THANK YOU

DEAR HOWARD SCHOOL FAMILY AND FRIENDS,

Saying “thank you” is easy, at least that’s what grownups tell us as children when we receive a birthday gift, or are handed a piece of candy or an ice cream cone. As part of our good manners training, we are encouraged to offer our thanks often. Now, as adults, those words roll off our tongue easily, and so often we don’t even think about what we’re saying. Yet, there are moments when a simple “thank you,” just doesn’t seem sufficient to convey our gratitude.

For more than 71 years, The Howard School community has supported the School in so many ways. Parents, grandparents, and community members have encouraged us to expand our program, to build the next building, even to move the school to another area of Atlanta in order to gain a larger campus so we could serve more students. Our community has encouraged us, and they have followed their words of encouragement with generous contributions of time, talent, and treasure.

So here we are, 71 years after Marian Howard began working with those first struggling learners. Now we have 347 students in Kindergarten through 12th grade, and we are able to serve them well in four magnificent

“For more than 71 years, The Howard School community has supported the School in so many ways.”

Marifred Cilella, Head of School

buildings on a 17.5-acre campus right in the city of Atlanta. Our program is strong because our highly skilled teachers are passionate about helping all students become successful learners, and our families are partners, supporting their children’s learning every step of the way.

How does one thank all those who have made The Howard School what it is? This issue of Insights highlights those who have contributed to our Annual Fund, Georgia GOAL, Capital Campaign, and other funds. You’ll find lists of donors at many levels, and interspersed with expressions of gratitude for their generosity. We say “thank you,” but more than our words, perhaps the best way for us to express our gratitude is to simply continue to do good work, while always trying to do what we do, better. And we will do that.

Sincerely,

Marifred Cilella
Head of School

Please Welcome Jason St. Amand, The Howard School's New Director of Advancement

At the end of August, The Howard School welcomed Jason St. Amand as the new Director of Advancement. Jason came to Howard most recently from The Village School (TVS) in Naples, FL, where he first served as the Head of Middle and Upper School, and then Head of the Middle School as both divisions grew in enrollment. He held roles at Woodward Academy, Berkeley Preparatory School, and Montgomery Academy prior to his arrival at TVS in 2017. Jason received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Maine, Farmington, and his Master of Science degree from California State University, East Bay. In addition to proven past success with annual giving programs, he has held a variety of positions over his 26-year career in independent schools, from teaching and technology, to administrative roles. Jason brings to Howard this great depth and breadth of experiences, and the passion to learn and grow that is the hallmark of The Howard School community.

The Annual Fund

The Howard School Annual Fund makes exceptional student experiences possible through enhanced resources and programming. Tuition supports 90% of the annual operating budget, and your gifts make the difference, providing vital support to students.

Capital Campaign Supporters

The success of the $14.3 million Opening Doors Capital Campaign was truly transformative in the life of The Howard School. The campus expansion, including the Young High School, Marifred Cilella Student Center, and an abundance of greenspace, proved invaluable in providing on-campus learning throughout the 2020-2021 school year and beyond. Thank you to each of the following donors to the campaign for making a BIG difference!

Thank you from a grateful Board Chair

As we take a collective look back at the 2020-2021 school year in this issue of Insights, I want to take a moment to share some observations and to thank you for the many ways that each of you contributes each day to the singular education we provide our students. I am consistently struck by two things: how the School has not veered from its mission in more than 71 years, and how uniquely dedicated our entire community is to the growth and success of our students and the School.

This has been true with the School's response to the pandemic, which has been thoughtful and measured every step of the way. Howard School students need to be on campus, with their peers and teachers, to learn best, and I am so proud of the way everyone came together to ensure that our School stayed open and our students continued to thrive.

This has also been true with the generosity of our community. Last year, we raised $347,000 for the Annual Fund, exceeding our goal of $300,000! Because tuition covers only about 90% of the cost of educating each Howard School student, gifts to the Annual Fund quite literally and figuratively make ALL the difference, and support necessary things like academic programming, fine arts, technology, athletics, faculty development, and more. And, we continue to look for ways to grow our endowment to ensure that we can be less reliant on tuition revenue for short- and long-term financial stability. The future looks bright, and I have every one of you to thank.

From the outside, The Howard School seems to glide effortlessly, but I know how different the reality is. My deep thanks go to all of you for your commitment to providing a Howard School education.

I'm fortunate to have been able to observe Howard from increasingly close range—from that of a parent, trustee, and board chair—and I can report with pride and gratitude that the School continues to be a model and a leader in the world of education.

With sincere thanks,

Steve Young
