tootsie,

What lies behind you, what lies before you are tiny matters compared to what lies within you!

We've proudly watched you grow & achieve your goals, our first grandson.

Soar like an eagle, Dave, its only just begun.

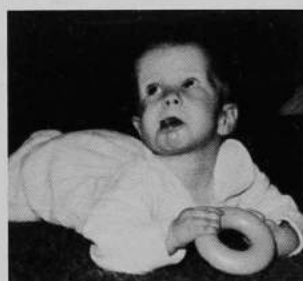

Love You,
Poppa and Crazy Gram

Love Your Friend,

The day you came into our lives I knew it was the beginning of our happiest days to come. We knew then that you were very special and that the years to come were going to be very challenging. You have always been a proud and determined person. You have always strived to be the best you can and to be a winner. We are very proud of you son. Your goals in life have always been very high. We just hope you succeed in fulfilling your goals and your dreams. Your grandma and grandpa are also very proud of you. Grandpa is now your Guardian Angel and is with you always. We wish you the best of luck as you go on with the rest of your life. Your strong determination will help you get through the years to come. Always walk with your head held high son and always make us proud.

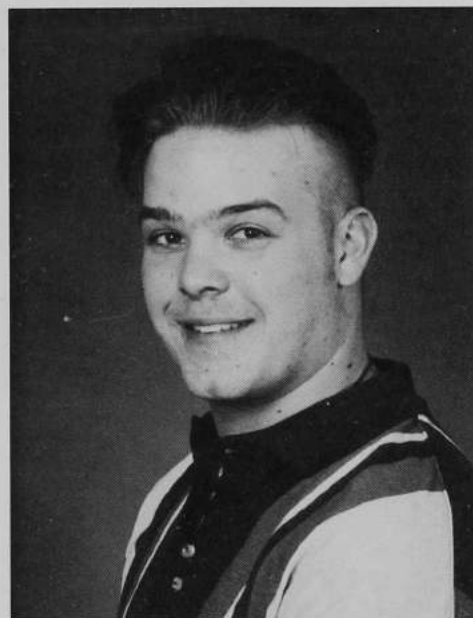

"You are my Hero"

Love and God Bless You Always

Donny,
We are very proud of you. We always have and will be.

You are the best son a parent could hope for.

Graduation grants you an opportunity to set new goals and to reach your hopes and dreams.

Stay committed to your hopes and dreams and you will achieve your goals.

We love you!

Angeline,

Congratulations! You're finally graduating! Your family is so proud of all your achievements. Although there have been many distractions and obstacles in your way, you have still achieved your goals because of your positive attitude, self-determination and faith.

Take the time and cherish your high school experiences with your friends and teachers because this is a special time in your life. The future holds many more exciting and challenging experiences for you and your little Meriah.

Remember that we think highly of you and know all your dreams will come true because you have a way of making things happen.

We will always be there for you.

Cheryl,

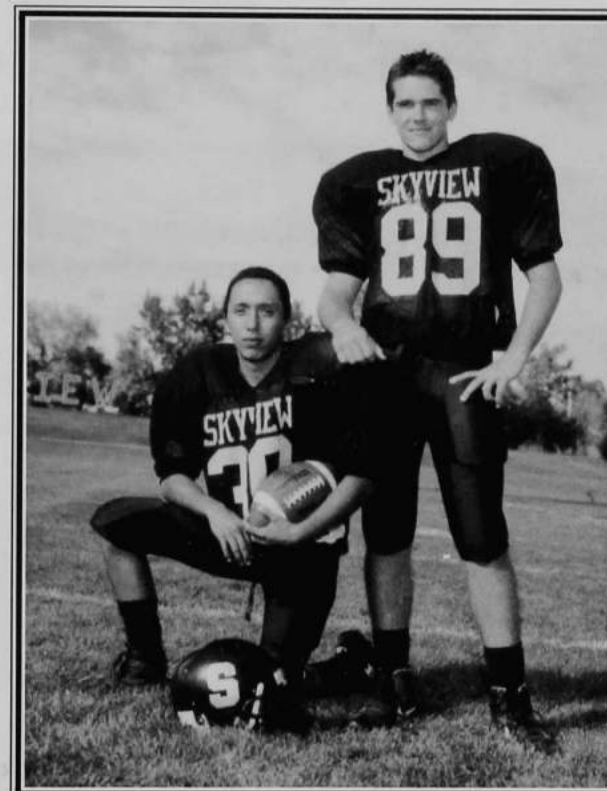

A shimmering light came upon us a few years ago. That light has constantly fulfilled our hopes, dreams, and wishes. That light has been you. Through the years, your determination has lead to higher goals, achievements, and accomplishments than either one of us may have envisioned for you. Continue your given path that it may give you fulfillment and enlightenment for the rest of your life. May God bless our shimmering light.

