

Diabetic emergency

What does it look like?

Mood changes

Trembling

Paleness

Sweating

Dizziness

Blurred Vision

Headaches

Extreme Tiredness

Increase/decrease in hunger

If any of these symptoms occur:

- Find out if the person has diabetes.
- If they are capable, ask the person to measure their blood sugar level.
- If they are capable, help them to treat themselves with sugar or glucose as needed.
- If the person is unconscious, does not respond to treatment or is not having safely, call emergency services or get the person to a doctor or health clinic immediately.