I am the Production Manager for NewsLink Indiana at Ball State University.

After graduating in 1984, I returned to Ball State in 1990 after several years in television news. I have worked for network affiliates in Rockford, Illinois; Grand Rapids, Michigan; and Indianapolis, Indiana. I continue to keep up to date by freelancing for various networks. I have appeared on several national and regional networks including ABC, NBC, CNN, ESPN AND FOX.

I have covered the Indianapolis 500, Brickyard 400, NBA playoffs, Pan Am Games, NCAA Championships, World Basketball Championships, NFL Monday Night Football plus other college and professional sporting events. In 1997 I was named to the faculty of Television News Video Workshop sponsored by the National Press Photographers Association. I produce the faculty video, assist with the critique sessions and am in charge of the lighting and sound for the annual event held in Norman, Oklahoma. I have served as a judge for several video contests including the Emmy Awards, NPPA, SPJ and other competitions. My work has earned awards from those same organizations. In 2001, I was presented with the Ball State Alumni Association's top award for service to the University, the "Benny" award. In my current position, I am responsible for the production of a nightly newscast using all digital technology. I have served on the Ball State TCOM Alumni Advisory Board, and the BSU Alumni Council.

I have also served as a part time instructor, teaching courses in visual storytelling, video production and news writing. When I'm not working, I enjoy my family life with my wife and two sons, or pedaling my bicycle across Indiana. The Underhills belong to the First Presbyterian Church in Muncie. At church I have served on the Board of Deacons, Youth Club Staff and the Technology Committee. I volunteer as an Assistant Scoutmaster for Boy Scout Troop 22 and with Habitat for Humanity.
