Dear Glen Cove Community,

As we approach the Thanksgiving season, I am reminded of the incredible journey we are committed to each year, the support and education of our children. Time seems to have flown by, and now we find ourselves immersed in the joyous spirit of the holidays. On behalf of the Board of Education, as well as my esteemed colleagues in central administration, I extend our warmest wishes for a safe and joy-filled Thanksgiving to each and every one of you.

This season prompts us to pause and express gratitude for the many achievements that shape our community. Our collective success is owed to the unwavering dedication of our students, faculty, parents, and Glen Cove community members. Together, we embody the resilience and commitment that defines our school district.

Glen Cove has long been a nurturing home for students of diverse backgrounds, fostering an environment where individuals of all ages, abilities, ethnicities, socio-economic levels, religions, and genders thrive. It is a close-knit community that attracts families from various walks of life, united by a shared commitment to looking out for and caring for one another. The pride we take in our children and their futures is evident in the daily dedication and support of our devoted staff.

As we gather with family and friends to celebrate Thanksgiving, let us also reflect on the people and aspects of our lives that fill us with gratitude. This is a time to extend a helping hand to those less fortunate or in need, fostering the spirit of generosity that also defines our community.

Personally, I am grateful for the students who grace our schools with their eagerness to learn each day and the remarkable efforts they contribute. The work of our teachers, staff, and administration, driven by passion and dedication, has propelled our district to new heights. I extend my deepest appreciation to the parents whose unwavering support has helped build an excellent community for our students, maintaining trust and confidence in our mission.

As we approach the Thanksgiving break, I wish you and your families a season filled with health, happiness, and safety.

Warm regards,

Dr. Maria L. Rianna
Superintendent of Schools
