A Message from Mr. Legler

MCMS Family,

With the end of the semester approaching in just 2 ½ weeks, now is a good time to be sitting down with your child to look at grades together. There is great value to sharing this time together to discuss responsibility, accountability, and goals for the future. Whether it be academics, athletics and/or other hobbies, reviewing your child's progress and areas that they can work towards improvement is vital for their future success. We are always encouraging our students to take ownership of their work ethic while also guiding and lending a helping hand when needed. This support from home can also strengthen the partnership between home and school as we show our students that we are all on the same team, rooting for their success!

Go Mustangs!

Parents,

This first semester in Pathways class we have spent a lot of time discussing and discovering our personal strengths and interests, as well as our learning styles and goals we have for the future. Second semester we will begin to apply these insights toward our career research. We will be utilizing a program called Xello to research and gain insight into the careers students are both interested in, and careers they may not have considered before.

In addition to the career research we do online, we like to have guest speakers of various career fields speak to our classes. We would love to have people from right here in our community speak to us about just how they found their career. What were their interests, what you like about your job, and what you had to do to get there. In short- your Pathway. The ultimate goal is for students to learn about some of the great careers we have right here in our area.

If you are concerned about getting time away from work, the good news is we do our career talks via Zoom so you don't have to travel to and from our school. Zoom allows us to record the presentation and share it with all other hours. If you do feel that your presentation would be best done in person, we will gladly make that arrangement. Your experience and insights would be invaluable to the students and we look forward to learning about your careers.

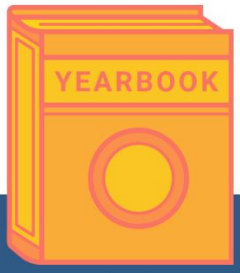

If you would like to share, please contact your student's Pathways teacher!

6th Grade POD

Dear 7th grade parents and guardians,

During the week of December 12th your student will be receiving the Signs of Suicide (SOS) prevention program during their PE class. This program has been adopted by the De Soto School District. The program highlights the relationship between mental health and suicide, teaching that suicide is, most often, a fatal response to a treatable disorder—depression. While encouraging individual help seeking, the program uses peer-to-peer messaging that encourages students to ACT® (Acknowledge, Care, Tell) when concerned about themselves or a friend. The school counselors and school social worker will be delivering the curriculum to each 7th grade PE class. During the lesson, students will watch a video discussing signs of suicide, and then they will discuss with their peers and as a group what they have watched and their reactions. If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to the school counselors or school social worker.

LEARN TO ACT

HOW TO HELP YOUR CHILD SAVE A LIFE

Our school uses SOS Signs of Suicide, a national prevention program that educates students about warning signs for suicide and encourages them to ACT (Acknowledge, Care, and Tell a trusted adult) whether they have concerns about themselves or a friend. How would you respond if your child told you their friend might be thinking about suicide? Check in with your child to:

Acknowledge any concerns they have about the way a friend is talking or acting.

Care: Show them how much you care by listening and taking their concerns seriously.

Tell: Reach out to their friend's parents or contact the school for support. Never keep a secret when concerned about the safety of a child.

TALKING TO YOUR CHILD

Take some time to start a conversation about mental health. This can be tough for families as often in our society, mental health isn't discussed openly like physical health. Feelings of depression or anxiety are often hidden because youth are confused, embarrassed, or ashamed. You can help protect your child and their friends by talking to them.

» Ask open-ended questions. Let your child steer the conversation to what they want to talk about.

» Don't rush to solve their problems. Instead, ask what they think would help a situation.

» Be available and make sure your child knows it. "I'm around if you want to talk later" may help.

» Try talking on a walk. The relaxed atmosphere makes it easier for some kids to open up.
