1. Educational compact update and work session

Tim collins shared data with the site council group which showed district and each high school site projected targets for learning gains for students taking state tests. As part of the education compact for the state of Oregon, all students are expected to make gains in test scores each year.

The information which Tim Collins shared with site council was generated at different times last Spring and this Fall and may not have taken into consideration the recent test data for key groups of students.

Following Tim Collins' presentation site council members broke into small groups and analyzed data to make new recommendations about reasonable growth gains goals for this year. Each group revised the growth goals to reflect a 1-2% growth gain revising down from a 5-7% average gain.

discussion following the small group work centered around the following issues.

1. How can we expect gains with fewer resources and higher class sizes?
2. Can we address class size parity around the district?

2. Motion to adjourn site council was made and seconded at 8:33. Motion passed and site council adjourned at 8:34.

Next site council meeting will be on December 11, 2012.
