Revised 6/2023

Propel School Counseling Goals

Social Emotional Learning Support

Propel School Counselors will deliver and support skills and character habits necessary for scholars to thrive in all areas of life through classroom instruction and school-wide programming.

Mental Health & Wellness Programming

Propel School Counselors and will provide

Propel School Counselors will advocate for and deliver mental health services that support all scholars. School counselors are able to provide one-on-one counseling sessions, group counseling sessions, check-ins, crisis support, risk assessments, and scholar observations. Services are meant to provide support for scholars in all areas of need.

Academic Support

Propel School Counselors will collaborate with all stakeholders to support scholars academically. This support looks like, but is not limited to classroom lessons that align with social and emotional needs and academics, providing and promoting a culture that emphasizes the importance of an education and building a community where everyone feels included, regardless of their academic status.

Post Secondary Skills Development

Propel Schools Counselors will provide opportunities for all scholars to develop learning strategies, self-management skills, and social skills that lead to a positive attitude toward learning, a strong work ethic, and an understanding that lifelong learning is necessary for long-term career success.

Propel Schools Stakeholders

School Board

The School Board will support the mission and implementation of the school counseling program.

Administration - District-wide and Building-specific

District wide administration supports and leads each School Counseling Department within the Propel organization.

Principals

Principals support the full implementation of the comprehensive school counseling program by supporting each counselor's yearly calendar. Principals provide school counselors instructional time within classrooms in order to conduct classroom counseling lessons. Principals conduct school counselor evaluations to provide both meaningful and intentional feedback. Principals support the need for a counselor to provide small group and individual counseling sessions.

Educators

Educators support the comprehensive school counseling program by working collaboratively with school counselors to ensure that the holistic wellness needs of the scholar are being met. Together, teachers and counselors identify the needs of scholars and implement appropriate interventions. Teachers understand the intentionality of the school counselor's role, and invite school counselors to enter their classrooms to teach whole group lessons or pull scholars for small group and/or individual sessions.

Scholars

Scholars support the comprehensive school counseling program by being active participants in programming. Scholars engage in material and are able to make connections. Scholars demonstrate the skills being taught during lessons, small group, and individual sessions. Scholars understand the role of the school counselor within their building.

Parents/Guardians

Parents/Guardians support the comprehensive school counseling program by working collaboratively with school counselors and administrators. Parents/Guardians support their scholar by working with the school counselor and understand the benefit of having access to a comprehensive school counseling program.

Business and Community Representatives

Business and community representatives support the comprehensive school counseling program by collaborating with school counselors to ensure mentoring, speaking opportunities, internship, career development and/or field trip opportunities are given to all scholars. School counselors and business/community representatives will serve as partners in preparing our scholars for future success.

Post-Secondary Partners including CTE and Dual-Credit Institutions

Post-secondary partners will collaborate with and support school counselors in order to ensure all scholars are given exposure to post-secondary options. Through mentoring, partnerships, and field trips, scholars will be exposed to options that will further drive their path toward success.

Post-secondary partners include (but are not limited to) colleges and universities, trade schools, and military options.

The Propel Schools Counseling Department's Beliefs, Behaviors & Norms

Mission Statement

The mission of the Propel Charter School Counseling Department is to provide a comprehensive, developmental school counseling program that addresses the academic, career, social and emotional needs of all scholars. Through collaboration with scholars, educators, administrators, parents, and community members, we will facilitate a positive, supportive, and culturally sensitive program that will ensure our school communities are safe, healthy, and nurturing. At Propel, we create a college bound and career readiness culture that promotes academic excellence, self-efficacy, and lifelong learning.

Role of the School Counselor

As a Leader

School counselors are leaders in buildings and participate on Leadership Teams with principals. School counselors have an authentic voice, advocate for scholars, and are respected members of the school community. School counselors lead various organizations and take charge in planning events for scholars.

As an Advocate

School counselors advocate for scholars by working to close gaps in equity, access, and achievement. School counselors advocate for programming that promotes whole scholar growth and development.

As a Collaborator

School counselors collaborate with educators, administration, parents and community members to ensure all programming is developmentally appropriate and holistic. Key stakeholders are kept aware of program details and changes, and participate in advisory council meetings.

As an Agent of Systemic Change

School counselors advocate for change when opportunity and equity gaps are apparent. School counselors use data to drive their decision making, and operate in ways to ensure that all scholars have equal access to curricula and opportunities.