BEYOND A DREAM

Well fellas,
It's been another year and unfortunately it's our last year. So we just wanted to wish all of you good luck in life and in what you desire to do. For the boyz' graduating, good luck in the real world and don't let reality slap you too hard in the face. As for the boyz' staying down, don't let things slow you down.
Work hard and do things to the best of your ability. Don't stress yourselves. You have a couple of years to go, so party up and live life to the extent. Who knows? We could go tomorrow. We would also like to wish all the Homegirlz' the best of all luck possible. Hopefully we meet again in the future. This is dedicated to all the down Homeboyz' and Homegirlz' and you all know who you are.

Peace!!!

Love Always,
Brian and Gabe

P.S. A word for the wise - Brian and Gabe.
We met as strangers,
We depart as friends,
I hope we meet in heaven,
Where friendship never ends.

Jeremy Silva

Jeremy,
Thank you so much for being a part of my life! I hope all your dreams come true.
Good Luck!! I will always be here.

To my partners in crime:

Our senior year was groovy, and I'll never forget our endless Wendy's excursions. Promise to meet each other at Paris in ten years and talk about our "conquests". Gretchy Rose, we're college bound now, enough of you-know-who's, time for the real thing. Roryford Logan, time to go climb and conquer bigger and better things. Justin Michael, what can I say but go for the "18 and older crowd," okay? Seriously, be happy and successful in life. I love you all. Oh yeah, remember boys, "personality and intelligence is what you should always look for!"

Love,
Amy Kay

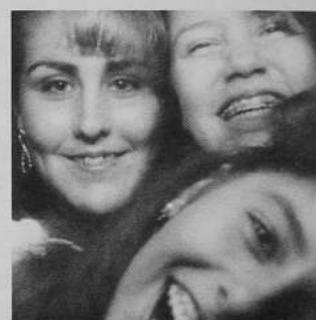

Cheryl and Kimberly

CheChe, It's been a time having you as my sister! We've had our problems, but we are still here for each other. Love ya!
Your Young Sis,
NeNe

Evonne and Fredda,
These years have brought along many memories, both good and bad. I cherish our friendships and I hope they won't end here.
Good Luck!

Students Walk Out To Protest Policies!

A shortened lunch. Bigger classes. No input. No respect. No clue. With a new administration this year, students and faculty often felt left in the dark by sudden changes in school policy. Several attempts were made to contact Dr. Leo in order to clarify new policies.

Students felt these actions to be unsuccessful; therefore drastic measures were taken. Several students organized a walkout and on February 6, 1995 it occurred. As many as 400 students walked out of class; some just for the fun of it, but many to stand up for their rights and beliefs. Eventually, WE WERE HEARD.

Organizers spent the REACT! A simple sign says it all, "Don't Just Listen. REACT!" Many students walked out because they were tired of being given the run around. They simply wanted action. (Photo by M. Schultz.)

entire day discussing problems and their possible solutions with Dr. Leo. Five recommendations were made and further meetings were scheduled. Although the possibility exists that nothing will result from the demonstration, a valid effort was made to change things. We may not be adults, but we know when and how to stand up for ourselves.

WE WANT TO BE HEARD!! Student input is necessary in order for a school to work right. The student protest gained that. We were finally heard. (Photo by M. Flagg)

You know a dream is like a river
Ever changin' as it flows
And a dreamer's just a vessel
That must follow where it goes

Trying to learn from what's behind you
And never knowing what's in store
Makes each day a constant battle
Just to stay between the shores

Killer Strike. The 1994 baseball season ended, not with a home run or a strikeout, but with a conference call and a fax. Disagreements between players and owners caused the cancellation of the regular season, playoffs and the World Series.

Jackson and Presley. The surprise marriage of Lisa Marie Presley to Michael Jackson was finally confrimed when the two appeared together at the MTV Music Video Awards. The appearance at Radio City Music Hall ended weeks of speculation in the tabloids.

Questions. O.J. Simpson has always lived a life on camera, first as a football star, then a sportscaster and commercial pitchman. Now he appears daily on Court TV, accused of the brutal murders of his ex-wife Nicole and her friend, Ronald Goldman.

