

Hello,

I'd like to introduce myself: My name is Rachel Walters, Program Manager of AnB Education, a Department of State and CSIET certified sponsor which pairs international exchange students with U.S. families and high schools for short-term study, one semester, or one academic year. Each year students from all over the world come to the United States to learn English and experience our unique culture. We have successfully helped international students and exchange students from countries all over Asia, South America, and Europe to study in the U.S. Our students are carefully selected based on academics, English proficiency, and character. AnB Education is currently looking for wonderful families to host our incoming students!

Hosting one of our international students is an incredible opportunity for any family! Not only will the student learn about the American culture, but your family will learn all about theirs as well. Students are eager to share cultures and traditions with your family including music, entertainment, art, food, language, holidays, and so much more. Your family will have the unique experience of welcoming a new member and together you will explore and learn, build enduring relationships, and create memories that will last you a lifetime!

The requirements to become a volunteer host family are to provide our students with:

- A bedroom (can be shared with a "sibling" of the same gender & approximate age).
- 3 meals a day
- Transportation to and from school (the school bus is perfectly acceptable!)

And A kind, warm, welcoming environment!

AnB Education will be there to support you throughout your hosting journey. We help you select a student, assist you through the application processes, offer orientations and continued guidance to prepare you for hosting and international student, and provide ample support from trained staff during the course of your program.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Rachel Walters
