

POLICY FOR CONTINUING SPECIAL EDUCATION FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES AGE 19 THROUGH 21

Students with disabilities who have reached the age of nineteen before the beginning of a new school year are eligible for consideration for continuing special education through the age of twenty-one as determined by the case conference committee.

As a part of making such a determination the case conference committee shall review:

- A. The Individual Transition Plan (ITP) of the student.
- B. Progress the student has made and goals and objectives of the student's Individualized Education Program (IEP).