Rwanda. The civil war in Rwanda began with a plane crash that killed the president. Before the year was over 500,000 Rwandans had been killed and another 2 million had fled the country for refugee camps.

Spacewalk. A jet-propelled astronaut flew free, 150 miles above Earth, without lifelines in the first untethered spacewalk in 10 years. The mission of Space Shuttle Discovery was to test a $7 million dollar jet pack which may aid in building a space station in the near future.

U.S. Open. Andre Agassi was one of the best known entrants in the 1994 U.S. Open, but a year of largely indifferent tennis had left him unseeded and unheralded. So everyone, including Agassi, was amazed when he won the tournament and took home the $550,000 check and the championship silver trophy.

Woodstock '94. It rained. Thousands crashed the gates. Toilets overflowed. Drugs were everywhere. It was a lot like the original 1969 rock festival. When it was over, the rain-drenched and mud-covered people lumbered home from the sloppy fair-grounds, looking like the walking dead -- who died smiling.

X-tra Long Delay. Denver's brand new Denver International Airport finally opened February 28. The opening was delayed four times because of a faulty baggage system and numerous other problems. Millions of dollars over budget, many people now wonder why we even built a new airport.

Yelling. Chechen rebel have stung the Kremlin with bitter truths; Big is not always better, the desire for independence is a powerful weapon, and Moscow's military machine can be made to bleed. Out-manned and outgunned, the Chechen's fierce resistance has stunned the Russian army.

SMILE BIG!!
Former security officer and current substitute teacher, Dave Sauer shows his love and affection for Skyview with an enormous grin. (Photo by Unknown)

FRIENDS...FRIENDS...AND MORE FRIENDS!!!
As sophomores Sarah Prudlo, Dusty Starr, and Rosie Branstetter pose, they are left with the thought... "Who is she and what is she is wearing on her head?!" Only to remember that they are the coolest and best on the wolverine team!

“Where’s your hall pass?”

