Contemporary painter Carson Overstreet grew up in the small town of Bedford, Virginia, in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Inspired by the southern landscape and her own artistic family upbringing, Carson was always artistically inclined. Her current focus is the creation of landscapes and floral paintings, though she is exploring figurative work again. Many of her paintings, whether muted or saturated with color, focus on a strong light source, which plays out on the canvas through color and shadows. Another component of Carson's unique aesthetic is her ability to capture the movement and mystery of clouds and often their reflection in water, which serves as a recurring motif in her work and breathes life into her landscapes.
