READING FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

RF1 Print Concepts
RF2 Phonological Awareness
RF3 Phonics and Word Recognition
	RF4 Fluency

READING

R1 Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly/implicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.
				R4 Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.
				R6 Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text, drawing on a wide range of diverse texts.
		R9 Analyze and evaluate texts using knowledge of literary forms, elements, and devices through a variety of lenses and perspectives.

WRITING

W2 Compose writing for a variety of modes to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
		W5 Plan, revise, and edit to make informed and intentional decisions to produce clear and coherent multimodal writing in which the development, organization and style are appropriate to task, purpose and audience.

SPEAKING AND LISTENING

SL1 Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.
		SL4 Present information, findings, and supporting evidence such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning and the organization, development, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

Even before written language existed, in cultures across the globe, the oral tradition ensured that stories passed from generation to generation. These stories entertained, taught lessons, lauded deities, explained mysteries, and communicated values, thereby creating a cultural mythology. Reading these myths through a modern lens both tells us about diverse cultures from around the world and helps us better understand our own cultures and values. In this course, students will explore the cultural context and significance of myths. They will read and analyze myths from a variety of cultures, comparing archetypes and inferring values and, ultimately, broadening their cultural literacy.

ENDURING UNDERSTANDINGS

LITERATE INDIVIDUALS...

READING: Study and explore a range of values, beliefs, and assumptions to answer questions and inform understandings; literate individuals respond to varying expectations of audience, task, purpose,

ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS

Unit 1:

- What is a myth?
- What are the purposes of myth?

and discipline.

WRITING: Make strategic choices routinely for a range of authentic tasks, purposes, and audiences over extended and shorter time frames.

SPEAKING: Adapt speech to a variety of purposes, audiences, and situations in order to meet communicative goals.

LISTENING: Seek to understand a speaker and/or writer's intended message and how their background, situation, or context influences what they say.

LANGUAGE: Demonstrate an understanding of how language functions in different contexts, and apply this knowledge to meet communicative goals (when composing, creating, and speaking), and to comprehend more fully (when reading and listening).

CLAIMS AND EVIDENCE: Make claims about subjects, and rely on evidence to support reasoning that justifies the claim, often acknowledging or responding to others' (possibly opposing) arguments.

- How are myths both universal and reflective of a specific culture?

Unit 2:

- How and why do myths utilize archetypes?
- How are archetypes universal?
- How do mythological archetypes manifest differently from culture to culture?
- How do archetypes broaden my understanding of a culture's values?

Unit 3:

- How does a body of mythology create meaning and reflect a specific culture's values?
- How and why are these ancient myths still relevant today?
- What are the parallels between different culture's myths?
- How do these stories connect to my experiences?

Unit 1: Mythology: a Beginning

In this unit, students will learn the foundational knowledge needed to understand and analyze the purpose of myth within its given historical and cultural contexts. This understanding will lead students to analyze both the universality and uniqueness of different creation stories.

Unit 3: Mythology by Culture

Each student will explore and analyze the mythology of one selected culture through an individual study of multiple myths. They will engage in small group discussions based on essential questions, in which they share the myths they have read and draw connections as a group. As a culmination of learning, students will create a portfolio that reflects their individual learning.