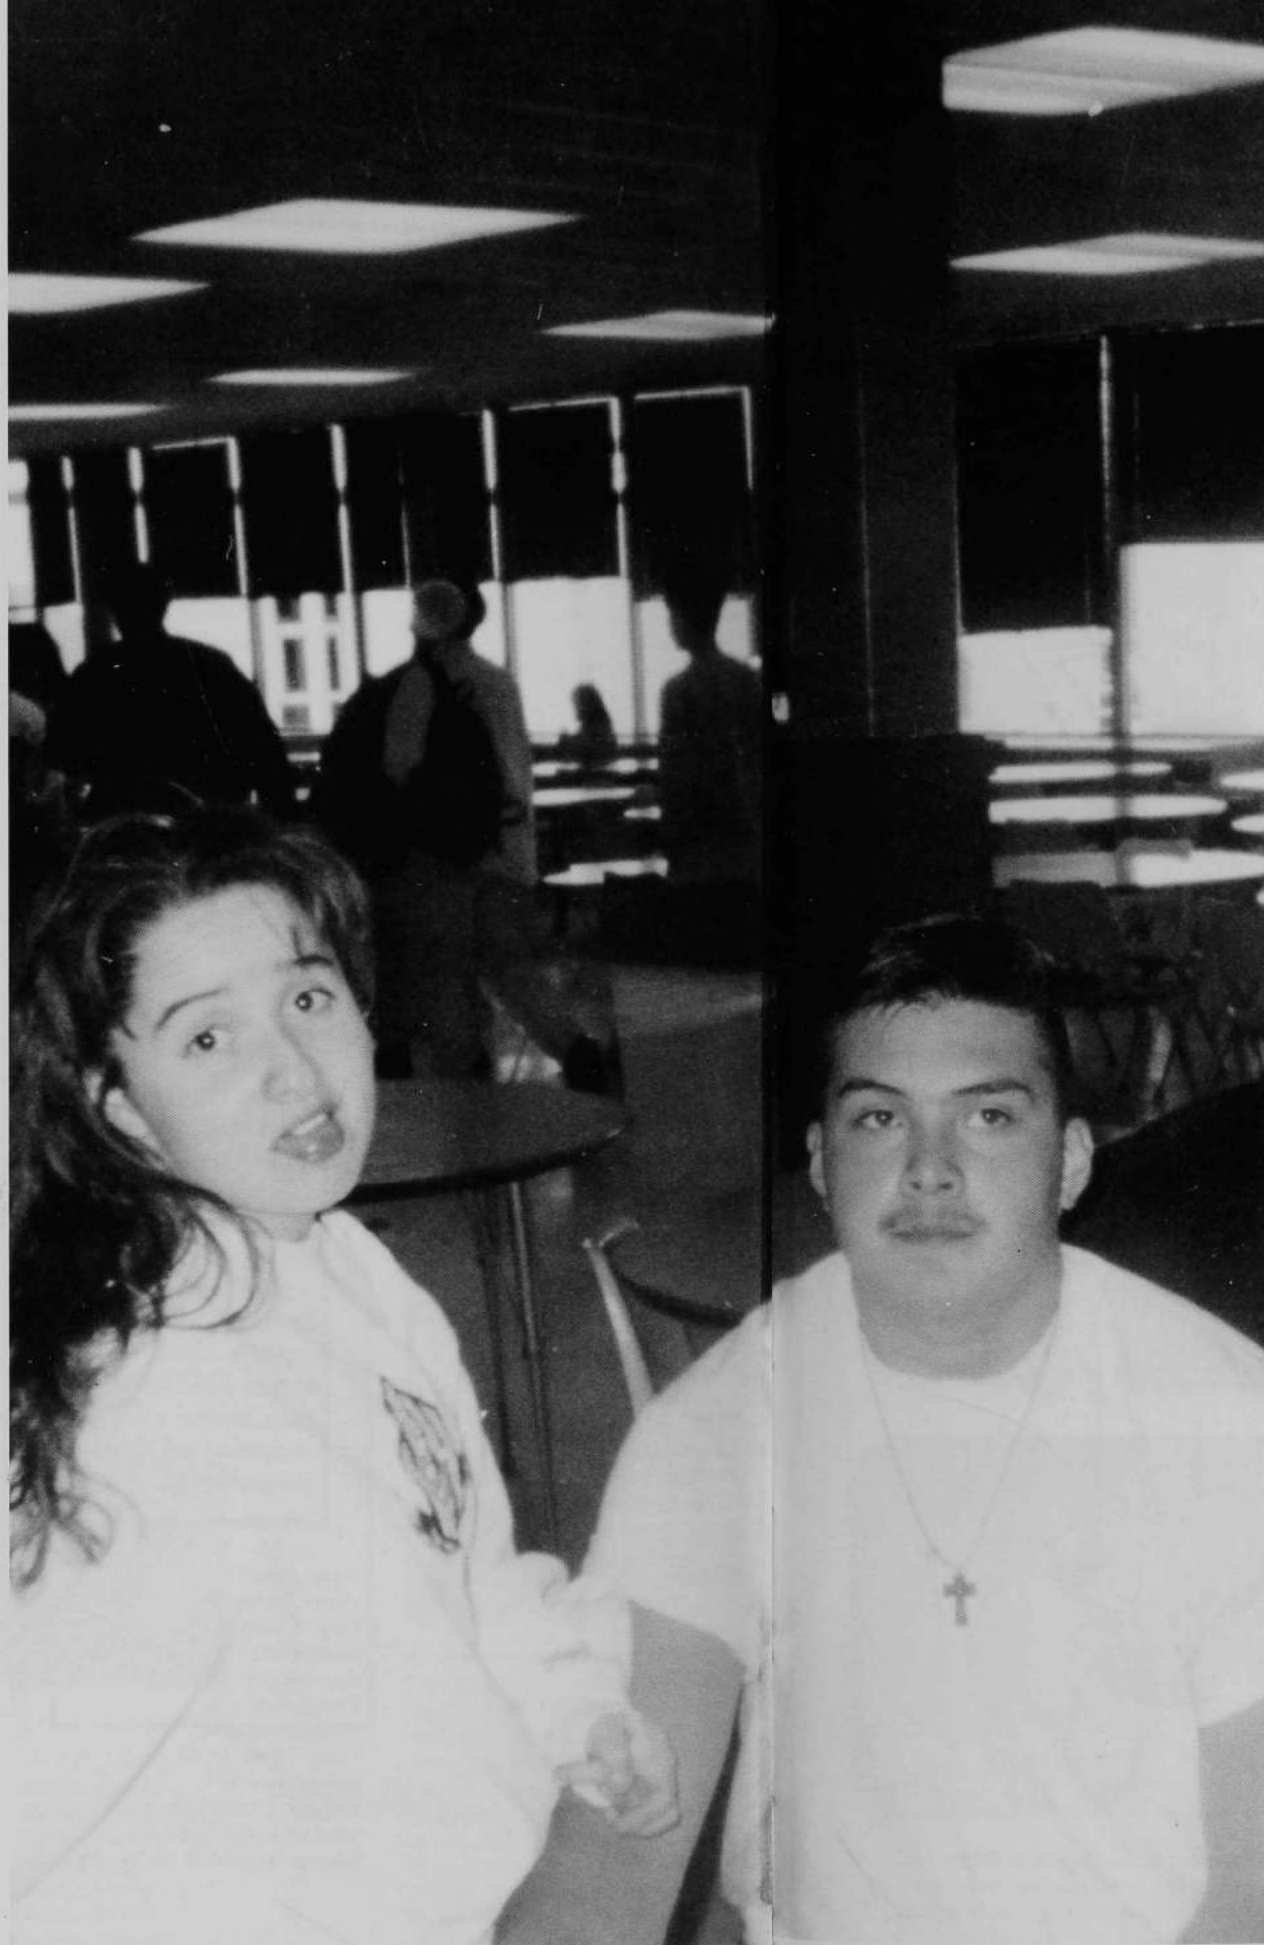

Skyview was one of eight schools to go 0-10 in football.

The Great Hall Sweep of '94 caught 83 people being tardy to class.

"This year was awesome. I had a lot of fun, seniority was there all year in my mind."

On To The Next...

How 'bout us?
Another year is gone, and we ponder the thought, what have we become? How have the significant changes this year affected us? From freshman to seniors, we have made a name for ourselves. Through drama, music, sports, activities and even walkouts, Skyview students have been heard, beyond the school and into the community.

We fundraised, cheered, studied (well sometimes!), and socialized our way through a challenging year. Ultimately, though, in spite of a year of difficult changes, we found a way to stay unified as Skyview. As the final days of the '94-'95 year approaches, we look forward to "movin' on!"

JUST CHILLIN'!!
Sitting around doing not a thing is what most seniors can relate to. Seniors Rory Duke and Chris Neal can stick to that assumption, being that they are OUTTA HERE!!
(Photo by G. Wittkowski)

IT'S ALL FUN AND GAMES!! In aerobics class they came, they saw... and they sat!! Juniors Valerie Gonzalez and Tia Wilson show how fun it is to work on their aerobic papers. (Photo by G. Wittkowski)

1995 Silver Lining.

This year's yearbook, How 'Bout Us?, sold 550 copies, 300 of which were padded covers, and 250 regular covers. This yearbook contained 188 pages and used 8 1/2 by 11 inch, 80 pound gloss paper. The headline styles and sizes varied from section to section. The body copy was Times New Roman PS and the size was either 10pt. or 14pt. All captions were Times New Roman PS Italic and were 8pt. The final cover art was completed by professional artists from Jostens in consultation with yearbook staff. Silver Lining was printed by Jostens in Topeka, Kansas. The staff was served by company representative Gary Cordray.

