Midwestern Intermediate Unit IV Community Based Vocational Training

Transition from School to Work

A Program that Provides Vocational Training Experiences
for Exceptional Students
12-21 Years Old

Mission Statement

Our goal is to provide community based vocational training to students with disabilities to promote independence and increase work readiness skills.

Community Based Vocational Training provides students with the opportunities to acquire the skills needed for future employment and enables them to make informed decisions as they prepare for adult life.

Career development is a progression of activities and experiences in the transition planning process. It begins early and progresses through the stages of career awareness, vocational exploration, vocational assessment, vocational training, advanced preparation, and finally, entry level employment.

What Do We Do?

- Offer and complete transition assessment to identify interest and abilities
- Locate and develop appropriate community and vocational training sites
- Assist school districts with transportation arrangements in order to provide transition activities and experiences
- Collect information and data relating to the student's job experience
- Provide on-site training and assistance to students on issues related to employment skills
- Provide direct support and consultative services to students in the school and community settings.
- Provide information and support to parents concerning transition and vocational activities

Community Based Vocational Training provides students with the opportunities to acquire the skills needed for future employment and enables them to make informed decisions as they prepare for adult life.