Gary Cordray for unwavering patience and commitment.

Our Parents for leaving the door unlocked during those long deadlines.

Everyone who desperately tried to dig us out of financial ruin.

IN STEREO. Seniors Corina Euresi and David McDonner sing a duet at the Christmas concert. A more than common Skyview fire alarm interrupted the festivities, but the Christmas spirit was still spread.

HOMECOMING. The homecoming parade this year was the first since 1990. Juniors Heather Richman and Elizabeth Piltcher enjoy the new addition by participating in the Junior class float.

PRIDE. From the first graduating class of 1989 to the class of 1995 many things have changed. Some good, some bad, but through it all Wolverine Pride has remained. (Photos by M. Flagg)

A WINNING SMILE. Seniors Heather Rothe, Stephanie Shirley and Christie Taylor show the spirit of the Skyview Marching Pride Band. Skyview has taken first in The Parade of Lights for the last three years. (Photo by M. Flagg)

Valentina,
what's up girl? Damn you have to come stay the night with us during the summer.
Don't forget me ever (K). You know where I live and you know my number so there is no excuse for it.

P.S

If you forgot.
Always,
Frances.

Valentina,
It's been a long year and soon I'll be gone from your wonderful life. We became pretty good friends over the year and more than likely will see each other over the years to come so don't act like your too good to say Hi and talk.
Follow your dreams and always hold your head high. You are a strong person so make the most of your ~~abilities~~ abilities.
You are good artist so keep it up and maybe I'll see your name on some famous painting or sculpture or something. ~~1~~ Luck w/ everything. your friend today, tomorrow and 4-ever,
